FOUR CANDIDATES FOR LEADER

Tory Glamor Boy Hees Tosses Hat Into Ring

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — George Hees, the long-time glamor boy of Conservative politics, today bounded into the fight for his party's leadership.

In an early morning announcement that surprised no one, Mr. Hees became one of the major contenders to succeed John Diefenbaker.

With his usual exhuberance the former trade minister peeled off his pin-stripe jacket and revealed a pair of flaming red suspenders and a burning desire for the top job.

"I believe that I can unite the party into an effective modern political force," he said.

UNITED PARTY

"I further believe that this united party will provide the country with the decisive and progressive government which the Liberal party seems totally incapable of doing."

Mr. Hees thus became the fourth formally declared candidate for the leadership convention which will be held in Toronto in September.

At the moment his chief opponent is former justice minister E. Davie Fulton. The other contenders are Dr. Hugh Horner from Alberta, and John McLean, a little-known service station owner from Brockville, Ont.

MYSTERY

But along with his co-runners, Mr. Hees was unable to answer the mystery question as to the future leadership intentions of Mr. Diefenbaker himself.

"I have no idea whether Mr. Diefenbaker will be a candidate or not," was all he would say.

But he left no doubt that George Hees was running hard and running to win.

"I have never got into a contest of any kind that I didn't think I could win," he said with an engaging grin.

But if he lost he would be "100 per cent" behind the victor.

"The party makes this decision and it usually makes the right one," said Mr. Hees. "The people have extraordinarily good sense."

His aim is not only his party's leadership but the job of prime minister as well.

READY TO BATTLE opponents for the position of national Tory leader is former trade minister George Hees, who today became fourth candidate to succeed John Diefenbaker.

Using Barry Goldwater as an example Mr. Hees said there was no point running at all unless he could lead his party to victory.

"If you can't do that it is the most frustrating and disappointing thing in the world," he said.

"It is a pitiful thing if leaders can't lead their party to victory."

He quickly and succinctly replied to the delicate question of whether the Spence report on the Gerda Munsinger affair would affect his chances.

"I think that issue is over and done with and I don't hear anything about it any more," said Mr. Hees.

Although Mr. Hees was completely absolved of any impropriety in his acquaintance with the controversial Gerda, he received much publicity for his cocktails and lunch with the German blonde.

George Hees hits the headlines with almost everything he does because he is that kind of effervescent personality.

As Mr. Diefenbaker's transport minister and later in the trade portfolio Mr. Hees was labelled a swinger long before the go-go generation lurched on the scene.

His friends have sometimes fondly called him a one-man

30,000 Allied Troops Battling Vietnam Reds

Offensive Plan Set In Truce

SAIGON (UPI) — An estimated 30,000 allied troops struck Communist forces across South Vietnam today in a massive new grand strategy that killed about 600 guerrillas in a day but lost a record 13 United States helicopters.

The latest offensive in an unprecedented series of major operations reportedly planned during last week's lunar new year truce burst into the jungles 315 miles north of Saigon.

There, 17,000 U.S. and South Korean troops formed a three-pronged attack. About 1,500 leathernecks stormed ashore today for operation Deckhouse VI on one side to drive an elite Communist force — said to be North Vietnamese — into the guns of the entire U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division and units of the 25th Infantry Division plus government troops pincering in from north and south in Operation Pershing.

The massive new action coincided with an announcement that 107 Americans were killed, 1,015 wounded and one missing in combat last week in spite of the four-day new year's ceasefire.

SLIGHT INCREASE

The combined casualties represented a slight increase over the previous week's total of dead, wounded and missing, and raised the war's casualty toll to 8,897 Americans killed and 42,754 wounded.

U.S. spokesmen reported four Americans killed and eight wounded in the helicopter losses.

"We are slowly taking a (Communist) battalion (about 800 men) apart," said one 1st Air Cavalry battalion commander, Lt.-Col. Robert Stevenson of Ponca City, Okla.

His men, using 45-calibre pistols fitted with home-made silencers made from discarded chocolate milk cans and medical gauze, wiggled into a maze of jungle tunnels, routing the guerrillas out of their longtime coastal bastion.

WORST DAY

But the big fights and the big kills came elsewhere. About 2,000 Vietnamese troops whirled by American helicopters to the tip of the southern Mekong Delta jumped into a Viet Cong battalion Wednesday.

They killed 255 Communists, but the guerrilas shot down 10 U.S. helicopters—nine troop carriers and one medical chopper. All but one of the helicopters was recovered.

Three more helicopters went down elsewhere, making it the worst day of the war for American helicopters. The worst previous day was Feb. 4, when nine 'copters were downed.

In the 4th infantry division fight near the Cambodian border, 6,000 American troops in Operation Sam Houston reported killing 74 Communists Wednesday. But two U.S. companies suffered "moderate" casualties in the jungles.

Quebec Dispute Fanned

Protestant Teachers Want Bill Deferred

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — A potentially explosive telegram addressed to Lieutenant-Governor Hughes Lapointe from the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers today added conflict over language and religion to the already severe crisis aroused by the provincial government's schools bill.

The telegram, signed by Miss Ann Macleish, president of the PAPT, asks the lieutenant-governor to reserve sanction of the bill, on the grounds that it violates the Protestant education rights guaranteed by section 93 of the British North America Act.

The bill, approved in third reading by the legislature at 3 a.m. today, provides for the establishment of a provincial standard of salaries and working conditions for all the province's teachers. It thus narrows the autonomy of the school boards which have been denominationally separate.

Constitutionally, the lieutenant-governor could reserve the bill for a year. After a year it would become law, unless disallowed by the federal government.

IMPLICATIONS GREAT

Although Premier Daniel Johnson and Liberal opposition leader Jean Lesage carefully refrained from comment on the political implications of the request, they are enormous.

Observers at the legislature were unanimous in viewing this complaint from the Protestant — and English-speaking — minority as a major assist to Mr. Johnson in his campaign to win public support for the controversial bill.

French-speaking Quebecers are acutely aware that the province's English-speaking minority enjoys privileges denied to the French-speaking minorities of the other provinces.

They are also aware that the guarantees given the English-speaking Protestants of Quebec under confederation have been scrupulously observed, while other provinces took away the rights granted by the BNA to their French-speaking minorities.

Premier Johnson had already touched on the resentment aroused by this inequality in the debate on the bill.

Arguing that the bill would provide equal standards of education for all in Quebec, Mr. Johnson said, "gone are the days when the Anglo-Protes-

LANDYMORE WARNS . . .

Military Coup Possible Under Single Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Rear-Admiral William Landymore said today safeguards should always be built into the Canadian military establishment to cover any potential danger of a coup.

He said in the Commons defence committee that Mobile Command is a huge command with one man in charge responsible to one man.

It would be sensible to split this command into three geographical areas to remove any "potential hazard."

The dismissed commander of Maritime Command was replying to a series of questions by Robert Andras (L — Port Arthur) based on the admiral's assertion Wednesday in a brief to the committee that Mobile Command is dangerous to Canadian democracy.

DON'T TAKE RISK

Admiral Landymore said today no one in the armed forces would ever dream of attempting a coup but that "we should never take even a calculated risk."

He said he is not suggesting the chief of Mobile Command wants to take over the government.

Mr. Andras said Admiral Landymore must be thinking of someone like Dr. No or Mr. Goldfinger.

He said a coup would require the collusion of Air Transport and Material Commands.

Admiral Landymore said he has never studied the matter but that a coup would be possible under the guise of an exercise.

Heavy Snowfall

TORONTO (CP)—A winter storm dumped up to eight inches of snow on parts of Northern Ontario overnight and today and snapped power lines in the southern regions of the province.

Ship Hits Bottom

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — The destroyer Algonquin struck the harbor bottom and collided with a jetty at the naval armament depot here today. The navy said the ship's steering motors were damaged and there was minor damage to her stern. No one was injured.

Fiery Trail Seen

COLORADO SPRINGS,, Ohio (AP) — A piece of a Soviet rocket booster that was launched Feb. 8 left a fiery trail all along the U.S. west coast Wednesday night as it fell back to earth, North American Air Defence Command reported today.

Storm Victims

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Six children were injured today when high winds ripped off a ventilator cap and hurled it on them as they were at recess in the yard of the Blessed Sacrament grammar school. One girl was knocked unconscious by the five-foot-square metal piece.

Two Whale Families Captured

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Ted Griffin, director of the Seattle Marine Aquarium, captured an undetermined number of killer whales Wednesday night after getting an assist from the U.S. Coast Guard.

The whales were captured in the Yukon Harbor area of Puget Sound.

"It looks as if we have two pods — two families — with 10 or more whales ranging from small to pretty good size bulls," Griffin said. He said it was too dark to tell for sure.

The whales were spotted Tuesday by the coast guard at Port Angeles, Wash. The coast guard notified Griffin, who started the hunt Wednesday morning.

Assisting in the capture were the captain and crew of the purse seiner Chinook, a helicopter, an airplane and two assistants of Griffin.

Griffin said he hopes to bring the whales to Seattle in a travelling pen 80 feet square and 30 feet deep. His first killer whale, Namu, captured in British Columbia waters, accidentally drowned in his aquarium pen last year.

Britain Wants to Trim NATO Forces in Europe

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—Britain maintained today there is at present "little danger of aggression" in Europe and that North Atlantic powers can easily trim their conventional forces on the continent with confidence.

Even the prospect of a large-scale war through miscalculation or accident is highly improbable, Defence Secretary Denis Healey maintained in a white paper that gave emphasis to the power of nuclear weaponry as the vital deterrent.

While arguing that a mutual reduction of NATO-Warsaw pact forces would be the best way of achieving a detente in Europe, Healey hinted that Britain may have to take action to withdraw some of its 50,000 troops in Germany later this year if West Germany does not increase defence purchases in Britain to offset fully the foreign-exchange costs of maintaining these troops.

If war should ever break out, Britain feels that nuclear weapons would be used within the first two days.

The old NATO concept is based on a 90-day conventional war. This has been gradually reduced to the point supplies are based on a 30-day conventional battle. Britain is reported to feel that supplies for just two weeks would be sufficient.

AIRLIFT FASTER

Healey maintained that improved air transport reduces the time required to shift home forces overseas.

Based on present forces available in Europe, "the allies could not fight a long war in Western Europe," he said. But the allies are still expected to maintain stocks of ammunition and supplies in Europe to cover a period far in excess of what their combat forces are capable of sustaining.

"By bringing logistic support more into balance with the capability of combat forces, savings could be made in both resources and foreign exchange," Healey maintained.

The labor government has promised to keep Britain's defence budget from rising beyond the 1964 figure of $6,000,000,000. Healey said his 1967-68 estimates are $219,000,000 below that figure. In the three years labor has been in power, the government has saved $2,250,000,000 on the defence program it inherited from the Conservatives, Healey said.

25,000 RETURN

More and more of Britain's troops are being brought back home. By April, 1968, about 25,000 men and 6,000 service families would be returned from places outside of Europe.

In terms of the war threat, Healey argued, the commotions in China and the changed political and economic situation within the Soviet Union could provide NATO allies with "a more confident view of Soviet intentions."

As for nuclear planning within NATO, the defence ministers, meeting as a separate body, had accomplished more in 12 months than the alliance had accomplished in the previous 17 years.

The alliance now has estab-

CAMBRIDGE DONS FLUNK TEST FOR 11-YEAR-OLDS

CAMBRIDGE, England (Reuters) — Fifteen per cent of the science instructors at Cambridge University are not bright enough to pass the intelligence tests given to 11-year-old British school children, says a survey made public today.

The survey of 148 science dons revealed that 15 per cent had an intelligence quotient below 118, the score needed to pass the "11-plus" exams.

The results could have significance for Britain's educational system, which has used the "11-pluses" to segregate students by intellect. A child who fails the "11-plus" is generally sent on to a trade school, and has little chance of entering a first-rate university.

The survey showed, however, that some teachers with so-called "first - class degrees"—graduates with high honors—had IQs as low as 110. In one department, the man rated by everyone as the best scientist proved to have the lowest IQ.

The majority of the teachers failed to reach the 130 needed to be classed as brilliant. They were merely "bright."

Two members of the university's genetics department conducted the survey as part of a study of the origins and abilities of the science teachers.

Dr. John Gibson, one of the surveyors, said: "This shows that IQ tests are an extremely unreliable guide to a person's ability."

CHARGES FLY IN DEFENCE HEARING

Groos Studies Subpoena Demand

Times News Services

OTTAWA — A demand was made in the Commons defence committee today that Rear-Admiral Robert Welland be subpoenaed to testify.

He has said he is too busy to appear.

Chairman David Groos, Victoria MP, said he would have to obtain legal advice on whether he could force Admiral Welland to attend.

He made the ruling after a row in the committee concerning a visit by Mr. Groos and Grant Deachman, Liberal chairman of Commons committees, to Admiral Welland's house last July 14.

Dismissed Rear-Admiral William Landymore testified today that Mr. Groos and Mr. Deachman both knew about the compulsory retirements of various admirals.

The argument centred around whether Mr. Deachman knew specifically about Admiral Landymore's firing before public disclosure of it.

Mr. Deachman said he didn't know about Admiral Landymore's dismissal until it appeared in the newspapers. He said the admiral should telephone Admiral Welland right away and ask him what took place. He said he was at Admiral Welland's house at the time in question.

Admiral Landymore said: "Why not do better and bring Welland here?"

Mr. Deachman, member for Vancouver Quadra, said that if Admiral Landymore had made a false allegation he was sure he would want to correct it because the admiral is an honorable man.

Michael Forrestall (PC—Halifax) said Mr. Deachman was present and he could tell about what went on at Admiral Welland's house.

Admiral Landymore said Admiral Welland had personally told him about the meeting and that he was prepared to testify about it.

Mr. Deachman said this should be arranged. Mr. Groos agreed.

Gordon Churchill, a former Conservative defence minister, said both Mr. Groos, member for Victoria, and a former navy officer, and Mr. Deachman knew about the retire-

LBJ SEEKS AID FOR CONSUMERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent Congress today a 12-point program which he said would "protect the American consumer."

It calls for stiffer regulation of consumer loans, mail-order land sales, mutual funds, welfare and pension plans, some medical laboratories and natural gas pipelines.

Johnson summed up the program in these words:

"The cost to taxpayers of carrying out these proposals is very small. The savings to them as consumers will be great—in dollars, in safety, and in peace of mind."

The president again urged Congress to enact a "truth-in-lending" law that would make certain the U.S. instalment buyer is told the percentage rate of interest in carrying charges he must pay on his purchases.

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HILLSIDE

If you are planning a trip east this year, to Expo or anywhere else, it will be worth your while to do some comparative shopping for tickets.

A friend of ours proposes to go to Toronto, visit there, take a bus to Winnipeg and thence home by train.

Railway A, quoting prices with meals included, transportation and bedroom for two, set the fare at $367.50.

Railway B, offering the same services over the same distances, set the fares at $303.00.

Guess where he made his reservations.

A Grade 12 class in Victoria was discussing sin and evil the other day. The question arose: "Is insanity a sin?" Several pupils argued for and against.

The teacher sensed one pupil's unrest and asked, "Is there anything you would like to have cleared up on this question?"

"Yes," the student replied. "Is insanity uh . . . dirty clothes?"

"Despite a shortage of physicians Canada continues to donate the total output of one of its 12 medical schools to the United States each year."

The quote is from a report by the Canadian Heart Foundations. It goes on to estimate that 200 doctors a year leave for the U.S.

They are drawn away not by salary but by the opportunity to engage in research, a field in which Canada cannot now compete. The Canadian Heart Foundation and the B.C. Heart Foundation) is one of the groups working to improve this situation. It devotes 77 per cent of its income to research in universities and teaching hospitals. This is Heart Month. Your gift is needed.

And speaking of research into heart failures which snuff out humans, one aspect of it always brings howls. This is the sacrifice of various other living creatures so that humans may survive.

The B.C. Heart Foundation is to be congratulated we think, for making no bones about this is in a recent release dealing with the aortic valves of dog's hearts. The department of medicine uses the hearts of rabbits, in pharmacology it's the hearts of rats, and cats. In zoology they experiment with fish.

Another doctor in the department of surgery is doing his work on healthy labradors and in paediatrics records are kept of the effect of constricting the main arteries of other live dogs.

If it saves one human life—and such research in recent years has saved many—the contribution by our dumb friends is warranted. Some of the people who work themselves into frenzies over this type of research might well be the beneficiaries.

lished a nuclear planning consultative body of which Canada as well as Britain, West Germany and the United States are currently members. Healey maintained that Britain had played a leading role in developing this body.

SHOULD BE SATISFIED

With an obvious reference to West Germany, Healey agreed that NATO allies who do not possess nuclear weapons must be able to satisfy themselves that the use of Western nuclear weapons is in accordance with the interest and wishes of the alliance as a whole.

But no arrangements should be made, he said, "which conflict with our policy of preventing the further spread of nuclear weapons."

U.S. Defence Secretary Robert McNamara had estimated that in addition to the vast power of the American strategic force, the west had about 7,000 nuclear weapons on European soil.

"It is difficult to believe that any rational government, knowing these facts, would reckon to achieve by the use of force against Western Europe any political objective whose value would be remotely commensurate with the appalling risks."

In addition to thinning out NATO conventional forces in Europe, Healey maintained there should be revision of NATO's sea strategy.

"It is no longer realistic for the alliance to attempt to provide maritime forces for conducting a prolonged war at sea after a strategic nuclear exchange," he said.

Six Strokes Of Paddle, Plus Jail

Jules Nepper, 20, was sentenced to three years in jail and six strokes of the paddle in Nanaimo today after he pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with violence.

Magistrate Stanley Wardill ordered that the paddle be administered in three doses of two strokes each. He commented that Nepper easily could have been facing a murder trial.

Nepper was one of three young men charged in the robbery of the Nanaimo Golf Club on Jan. 28 when caretaker Charles Owen was struck over the head with a piece of wood and a soft drink bottle.

Kenneth Wayne Gillespie, 21, pleaded guilty to robbery with violence and was remanded to March 16. A 17-year-old youth was raised from juvenile to adult court and will appear in court Friday to face the same charge.

vaudeville act and his critics believe he is "too much" to be real.

Real or not, at 56 Mr. Hees still carries with him the aura of healthy, athletic youth. The white mustache is just good fun, and he is tall enough to gracefully conceal his thinning hair.

Everyone in the Tory party knows George Hees, and his flash resignation from the Diefenbaker cabinet over a policy disagreement on nuclear arms was a major shock leading to the party's defeat in 1963.

Although he dropped from political view for two years, the presidency of the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchange provided Mr. Hees with a continuing public forum for his views.

These are varied and colorful.

He is a firm opponent of Walter Gordon's views on economic nationalism and Paul Hellyer's drive for armed forces unification.

Curbs on foreign investment in favor of greater Canadian ownership makes a "great election platform," said Mr. Hees. "The prime minister thinks that what Walter Gordon says has got a lot of political sex appeal."

But when foreign investors take a look at those policies they say "to hell with it, I'll go somewhere else where I can make a buck," said Mr. Hees.

The only way Canadians can own more of their country is not by closing the door to essential foreign devlopment capital, he said.

"We must dig deeper into our own pockets and take more of a risk, but if we don't let's not moan and groan about the Yanks taking over."

On unification Mr. Hees said the "obliteration" of the separate identity of the three armed forces could only lower morale of fighting men in another war.

"If you are going to take the chance of having your head blown off you've got to have everything going for you," he said.

And "everything" included the tradition and fighting past of the individual forces.

"This tradition helps a guy get out of a slit trench even though you think it's the God damndest stupid thing you ever did," said Mr. Hees.

ments of admirals but had done nothing to recall the committee to discuss the matter.

Admiral Landymore said Mr. Groos had taken him to see Prime Minister Pearson on or about July 12. He said in reply to questions by Mr. Churchill that Mr. Pearson had promised during a West Coast visit to the navy that traditional aspects of naval life would not be interfered with.

The admiral quoted Mr. Pearson as saying he didn't really know how far Defence Minister Hellyer was going with unification of the armed forces.

The prime minister had said he thought he would have a meeting with Mr. Hellyer to discuss the matter and asked Mr. Groos to be present.

WAS NOT FILLED IN

Admiral Landymore said it seemed to him the prime minister was not aware of the degree of unification planned.

A spokesman for the prime minister said outside the committee that Mr. Pearson was amazed that Admiral Landymore would discuss publicly what had been clearly understood as a private meeting.

The spokesman also denied that Mr. Pearson had said that he didn't know how far Mr. Hellyer was going with unification.

Admiral Landymore was fired about three weeks after his off-the-record testimony before the defence committee last June 23.

Mr. Churchill asked him whether he thought he would be given full protection if he gave full answers.

Admiral Landymore said yes.

Mr. Churchill said it had turned out that the admiral had received no protection at all.

A little later, Admiral Landymore said he had told Mr. Groos that his brief for the committee last June had been altered by the defence department.

Mr. Churchill said Mr. Groos had taken no action. He asked whether Mr. Deachman knew that the brief had been altered.

Admiral Landymore said yes.

CHANGES MIND

Mr. Groos later reported to the committee that Admiral Welland does not want to appear before the committee because he is "deeply involved in personal work."

Heber Smith (PC — Simcoe North) said serious consideration must be given to some witnesses being subpoenaed. It was not enough for a potential witness to say he didn't want to testify.

"He should have to come here and say he doesn't want to say anything," Mr. Smith added.

Mr. Deachman said he did not receive any information from Admiral Landymore had been fired.

He said he was at Admiral Welland's house with Mr. Groos but the firing of Admiral Landymore had not come up in the conversation.

Mr. Deachman said he wants Admiral Welland brought before the committee even if it is necessary to serve a subpoena on him.

"I don't believe we can tolerate someone saying he is too busy to talk to Parliament," he said.

Mr. Groos said he will have to obtain legal advice on the situation.

Opposition members of the committee have already been talking of the possibility of various witnesses being subpoenaed. If Admiral Welland is forced to appear, opposition members then would be able to demand that senior officers compulsorily retired last summer be brought before the committee.

Admiral Landymore said at another point that Mr. Groos doesn't agree with unification.

Mr. Groos said he had to reject this statement although he had some doubts about some aspects of unification.

Mr. Groos, a former captain, said he doesn't want the incident concerning the visit to Admiral Welland to get out of perspective.

He said Admiral Landymore had made merely an observation and not a charge.

Mr. Groos said he thinks Admiral Landymore is wrong about the purpose of Mr. Deachman's and his visit to Admiral Welland.

"I'm sure this will be cleared up by someone getting in touch with Admiral Welland," Mr. Groos said.

Outside the committee, Mr. Deachman said he and Mr. Groos paid a social call on Admiral Welland on the evening of July 12.

He said Mr. Groos is an old friend of Admiral Welland and that at that time there were a lot of rumors flying about concerning the possible early retirement of a number of admirals.

He said that the firing or retirement of any specific admiral was not mentioned.

In a brief sent to the committee last fall after his firing, Admiral Landymore said at one point:

"I told your chairman (Mr. Groos) about my compulsory retirement and the early retirements of three other admirals.

"Mr. Deachman of your committee also knew of the retirements for he and Mr. Groos called on Admiral Welland to get confirmation of what I had told them.

"I also told Mr. Groos the personnel section of my brief to his committee had been censored."

'South Morale Boosted By Bombing N. Viets'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two days after the United States resumed bombing of North Vietnam, Defence Secretary Robert McNamara has said air attacks alone won't humble Hanoi.

The Pentagon chief would not say—as he is reported to have said to Congress behind closed doors—that the bombing has only limited value.

Instead, McNamara spoke Wednesday of two objectives "clearly accomplished" by the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam initiated two years ago.

The raids, he told a press conference, have raised the morale of the South Vietnamese and made it troublesome for the Communists to move men and supplies south of the 17th parallel.

But McNamara said the continuing bombing, strafing and napalm attacks won't cause the North Vietnamese political leaders "to change their course" of what he called their aggressive action against the Saigon government.

At the same time, McNamara related a new overall helicopter loss figure for Southeast Asia—682 choppers lost from all causes compared with an officialy posted total of 255 downed in combat alone.

Combined with fixed wing aircraft losses—which were doubled only a few days ago to 1,172—this raised U.S. aircraft losses in the war to 1,854 to date.

Most of the losses occurred in the last two years at a rate nearly matching the 1,000-a-year pace of the Korean War.

Two goals—raising South Vietnam's spirits and complicating Hanoi's infiltration program—have been achieved, McNamara said.

Accomplishment of the third goal—convincing Hanoi that the price of trying to topple Saigon is too high—"while not fully documented to date can be judged in part by the great efforts of the North Vietnamese to force us to stop the bombing."

BOAT FLIP DROWNS 250

TEHRAN, Iran (Reuters) — About 250 passengers were drowned when a motor launch capsized in the Gulf of Oman during a heavy storm, the newspaper Kayhan reported today.

The 250 included Indians, Iranians and Arabs.

The paper said a massive air and sea search was under way to recover bodies of the victims.

COMMITTEE HEAD CONFIDENT

Legislation on Way To Curb Credit Abuse

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator David Croll is confident that most of his committee's recommendations on consumer credit controls will find their way onto the statute books of the federal and provincial governments.

The main recommendations, he told a press conference Wednesday when the recommendations were unveiled, are "to all intents and purposes, already a fait accompli."

The federal government is winning parliamentary approval of Bank Act amendments which will require full disclosure of interest rates and service charges on chartered bank loans. Many of the provinces have, or are enacting, similar legislation in the provincial field.

This, the Liberal senator from Ontario said, will naturally lead to disclosure of true interest rates in advertising of consumer loan and credit facilities.

"Advertising cannot be far behind, and if they are smart the finance companies will quickly clear this situation, up," Senator Croll said.

He also expressed confidence that the Senate - Commons committee's proposal for low-interest long-term bank loans to low-income families, backed by government guarantees, will be acted upon.

PROTECTS POOR

The purpose is to "take the poor people out of the hands of the money - changers and put them in the hands of lenders under government auspices," he said.

The loans would be only for families with income of $4,000 a year or less, would be limited to $1,500, and would be granted only for purchase of equipment necessary to maintain family life.

Ron Basford (L—Vancouver-Burrard), Commons co-chairman of the committee, gave full credit for the work to Senator Croll. The Toronto senator first introduced an interest-disclosure bill in the Senate in 1960.

The main committee recommendation was:

"That every person, firm or corporation, including every chartered bank, carrying on the business of extending consumer credit, shall be required by law to disclose to the consumer the total cost of that credit, expressed both as a lump sum and in terms of simple annual interest."

Caught in the squeeze are revolving credit and other so-called budget - plan accounts operated by some big department stores.

It did not say what ceiling should be put on interest, but recommended the government consider one. It endorsed extension of the Small Loans Act of 1940 to cover loans up to $5,000 instead of $1,500.

This same recommendation was made by the royal commission on banking and finance headed by Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario. That report recommended interest of one per cent a month, or 12 per cent a year for loans up to $5,000.

Senator Croll said the committee supports this, by implication, but the rate might have to be higher for normal consumer credit in order to attract investment money.

However, he said, the guaranteed bank loans for poor families should carry interest only sufficient to cover administration and insurance in addition to chartered bank prime lending rates. This would put such loans currently at 6½ to seven per cent.

The banks need not make money on such loans, Senator Croll said. They should provide the service, in return for making good customers of the borrowers after they get themselves out of financial difficulties.

RANGES WIDE

The 40,000 - word report is likely to become a standard reference textbook in the consumer credit field. Its recommendations applied to credit purchases of farm machinery, and to loans for Indians wanting to leave their reserves and settle in urban life.

But the whole of the report tackled two main problems.

"The first concerns the troubles besetting those who buy on credit without understanding the price they are paying for borrowing.

"The second concerns the plight of low-income families who are from time to time in desperate need of credit for necessary goods or services but to whom commercial credit is either not readily available or not available at all."

Union Leaders Freed From Jail

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Union leaders Paddy Neale and Tom Clarke were released from prison Wednesday, six weeks before their six-month terms were to end.

Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labour Council, was released from an Oakalla prison farm work camp and Clarke was released from Oakalla prison in Burnaby.

Solicitor-General Pennell announced in the Commons Tuesday that both men, given six-month terms for contempt of court, would be released early.

Neale and Clarke were convicted of contempt of court for participating in demonstrations outside Lenkurt Electric Co. in Burnaby after the Supreme Court had issued an injunction prohibiting demonstrations.

Confederation Train 'Insult to Canadians'

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP) — A college historian said today the Confederation Train is a glossy Madison Avenue presentation and an insult to the average Canadian.

John Munro, history instructor at Selkirk College here, commented after a weekend visit to the train:

"It is based on the assumption that if the public is told how wonderful the train is often enough, they won't question it. It really is a piece of unhistory — if there is such a word."

Mr. Munro said the train deliberately plays down Canada's British and French traditions and implies an absence of British-French conflict.

"It creates a false notion of unity and seems to promote the new Canadianism to which the present government is so enamored.

"This is a slick attempt, in many ways, to rewrite Canadian history," he said. "The train warrants criticism because this thing is being paid for by our money."

PENSION LINK QUERIED

Sales Tax Hike Hit by NDP

OTTAWA (CP)—The NDP described the increase in the federal sales tax to 12 per cent from 11 as iniquitous Wednesday and presented a motion in the Commons that would cancel it and the increased maximum tax payable for old age security.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said there is an impression in the country that revenue from the increased tax would go toward old age pensions when it actually it is directed to the government's general fund.

A bill authorizing the tax increase and a raise to $240 from $120 in the maximum tax Canadians must cough up each year for old age security was given first reading.

But Mr. Knowles moved second reading of the legislation be delayed for six months. This would mean the bill would die on the order paper this session and would have to be presented at the next session of Parliament.

The new taxes were announced in Mr. Sharp's supplementary budget Dec. 19. They came into effect Jan. 1 this year.

Mr. Knowles said the sales increase was unfair to old age pensioners and that Mr. Sharp was "doing a disservice to the country" in introducing it.

The increase was "so objectionable and iniquitous" that the NDP wanted to "register our unqualified opposition."

Mrs. Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver-Kingsway) said the government had increased the cost of living in Canada by raising taxes.

John B. Stewart, parliamentary secretary to the minister of public works, said Mrs. MacInnis agreed additional taxes were needed to provide the increase from $75 to $105 in old age pensions for persons proving need. What taxes would she raise?

Mrs. MacInnis said it wasn't her business to raise taxes. She was being asked her opinion on the increase in the sales tax and she opposed it.

Gerard Laprise (Creditiste—Chapleau) said he favored the NDP amendment. Raising the sales tax didn't mean more revenue necessarily since Canadians would not be able to buy as much as they had.

A. B. Patterson (SC—Fraser Valley) said that while the joint parliamentary committee was looking into rising prices, the government was adding to the cost of living.

Debate was to continue in the Commons today on the NDP motion.

The Senate, earlier adjourned to Feb. 28, has been recalled for today to consider the deposit insurance bill given third reading in the Commons Tuesday.

A Statement by John M. Keith, President,
Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Limited

Rising Costs Force Increase In Prices of Tobacco Products

The prices of cigarettes and tobaccos to our wholesale distributors have been increased with effect from February 20th, 1967.

The retail prices should not increase more than 10¢ per carton of 200 cigarettes and proportionately on pipe and plug tobaccos, and fine cut tobaccos for "roll-your-own" cigarettes. Prices have not been increased on cigars, snuff or cigarette papers.

Price changes have been made necessary by increases in cost beyond our control:

1) The increased purchase price of the 1966 flue-cured leaf tobacco crop is averaging more than 10% over the 1965 crop. The added cost to us for the 1966 crop is estimated at more than $4,000,000.

2) The recently announced increase of Federal sales tax from 11% to 12%, an effective 9% increase on the amount of tax that must be paid on all our sales, is estimated to cost us more than $2,000,000 in 1967.

Most of the tobacco used in Canadian cigarettes is flue-cured leaf tobacco grown in southern Ontario and these tobacco growers, through their Marketing Board, control the number of acres planted. The result has been a tight market in leaf tobacco, aggravated for Canadian manufacturers by increased demands from overseas buyers, primarily due to the unresolved Rhodesian situation. Flue-cured leaf tobacco in Ontario has risen from an average of 56 cents a pound for the 1964 crop to 66 cents a pound for the 1965 crop and an average of 73 cents a pound for the 1966 crop so far. (The 1966 crop is still being sold.)

While manufacturing improvements have helped offset rising costs of salaries, wages, materials and services through the years, we could not entirely absorb these exceptionally large increases in the cost of our principal raw material, so that our price to distributors was increased an average of 2.4% in August 1966. Since then, continuing increases in costs, the further jump in leaf tobacco prices and the increase in federal sales tax have made the present price changes necessary.

It may be well to underline that our marketing expenditures for advertising and promotions in the last two years have been held at the same level despite similarly rising costs of materials and services.

To sum up the situation of the last two years:

1) Flue-cured leaf tobacco prices have advanced	32%
2) Imperial Tobacco prices to distributors have advanced	2.4%
3) Retail prices to consumer per package have advanced on average	5%

Apart from the above, on every package of cigarettes, substantially more than half of the price you pay is tax levied by the Federal and Provincial Governments. The Federal tax alone on a package of 25 cigarettes is more than 25 cents.

I have attempted to describe in clear terms the realities facing the Company.

If you would like additional information on any of these points, please do not hesitate to write to me.

To Help the Buyer Beware

THE SENATE-COMMONS CONSUMER credit committee report tabled Wednesday makes sharply clear the massive reliance on credit which has been built into the Canadian economy. In a 17-year-period, from 1948 to 1965, outstanding consumer credit increased by more than 10-fold, from $678 millions to $7 billions. In the same period personal disposable income was barely tripled, from $12 billions to $35 billions. The inescapable conclusion is that we Canadians are spending faster than we are earning and it would be wise, therefore, to take a close look at what it is costing us to enjoy now and pay later.

The committee report notes that consumer credit is a useful facility for purchasers and a growing factor in business when used properly. But implicit in the report is the warning that many people are paying too much for the facility and that the time has come when governments should step in and regulate the credit field in the interests of the people.

A number of recommendations—interest rate disclosure and similar items—can be considered to be in the category of honest and candid dealings in credit, which has become a commodity of trade as much as the goods which it is used to purchase. There is not much room left for arguing that regulation is an unwarranted intrusion in private enterprise since there is a body of legal precedent in weights and measures, pure food and drugs and other legislation designed to protect against fraud and deception in trade.

When the report suggests that maximum interest rates be set for certain purchases—automobiles, for instance—there will be less unanimity of opinion. A maximum rate in any kind of financing will mean that some individuals may be denied the opportunity to buy because the credit granter will not deem them to be good risks at that rate. It may be argued that for their own good, if that is the case, they should not be allowed to buy, but it can also be argued that this is an unwarranted limitation on personal freedom of choice.

The recommendation that the federal government guarantee low-interest, long-term loans to low income families for credit purchases of vital items has merit if the purpose is to get these people out of the morass of debt in which it is estimated some 20 per cent of the population is now involved. The idea needs considerable debate, however, for it is clear that it would have to be hedged round with a great deal of regulation to make sure, for instance, that the loans were being wisely used and, particularly, that they were not simply being pyramided onto existing high interest rate debt loads.

In the main, the most valuable suggestion made in the report is still the one dealing with full disclosure of interest and service charges. There is no reason why business should not tell people in simple terms what it is costing them to buy on credit and give them an opportunity to exercise their own discretion in what they purchase.

Protecting the Heritage

THE "WELCOME" GIVEN BY Resources Minister Williston to three proposals on pollution control from the Council of Forest Industries could be rather premature. The council wants control equipment installed only on the basis that it is proven beyond reasonable doubt, that it is economically feasible and that tax incentives be provided the industry.

Mr. Williston was on sound ground when he agreed that anti-pollution equipment should not be taxed as is production equipment. Control of pollution is in the interests of all the people and it should not be expected that it be made a source of government revenue. But the interpretation of the other two proposals needs considerable clarification before it is possible to accept the minister's statement that the industry has indicated it "has no objection to putting in proven equipment."

Particularly bothersome is the matter of economic feasibility. The fouling of the environment by companies whose primary interest is the maximizing of profits simply means that they are passing on the problem and expense to those who are not responsible for the conditions created. If the land is to remain healthful and habitable, preservation of the earth, air and water must be a parallel function of industry, and it is the government's duty to look after the common good even though there may be a postponement of industrial expansion until pollution problems are solved.

The provision that the efficiency of anti-pollution controls must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt before installation is one that must not be used to evade responsibility. Specifically, it cannot be left to the industry alone to pass judgment on the effectiveness of controls. It is the duty of the government to set the standards and demand that industry accept them.

With some notable exceptions, this province has not suffered as much as other parts of the country — but only because intensive development of resources was begun relatively recently. British Columbia still has the opportunity to escape the worst effects of pollution and there should be no equivocation on the part of responsible government officials as to their duty in this matter.

Supercharged on the Surcharge

WHAT IS ONE TO MAKE OF the remarkable press statement by Trade and Commerce Minister Loffmark concerning Tokyo's possible imposition of surcharges on freight carried in Japanese ships using the port of Vancouver, and the effect this could have on the B.C. International Trade Fair in May?

There is no doubt that the threat to impose a 15 per cent extra charge is a serious matter due to the volume of freight carried in Japanese ships both to and from Canada. But the very fact that the measure was supposed to be carried out last week and was then postponed to March 1 indicates that the issue is still negotiable. The Japanese shipping interests want assurances that the costly delays encountered during the longshoremen's work slowdown last November and December will not be repeated and that port facilities will be improved to cut down on expensive turn-around time.

Notwithstanding the fact that agreement was reached between federal and provincial authorities last month on steps to be taken to improve port facilities, Mr. Loffmark has seized this occasion to jump on the federal government again and to endanger the success of the trade exhibition at the same time. The fair, the provincial government's own "little Expo 67," could be ruined, the minister said in a burst of pessimism that could do much to ensure that result. His fear was based on the withdrawal of one Vancouver machinery importer from the fair and it built up to the statement that "If the run continues our trade fair would be imperilled because of the surcharge."

One withdrawal hardly constitutes a run on a fair in which 15 nations, as well as hundreds of individual local and foreign businessmen, according to government announcements, were scheduled to take part. But if Mr. Loffmark wanted to start a rush of cancellations, his press statement could hardly have been better timed. This would be a heavy price to pay for the dubious luxury of thumping the federal government again—so much so that it raises the suspicion that a possible excuse for a less than wildly successful trade fair is being manufactured in advance.

FROM OTTAWA

By MAURICE WESTERN

Belabored for Keeping the Door Open

Western

THE recent tribulations of Mr. Paul Martin suggest that a government which lends its good offices for the settlement of highly complex international disputes becomes a sitting duck for critics in the House and in the country. If the conflict is protracted, as in Vietnam, the role of the intermediary is likely to become unpopular for the very reasons which, in the beginning ensured it very general support.

People expect their government to do something for peace. But we have learned since the war that negotiation with Communist states is a process of erosion requiring years of seemingly hopeless exertions. Accordingly action of a different sort is demanded with growing impatience even though the new and attractive role envisaged may be quite incompatible with that already accepted.

Criticism

This essentially was Mr. Martin's case on Monday. He attempted to meet two principal criticisms. The first is that he obscured Canadian policy towards Vietnam. As he pointed out, this usually means that the critics disagree with his policy. The second is that he is evasive in his answers to questions. To this, the simple answer is that he has no choice.

Some of the criticism, said the minister, almost seems to presuppose that we are combatants or in a position to compel acceptance of our views about Vietnam. An excellent example of this sore of thing was promptly provided by Mr. Orlikow. What the minister's speech brought to his mind was a recent account of "the record of the former prime minister, Mackenzie King; of platitudes, inactions and refusal to play any part in a real system of collective bargaining." Mr. Orlikow urged Mr. Martin to speak out publicly and in deference to world opinion against American bombing of North Vietnam.

This surely is a most unhelpful analogy. The case against Mr. King is that he dodged commitments and thus helped to undermine the attempt to maintain peace through collective security. Vietnam does not fit this pattern at all. (Korea, of course, did because it involved participation in collective resistance organized through the United Nationa). The fact is that we have a commitment, with India and Poland, in Vietnam and it is one which denies our government the luxury of uninhibited comment possessed by some nations not sharing this particular responsibility.

Must Be Acceptable

A conciliator or mediator has little chance unless he is persona grata to the parties in dispute. The Poles presumably are on the International Control Commission because they are likely to be heard with sympathy by the Communists in Hanoi. Canada on the other hand enjoys close relations with the U.S. adminstration. The Poles have never been noted for outspoken public criticism of Mr. Ho Chi Minh but Mr. Martin is expected by his critics to bring home to Americans Canadian abhorrence of their actions in Asia.

It is often the case, of course, that Canadian criticisms merely reflect the accusations brought by Americans against their own government. Thus Mr. Orlikow wonders why Mr. Martin cannot be so outspoken as Senator Fulbright. But this is not strange. Mr. Diefenbaker's attacks on Mr. Pearson are accepted by most people as part of the normal play of politics. On the other hand we would be outraged if a member of the Johnson administration permitted himself similar observations; indeed, Mr. Diefenbaker would probably be the first to protest against unwarranted American interference in our affairs.

Mr. Martin said that Canada was seeking to achieve three things in her mediatory role. First, there is the attempt, facilitated by our close relationship with the United States and our presence on the commission, to form the best possible judgment of positions in the conflict as they evolve. On the basis of this knowledge, it is possible to devise various formulas in attempts to bridge the gap between the two sides. Finally, it is hoped when conditions are ripe (and Mr. Martin thinks they are ripe now) to make the good offices of the three-power commission available to the warring parties.

This is a quiet and, generally speaking, undramatic role. Most people evidently regard it as useful because there is rarely a demand in Parliament that we should throw in our hand. But since the war, and the U.S. role in it, stirs deep emotions and arouses a good deal of apprehension, it is perfectly natural that many should demand other policies, insisting that Canada should speak out, asserting moral principles in stiff notes to the U.S. state department or, as Mr. Diefenbaker urged last week, in a resolution of the House of Commons. This might be emotionally satisfying but if the effect was merely to irritate the Americans, it would make our mediatory role that much less effective and contribute nothing to peace.

The same sense of public impatience is reflected in the periodic questions which rain on Mr. Martin in the House of Commons. Who learned what in Hanoi and why cannot he appear to testify before a House committee as witnesses commonly appear in Washington? Much of the time Mr. Martin cannot answer such questions without violating confidences. The situation in Washington is quite different because the United States is a combatant. Oddly enough, Mr. Rusk's public diplomacy is sometimes deplored by Canadians who object to the secret diplomacy of Mr. Martin because it keeps us in the dark.

Mr. Martin was on somewhat more difficult ground in his reply to the criticism that Canadian weapons sometimes end up in Vietnam. They are not, of course, shipped directly but by the Americans with whom we have a long-standing defence-sharing agreement. It would appear, from the minister's rambling answer to a question by Mr. Douglas, that unsuccessful attempts have been made to avoid this result.

We cannot very well justify the business on the ground that other countries render similar assistance to Hanoi. Any political party might argue, however, that we should back our convictions by scrapping the agreement and the very large employment benefits which go with it. This is one temptation which all the parties so far have successfully resisted.

It is said in Ottawa that the minister's speech was, for the most part, amost a repetition of one made last July. This is doubtless true but not surprising. The role remains the same, the explanations are quickly forgotten and the criticism comes in surges welling out of the old discontents. A mediator's lot, as Mr. Martin has found, is not a happy one.

Downgrading Uvic

On February 9 your reporter, Jim Hume, wrote a story on the University of Victoria which I feel cannot pass unchallenged.

In that article your correspondent implies that the majority of members of the faculty of the University of Victoria are decidedly limited in ability and are also opposed to change of any kind.

Mr. Hume, in downgrading the quality of instruction at the university, overlooks objective evidence to the contrary. The fact that our senior students have been able to compete most successfully for scholarships and awards of national and international importance must, I feel, be seen as some indication of the quality of instruction on this campus.

I must also point out that at least 80 per cent of the present faculty at the university have been on campus for less than five years. I cannot imagine a situation more calculated to reduce the influence of any group of alleged "old guard" than this which exists at the University of Victoria.

Your correspondent has, I believe, in making sweeping generalizations about conditions on our campus, impugned the integrity, ability, and dedication of large numbers of faculty members at the University of Victoria. — David Chabassol, President, University of Victoria Faculty Association.

In Praise of Tarlton

I would like to say a few words in defence of Dr. Tarlton, the political science associate professor at the University of Victoria. I am a middle-aged housewife and mother, and a member of the Registered Music Teachers. Dr. Tarlton, in my opinion is a gifted teacher. Since I took political science from him last summer, I would like to say why I consider him "gifted."

Dr. Tarlton teaches more than his subject — what might be termed adult responsibility in thinking. His is the "no-nonsense" course that says, "Don't believe everything you read or hear. Find out for yourself how the world really is."

He is the kind of teacher you remember.—Corinne Stephenson, 2815 Shoreline.

Implied Criticism

On reading recent reviews of the performances of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra under the batons of Mr. Lazlo Gati and Mr. Gregory Millar respectively, one receives the impression that hitherto the symphony has suffered from a lack of effective musical direction and leadership, and that only under the two guest conductors has the symphony realized its potential.

This implied criticism of Mr. Otto-Werner Mueller and his achievements during the years he has been conductor, particularly in the light of the glowing tributes paid to him on the occasion of his farewell concert a few weeks ago, is a little difficult to understand, as it is generally conceded by all symphony lovers, that under Mr. Mueller's leadership, the Victoria Symphony has attained a higher calibre of performance than in previous years. — Jane Tweed and Hilda Bushby, 1665 Ruby.

Take Mr. Kosygin At His Word

Lippmann

Mr. Harold Wilson, speaking of his talks with Mr. Kosygin, has just said that last weekend peace in Vietnam "was almost in our grasp . . . one simple act of trust could have achieved it." What might such an act of trust have been? Presumably, it would have been a statement or an action by Hanoi which signified that it would halt the flow of men and materials to the south. That would have been accompanied by an American order halting the bombing of North Vietnam.

This would have met the United States' official demand for reciprocal military action — something for something. Although it sounds as if Mr. Kosygin had in fact asked Hanoi to do something of the sort, Hanoi has not done so. This means that Hanoi refused to accept the Rusk formula that any reduction of American military action in the air over North Vietnam must be complemented by a reduction by Hanoi of its military action on the ground.

Thus military reciprocity is not now a workable formula for producing the negotiations which, the President has so often insisted, is the immediate objective of our military actions. The question then arises whether military reciprocity is the only, the best, or even the most practical and realistic formula to use in these preliminary discussions. I think it is not. I believe that true reciprocity can be had only if, on the one hand, there is a general cease-fire — not only in the air above North Vietnam but also in the air over South Vietnam and a cease-fire also on the ground and at sea. The other side of the equation, the counterpart to the cease-fire, would be a political negotiation to settle the future of Vietnam.

If words mean anything, the public declaration in London by Prime Minister Kosygin envisages just such reciprocity. He told the world last week that if there were a cease-fire in the air over North Vietnam "the way would be cleared to the negotiating table . . . to seek a way to a political settlement of the Vietnam problem." Inseparably connected with this declaration is the proposition that the way would not be cleared if the suspension of the bombing were followed not by a conference but by a reinforced invasion of South Vietnam or by greatly intensified terrorism in South Vietnam. It is not possible to suppose that Mr. Kosygin thinks there could be a conference to settle the political future of Vietnam without such a general cease-fire.

Therefore, in my view, we should take Mr. Kosygin at his word and should reply that we will suspend the bombing on the understanding that the Soviet Union intends to promote a conference.

This would be not only promising but widely acceptable at home and abroad. It would also be a very strong position for the government to take. It rests on the assumption that unless the contrary is proved, Mr. Kosygin is not deceiving us when in effect, he promises a conference if the bombing in the north is suspended. Even if Hanoi refused the conference and the whole gambit failed, such a position would verify and validate the promises and pledges made by the president since the Baltimore address of April 7, 1965. The address was delivered shortly after the bombing of North Vietnam began and must be read as an official statement of American objectives in the bombing.

Military Reciprocity

The formula of military reciprocity sounds a good deal stronger and tougher than in fact it is. For it is almost impossible to define military reciprocity when you have to compare guerrilla forces and highly organized professional forces. One of the essential characteristics of this war is that the great majority of the fighting forces on the other side can disappear and reappear without our being able to keep close watch on them. What could be watched, what can be kept track of is bombing and gunfire: a violation of a cease-fire while a conference was taking place could not be concealed.

I have, of course, no way of knowing whether a policy which began by taking Mr. Kosygin at his word would in fact be followed by a general cease-fire and a conference. The reality of things is very ornery indeed. But to take him at his word would still be the wisest course for us. For it would align American policy with America promises and pledges.

It is quite apparent that under the enlightened timber policy of the McBride government every acre of the most valuable of our natural resources will sooon have passed into the hands of private parties at the nominal annual rental of 25 cents per acre. If anyone has any doubts upon the matter let him consult the advertising columns of the government organs. NOT SPACESHIPS BUT BOTTLENECKS

By NORMAN COUSINS
Editor, Saturday Review

An astronaut with a taste for irony can look down on the earthball and ponder the melancholy fact that it will take him longer to travel a few blocks in the average city than to circle the entire world. For the city has become a stage for the humiliation of modern man engaged in the act of short distance travel.

Man has fixed his gaze on the distant places, but he has given absurdly little attention to his everyday need for circulating in the immediate vicinity. His genius in science and invention has gone into the large leaps; what happens on wheels and on foot is a disgrace to the race.

Man's new access to the universe gives him cosmic grandeur but a trip to the other side of town gives him the willies. The symbol of the age is not the spaceship but the bottleneck.

The automobile, conceived as a device for swift and convenient locomotion, is rapidly becoming a thing of fits and starts, an isolation chamber for sealing people off from continuous movement.

The automobile horn is now less a device for alerting people to danger than it is an outlet for the boiling desperation of traffic-snarled and snarling drivers who don't know what else to do. This, of course, creates and compounds other problems: Noise pollution and air pollution comes out of the same bottleneck.

Can nothing be done about the size of automobiles? Whatever the advantages of the large car on open highways, the moment it gets onto a city street it becomes an unholy instrument of congestion and air poisoning.

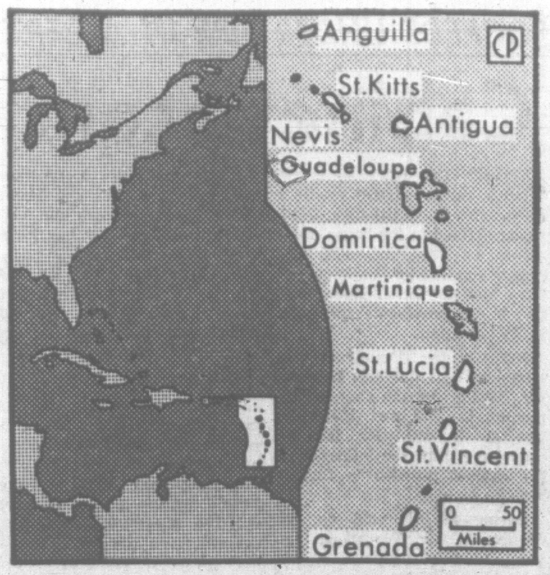
Space in the heart of any large city is limited and valuable. Buildings are taxed according to the amount of land they occupy. Because of this, the emphasis is on vertical construction.

●

An automobile, for no functional reason, is a horizontal phenomenon. It takes up space in defiance of all the logic that pertains to the operations of a large community. Moreover, the passion of designers to make cars look like frankfurters has resulted in front seats that require an unnatural sitting position and rear seats that make human legs an encumbrance. A long protrusion jutting far out over the rear wheels represents an ultimate tribute to baggage but makes parking the exercise of the devil.

The net effect of this squeezed-out design is to reduce by one-third to one-half the number of cars that can pass a heavily trafficked point within a given time.

It is too easy to blame the automobile manufacturers. Less than a decade ago, Detroit put a major thrust behind smaller and lighter cars. It soon developed that when a man went into a salesroom to buy a compact car, he wanted the biggest one he could get.



A form of independence for eight islands representing six territories in the British West Indies will be granted within the next month. The new status will be given Antigua, Dominica, St. Lucia, Grenada and St. Vincent and three that form a single territory —St. Kitts, Nevis and Anguilla.

West Indies Hope For Canadian Aid

By R. M. THOMSON

CASTRIES, St. Lucia — Six island territories in the British West Indies will be granted "independence in association with Great Britain" around the end of February.

The new status will be achieved by Antigua, Dominica, St. Lucia, Grenada and St. Vincent and three islands that form a single territory — St. Kitts, Nevis and Anguilla. Montserrat, another island on the road to limited independence, will continue under colonial status a little longer.

The new status means internal self-government such as Canada achieved 100 years ago, not complete independence as gained by the islands of Trinidad, Jamaica and Barbados in recent years. These islands have had virtual internal autonomy for some years.

These new "associate states" will still be dependent on Britain for external affairs and defence, as well as for financial assistance.

Few Inhabitants

With populations varying from about 60,000 in Antigua to about 100,000 in St. Lucia, the islands have no more inhabitants than a small city in Canada, with less income. The gross domestic product, or total value of all goods and services in a year, varies from $200 Canadian to $250 per person, about a tenth of the per capita revenue in Canada. With such meagre resources the islands are in no position to go it alone.

Home rule presents financial problems. There will be no more U.K. grants-in-aid but the economy will continue to be subsidized through premium prices for bananas and sugar.

However the West Indians want to join the ranks of free nations and take part in world affairs, regardless of their size. Barbados, with about 250,000 inhabitants and about twice the per capita income of the smaller islands, entered full independence last November and has already taken her seat at the United Nations.

In 1959, at the time of the formation of the abortive West Indies Federation, all the islands in it were granted virtual provincial status, with an elected legislative council and an administrator appointed from Britain. With the collapse of the federation after a few years, the islands reverted to colonial office dependencies but kept their local constitutions.

In recent years the islands have had virtual control over all aspects of internal government except the police force and the judiciary.

Local Control

Under the new constitution the local legislature probably will control appointment of all officials including the Queen's representative who will become governor-general. The chief minister will probably be titled premier or prime minister.

It will probably not be many years before these islands now gaining associate status will become fully independent, possibly under a new federation which is discussed in cautious terms from time to time.

Meanwhile the smaller islands are looking to Canada as a big brother within the Commonwealth and Canada is offering assistance where she can. At present she has promised $75,000,000 aid to the British West Indies during the next five years.

"We foresee Canada playing a greater and greater role in the Caribbean," says John Compton, chief minister of St. Lucia. "We have the Commonwealth ties, a common language and a common heritage. Her motives in aiding us are not suspect. In dealings with Canada we are treated as equals, not with disparagement.

"We are hoping for more trade with Canada, not just financial aid."

Two Kinds of Ministers, For Policy, Administration

By GERALD WARING

OTTAWA—Time was when the portfolio was the thing, and cabinet ministers were measured by the prestige of the jobs they held—finance, justice, trade and external affairs ranking highest.

Waring

Now there's a new trend that implicitly asks "What's in a portfolio?" and supplies the answer: concentration on administration to the detriment of the intellectually more stimulating and in the long run more important responsibility of formulating government policy.

So a new kind of cabinet minister is arising. He is the minister without portfolio who is recognizably a superior intellectual type, and who, spared the responsibilites of departmental administration, is concentrating on assessing situation and formulating policy proposals. He is not to be confused with the old-style minister without portfolio, who was no more than a cabinet supernumerary appointed to placate a faction in the party.

* * *

The outstanding example of the new type is Walter Gordon. He has no portfolio, yet he has the rank of "senior member of the government" bestowed upon him by Prime Minister Pearson.

His immediate assignment could scarcely be more important: to head a cabinet committee investigating the extent and effect of foreign investment in Canada, and to devise policy to ensure that this investment capital will operate in Canada's national interest.

Another minister without portfolio—there are only two in the cabinet—who is being increasingly recognized as a policy thinker is John Turner. Only 37, Mr. Turner reflects the attitude and aspirations of younger Canadians dissatisfied with the old order of things. But he is less concerned with criticizing the status quo than concentrating on broad policy lines leading to goals toward which he sees our Canadian society heading during the next 35 years. Turner might be described as a political visionary, but with his feet firmly rooted in the realities of the present.

Interestingly enough, neither Gordon nor Turner is the archetype of the new policy-oriented cabinet minister. That honor goes to Maurice Lamontagne. He was secretary of state when the job was a sinecure with only slight administrative responsibility. Lamontagne's real role was as policy advisor. A former professor of economics, he worked closely with Mr. Pearson and Tom Kent in giving Pearson Liberalism its leftward bent.

Mr. Lamontagne resigned from the cabinet because of the political embarrassment caused by the furniture deal. There was no disagreement on policy, and his return to the cabinet as another new-type minister without portfolio would occasion no surprise.

* * *

In the early days of his administration Mr. Pearson was distressed by the difficulty of getting decisions out of a cabinet of 25 men and one woman. He said he preferred the executive format in Britain, where there is an inner cabinet of key policy ministers, and an outer group of ministers who are basically administrators.

He never instituted such reform, perhaps because it would generate too many political and personality problems. But he may be achieving the same results by developing a body of ministers without portfolio to concentrate on policy.

They don't have "inner cabinet" prestige. But if they are effective they will generate their own prestige.

Turtles, Tortoises Belong To Ancient Reptile Group

By DR. CLIFFORD CARL
Director, Provincial Museum

Highly specialized along unique lines are the turtles and tortoises which are members of one of the most ancient groups of reptiles. These creatures, whose ancestors date back 200 million years in time, have sacrificed mobility for safety by developing a heavy shell to protect the entire body.

Carl

The covering is unlike that of any other animal. It is basically a bony structure covered with horny plates but in some kinds of turtles, such as the soft-shell turtle and the marine leatherback, the shell is of a leathery material, tough but pliable. In conventional species the upper shell is formed by a fusion of the ribs and the backbone to make a rigid shield. The lower shell is composed of several bony elements corresponding to expanded ventral ribs and associated parts; the two shields are joined at the sides to leave openings front and rear for head, legs and tail.

Covering the upper and lower bony structures are series of horny plates or scutes in a pattern that is characteristic of each kind of turtle or tortoise and the design so produced is sometimes used in identifying the various species. Usually the plates on the upper surface are dark in color while the lower ones are light, the combined effect making the animal relatively inconspicuous, but sometimes they are brightly patterned with color particularly on the ventral surface as is the case with various kinds of pond turtles.

The double-decked shell forms a strong box to which are attached the other body parts making a very compact unit. In most forms the arrangement is such that the animal can pull the legs, head and tail into shelter provided by the shell so that the turtle or tortoise in practically immune from attack by predators. In the box turtle the design goes a step further; hinges in the joints of the lower shell enable the animal to completely close the openings against attack from the outside world.

The heavy shell, however, is a real encumberance to the inmate. To carry it the land-living forms, usually called tortoises, are provided with powerful stalky limbs designed to lift the shell clear fo the ground when walking. But even under ideal conditions progress is labored and slow, consequently tortoises seldom wander far from their home base. In these creatures the shell is usually highly arched or domed and strong enough to withstand almost any blow they might receive during life. Even if by some strange accident they should fall upon their back or be turned up-side down by a curious predator they can usually right themselves with little trouble, accomplishing this feat by levering the body over by a combination of leg and neck action.

* * *

The pond turtles and terrapins which inhabit fresh water have a much flatter shell and the legs are more paddle-like, designed primarily for swimming. These animals, however, can walk on land though their progress is more the result of a sliding action since they are unable to support themselves clear of the ground as do the tortoises. They, too, can right themselves providing they can get a purchase with one claw.

The marine species are almost entirely aquatic. Only the adult female leaves the water and then only for one night to lay eggs. The process of moving up the sloping sandy beach is a laborious one as the flipper-like limbs of these creatures are incapable of supporting the weight of the body out of water. Locomation is achieved by a series of heaves mainly by the front appendages consequently the tracks on the sand are very conspicuous providing a convenient guide to persons seeking freshly-laid eggs for food. The build of these reptiles is such that they are quite helpless when flipped on their back—a circumstance that is used by turtle-hunters to prevent escape of their catch.

American 'Existentialism' Rules Commerce, Politics, Diplomacy

By M. S. ARNONI

These are excerpts from a talk delivered at a teach-in at Wayne University in Detroit. Mr. Arnoni, a survivor of Auschwitz and Birkenau death camps, is editor of The Minority of One, an independent American magazine of opinion.

With the thousands of nuclear bombs at its disposal, with flotillas roaming the oceans of the world, and with its war aircraft in the skies of every continent, the American (industrial, military and political complex) threatens to annex immensely more than it has in the past.

But the present danger of conquest has in it a new element, something that makes it qualitatively different from conquests of the past including those by Hitler. This time what is at stake is not merely which country will be under whose political or economic domination, but the very meaning of human life.

For what America is spreading is not only its power, but also its philosophy. As she enhances her influence geographically, she is also in the closing stages of evolving a life philosophy to the exclusion of other life philosophies.

This is a peculiarly American version of existentialism. It denies all relevance to the question of right and wrong. Things are no longer true or false, just or unjust, good or bad. Things merely are or are not. Their justification lies in their existence, and is sovereign. If you can make something prevail, then by virtue of it having prevailed it is as it should be.

Perseverance

There are, for example, two ways of disposing of a lie. One is the old way: embarrassment and surrender upon exposure. The other is the American way: perseverance. After a while the very idea of embarrassment and surrender disappears, the lie now being fully legitimized, a new fact of life.

There are old ways of reacting to an injustice: to correct it, or, hypocritically, to deny it. There is also an American way: persevere — until perpetuation makes people forget that injustice should not be tolerated.

The beneficiaries of anti-social arrangements in other nations have had a hard time inventing justifying thoughts and ideologies; their American counterparts hardly need any. They justify themselves by virtue of being.

Whatever propaganda and rationalization are still resorted to are half-hearted and primarily a concession to foreign peoples who have not yet forgotten their old notions of fairness, justice and other such things, which American "sophistication" assumes to be too childish and utopian to control the actions of adults.

The American brand of existentialism crowns three and a half centuries of the evolving new civilzation on the continent. None of its psycho-philosophical components is really new or unique to this society; but their pervasiveness, emergence as an all-out world and life outlook, and that exclusiveness which sets them in competition to world outlooks of other times and places — these are uniquely American.

Such is not merely an expedient of politicians and diplomats, but a philosophy so deeply rooted that into its making went all that happened to the white society since its inception in this part of the world.

In it is synthesized the experience of our people from the Mayflower to the present day. It is molded by events as remote in time as the first wars and treaties (and their breaches) between the colonists and the Indians, and as current as today's TV and radio commercial. It involves every aspect of life and activity, whether economic or cultural, political or recreational.

Other Areas

If anything, American existentialism permeates other areas of endeavor even more than it permeates foreign policy making. It is most predominant in the art of marketing. An American watch that has nothing special to recommend it, for example, is promoted on so imaginative and imaginary a merit as its presumed surviving intact of a trans-Atlantic voyage on the propeller of an ocean liner.

This surrealist commercial and the thousands of its kind proceed from the assumption that nonsense is not necessarily nonsense, that nonsense can be made to work for you. And also that any lie that cannot be proved to be such is truth, in accordance with what professionals call "The Theory of the Uncheckable Claim."

Chances are that a non-American trader stuck with a rejected food article would either sell the merchandise elsewhere, dump it, or attempt to attract customers by price cutting. Not so his American colleague. Stuck with a load of white tuna fish that is not on the American housewife's shopping list, he simply has labels printed, "White tuna, does not get pink in the can."

Or you have the supermarket which, having difficulty selling a particular can of food at 25 cents a piece, offers "Special" of six cans for $2.00, and empties the supply.

Honest Or Not

To use another example. What would a non-American store do if it were unable to supply a particular fur ordered by a customer? It would try to sell him another skin, an imitation of the desired skin, or it would deceptively substitute another fur for the ordered one. There would be in the transaction either honesty or dishonesty.

The American merchant, however, is so imaginative that he manages to reconcile the two, winding up with the advantages of a sharp deal and the candor of an above-the-board transaction. He even advertises the availability and virtues of "genuine imitations," yes, you heard it right, "genuine imitations." He is also selling "virgin nylon," which is the art of marketing non-wool, virgin or no virgin, on the subliminally inferred merits of something is it not.

Then there is the drug, many a drug. It may well be poisonous or cancer producing. In such a case the promomter talks instead of its agreeable taste, "sparky" color, "smoothness" — whatever this greeting of consumendum purports to mean — or his "energizing" effect.

Nowhere have people been made of poison themselves with greater gusto. Tobacco they smoke everywhere, but nowhere except in America and American-dominated markets are people persistently consoled about the goodness, sweetness, glamor and sex appeal of destroying their bodies.

The political counterparts of the commercial and cultural manifestations of American Existentialism are available wherever one turns. Cataloguing them would fill thick tomes. Here several recent examples will suffice. When peace demonstrations sweep the country creating a momentum one would judge capable of swinging the political pendulum, the war proponents have a reliable survival formula; outwait the momentum.

Means Change

When convenient, President Johnson does not tire of pointing to public opinion polls to prove the popularity of his policies. When the polls prove otherwise, the means of public opinion gauging change, with the President now assuring everybody that none is more reliable than his personal impressions when "I get out and see the people."

When our diplomats publicly lie until blue in their faces to the audible ridicule of an incredulous world, there is premeditation in what at first appears as their indifference to their own effectiveness and persuasiveness. They persevere, and persevere, and persevere.

Many minds in the world are bound to be weaker than that perseverance, and eventually confusion replaces articulate hostility. At last the trick worked.

That the U.S. President never fails to refer to his foreign victims as "aggressors" may be considered an insult to intelligence by most of humanity, but there is calculation in his seeming madness; before long it is bound to result at least in some people's treatment of victims as aggressors.

When the United States outrages the world by such actions as the landing of Marines in the Dominican Republic, its government falls back on American Existentialism. It continues and increases that which provoked the outrage, until emotions exhaust themselves and that which had caused so sharp a reaction becomes business as usual.

Now Routine

When the United States escalates its war, it follows what by now is a traditional routine; it assures everybody that the war escalation is no war escalation and it proceeds right on with the war escalation. It thus reconciles an incompatibility: it has its war escalation, but for psychological purposes, it has no war escalation.

When U.S. planes or warships begin bombings of areas and targets such as arouse a loud outcry in the world, the first few assaults are invariably misrepresented as either mistakes or sporadic events. Then they continue until the outcry is absorbed in a regularity that is anything but attention getting.

Reasons by far sufficient for bringing down a government in another country can have no such effect in this country. Nor do they suffice to change a compromised policy.

Britain's Conservative government of Anthony Eden fell because of its ill-conceived Suez adventure. In France, many a government was toppled over Algerian policy.

In America? Well, when your policy is compromised, you do anything but forfeit it; instead you operate on the brains of the public evaluators, keep the policy up, and that's that.

CIA'S STUDENT SUBSIDY HIT

'Big Brotherism' Fear Expressed by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield urged today that the Senate as well as the White House look into the Central Intelligence Agency's cloak-and-gown operations among students.

"It's a move toward Big Brotherism if we get the government into everything," said Mansfield, a former Montana professor. He called the CIA's secret subsidy of the National Student Association "most unfortunate."

MANSFIELD
. . . wants probe

HELMS
. . . policy needed

As signs of congressional concern increased, President Johnson stepped directly into the controversy, ordering a careful review of any government activities that might endanger integrity of U.S. educational groups.

He gave the mission to Nicholas Katzenbach, undersecretary of state.

Katzenbach announced Wednesday that the president also directed key officials—including CIA Director Richard Helms—to outline a policy to guide federal agencies "in their relationship to the international activities of American education organizations."

ACKNOWLEDGES LINK

Johnson acted one day after the administration acknowledged the 15-year financial link between the main U.S. spy agency and biggest college student organization. Meanwhile, rumors, reports, charges and denials followed heel on toe.

One charge, denied by NSA, was that NSA officers automatically received draft deferments. Another: that the CIA channelled funds to three other student groups.

Administration officials argue the subsidy was needed so the NSA could afford to present the American view to counter Communist - financed youth groups abroad.

In the case's backlash, NSA official Robert Cutner reported an NSA exchange student was whisked out of Poland just before the group's financial link with the CIA was exposed.

He added: "If they had learned we were backed by the CIA they would have put him in jail and thrown away the key."

NSA leaders met in an atmosphere of gloom to decide what the organization could do to regain its standing in the academic world. Some board members saw little alternative but to shut the doors and go out of business.

The chairman of NSA's supervisory board, Samuel Brown, 23, a Harvard divinity student, charged it was "morally reprehensible" for the intelligence agency to have involved the student group in the dark side of world politics.

"It also appears to be a clear violation of the intent of Congress that the CIA should function in international affairs, not through a domestic, private organization," he added.

Next Decade In Schools Rally Theme

The next decade in schools is the theme of a convention of 1,100 Greater Victoria teachers Friday, Feb. 24, at Victoria Senior Secondary School.

Among 12 guest speakers is Dr. Walter Young, assistant professor of political science at University of British Columbia. His topic is The Mind and the Marketplace.

Dr. Lorne Downey and Dr. Walter Hartrick, authors of a controversial report on Greater Victoria school administration, will expand on their criticisms. Other speakers will review education in the U.S.S.R., university entrance exams and the teaching of the humanities, language and mathematics.

SOCREDS UNDER FIRE IN ALBERTA

Cabinet 'Scandal' Probe Asked

EDMONTON (CP) — Garth Turcott, the only NDP member of the Alberta legislature, Wednesday tabled in the house documents he said indicated improper conduct by Municipal Affairs Minister A. J. Hooke and former provincial treasurer E. W. Hinman.

Some of the documents pertained to land dealings between Mr. Hooke and the City of Edmonton in 1953 and 1954. Mr. Turcott also said Mr. Hinman may have used the influence of his cabinet position to further his own ends.

Basing his demand on the documents, Mr. Turcott, a lawyer, called for an investigation into three matters:

1. The question of the propriety of the minister dealing with the city in such land transactions;

2. What he termed contradictions between some of the documents;

3. The question of whether the minister received a profit after contracting with the city that he would not arrange for a profit.

Mr. Turcott represents Pincher Creek-Crowsnest in the 63-seat house, in which Social Credit members outnumber the combined opposition 58-5.

PRODUCES DOCUMENTS

Speaking Wednesday in the throne speech debate, Mr. Turcott produced the sheaf of documents and called for an inquiry.

Reading from a 33 - page speech dealing almost entirely with the alleged improprieties, he listed each of the documents and recited the contents.

Mr. Turcott said one memorandum indicated that Mr. Hooke, while provincial secretary, conferred a benefit on one trust company by instructing that stringent restrictions on investments be relaxed in the company's favor.

He also said there is "sufficient evidence to establish a prima facie case that the former provincial treasurer (Mr. Hinman) may have used the influence of his cabinet position to further his own ends and only a thorough investigation and inquiry will reveal the truth."

Premier E. C. Manning, speaking after Mr. Turcott had finished, said that "reciting documents out of context does not constitute proof of impropriety."

He suggested that the matter not be debated during the throne speech debate, and be sent instead to a committee of the house or investigated in some other form.

Opposition Leader Mike Maccagno suggested that no action be taken until all members were provided with copies of the material tabled by Mr. Turcott and given time to study it. No further action was taken.

Mr. Turcott said he is "prepared to let the form of the inquiry be established by this house. But I do ask that the terms of reference be wide enough so that the truth may be established once and for all, and that this inquiry be called without further delay."

He stressed that "all I have ever asked for is an inquiry into these matters and I do not intend to be placed in the position of being the prosecutor under any such inquiry."

Mr. Turcott said outside the house that he is agreeable to any type of inquiry "just as long as it is not a commission where it would be buried for two years."

Government members refused comment.

Mr. Hooke, 61, is a former school teacher. He was one of the original members of the Social Credit government, elected in 1935. He has been a member of the cabinet 24 years.

Indians Would Gain From Loans

OTTAWA (CP) — Government-guaranteed low-interst loans for consumer spending by low-income families would be a help to Canadian Indians trying to re-establish themselves, the Senate-Commons consumer credit committee says.

The committee recommended Wednesday that the proposed loans of up to $1,500 be made available to families with incomes of $4,000 a year and less to help them make thrifty and necessary purchases without incurring high commercial credit costs.

Such loans, the committee said, "should greatly assist current efforts to establish Indian families in the mainstream of Canadian life."

"Those responsible for helping them to move from the reserves to the regular working force have noted that credit, which may very well be essential if the transition is to be made, is usually denied to Canada's original inhabitants."

COWICHAN COPPER SCANDAL

Miners Only Ones to Lose, Nimsick Charges in House

An opposition party whip in the legislature Wednesday charged the former administrators of Cowichan Copper Mine in Jordan River, shut down since September, with "theft" and "scandal."

Speaking in the budget debate, Leo Nimsick (NDP — Kootenay) said Aetna Investments, which managed the mine for about a year profited at the expense of miners.

He said the investment company "disposed gently" of its holdings and that "the people on the inside made a killing."

He claimed that Aetna Investments made a $300,000 profit on the stock market from the mine, without paying miners what was owed them for work.

"This ore has been sold to somebody else — it belongs to the people not paid for their work."

NIMSICK
. . . wages owing

He asked the government to recover the ore and "advance money to these people so they can live."

Former Cowichan Copper miners, he said, would like to leave the area but are kept waiting for money owed them.

He said Aetna Investments was given 200,000 shares to bail out the company and options on 600,000 more.

The investment company sold their shares at $1 he said, whereupon shares deopped to 16 cents each.

MORE THAN 100

Cowichan Copper at one time employed more than 100 men.

Referring to problems of higher education Mr. Nimsick said "we cannot talk about equality of opportunity as long as there are no equalization grants for out-of-town students."

He also said students who manage to pass but are not bright stars are penalized by the government's scholarship incentive program.

'Bennett Has Duty To Listen'

Leo Nimsick (NDP—Kootenay) doesn't like to be lonely. He doesn't even like other people to be lonely—even when they're not on his side.

"Mr. Speaker," said the veteran MLA in the legislature Wednesday, "every day during the session the premier leaves the House when an Opposition speaker or even one of his own backbenchers speaks."

Addressing a House populated by only 14 of a possible 32 Social Credit members, Mr. Nimsick said it was "the duty" of the premier and the cabinet to listen to all debate.

He said that since every speaker represented many British Columbians "every speech in this House means something".

"If we had a Hansard at least the ministers out on a coffee break could read what goes on," he said.

Factory Return Set

JAKARTA (UPI) — Preparations are being made in Jakarta for the return of the "Bata" shoe factory to the Canadian owners, the army newspaper War News reported today. The factory, Indonesia's major supplier of shoes, was put under government control in 1965, during Indonesia's confrontation with Malaysia.

PRICES HAVE RISEN

Subscriptions to L'Arena di Verona, an Italian newspaper, cost six lire when it was founded 100 years ago and now are 13,000 lire.

PIONEER AREAS

B.C. Not Dynamic With No Electricity

A Social Credit backbencher Wednesday said the government must be speaking with its tongue in its cheek when it declaims about its "dynamic society."

Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca) told the legislature that too many pioneering areas have no electricity and it's "a crime" the government and B.C. Hydro do not extend power to them.

"As long as we have a number of these areas in our province we should certainly speak with our tongue in our cheek when we talk about a dynamic society," he said.

He said no dynamic society would allow native Indians to live in the squalor of the reserves either.

NEW HOLDINGS

Mr. Shelford angrily recalled that 12 years ago a number of his constituents near Kitimat were moved from their land so the aluminum project could create a reservoir for the hydro-power plant to supply it, yet they were not served with electricity in their relocated holdings.

"These people, who were quite willing to aid progress, got kicked square in the pants when the province, which had been helped as a whole by building up the economy, did not see fit to insist on power extensions to them."

He said the government's proposed additional $1 million for rural electrification should not be placed in one or two projects this year but used to subsidize B.C. Hydro so it would raise its investment formula from $1,200 per new household when deciding whether specific extension projects will proceed.

This would help all rural areas seeking hook-up to power-lines, he said.

"Let us not hear any more about a dynamic society until we blow out that candle in all those rural homes across this province," he said.

Some young pioneering farmers in this Centennial Year will grow "to be 100 years old before they're hooked up (to power lines) unless we get moving."

Shelford Prods Gas Hearings

Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca) Wednesday prodded the government to speed up its promised convening of a special legislative committee to study the Morrow Royal Commission report on gasoline prices.

He said it should be set up "this week so it can start to work seriously next week."

Mr. Shelford, who sparked the inquiry single-handedly four years ago, said time was of the essence because representatives of the B.C. Automotive Retailers Association have warned the "at least one in every four service station operators will go broke this year ..... but it's interesting to note not one oil company will (go under)".

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Monday he would place the committee proposal on the order paper so it could be adopted but so far has not done so. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault blocked adoption without notice because it will have only one Liberal to four NDP and nine Social Credit members which he said was out of proportion to party standings.

Mountie on Trial

NELSON (CP)—RCMP Constable Robert Stephens, holder of a gallantry award for his part in the 1965 capture of a shot-gun-toting Rossland man, pleaded not guilty to charges of impaired driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident here Wednesday.

The trial was adjourned to Feb. 23.

Plant-Tree Week Urged For Students

A national forest week should be declared for Centennial Year so all school children could spend at least one day in the woods planting trees, the legislature was told Wednesday.

"In this way they will grow up feeling more a part of our forests," said Cyril Shelford (SC—Omineca).

He said it would be particularly appropriate in B.C. where 54 per cent of the economy is based on the forest industry.

"This method has proved very successful in Sweden where the school children go out for one day each year and plant trees," Mr. Shelford added. "Then they can go back later and see how their effort was well worthwhile."

The government backbencher said he was sorry to see there is only an increase of $155,800 in the budget for reforestation "which takes care of little more than the increased costs of labor."

He said the federal and provincial governments should spend $140 million over the next decade in planting millions of idle B.C. acres and its combined tax revenues would be raised ultimately by $715 million for a net gain of $575 million.

"This would be a sound investment in the future, for new jobs and revenue too," he said.

Man Sentenced To Two Months For Vagrancy

A 28-year-old man recently arrived from Edmonton was sentenced Wednesday to two months in jail when he pleaded guilty in central court to a charge of vagrancy.

Raymond Budynski was arrested Tuesday morning after he had been seen walking in the downtown area for two hours.

Court was told he had no funds and was receiving social assistance.

"It doesn't do any good sending you to jail — but at least it keeps you off the public streets," Magistrate William Ostler told Budynski.

Prosecutor Peter Birkett said the man had previous similar convictions.

BLOOD, URINE OR BREATHALIZER

Forced Tests Urged for Impaired Drivers

GARDOM
. . . get tough

By JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Suspected drinking drivers should be compelled to take blood alcohol tests and sentenced automatically to definite periods of specified community service on conviction, an MLA proposed Wednesday.

G. B. Gardom (L—Vancouver Point Grey) said "new and stricter rules are needed to harness the drinking driver and we should not wait until our thoroughfares become abattoirs."

He said suspects should be given a choice only among blood, urine or breathalizer tests "but make it compulsory that he has to be tested."

Refusal should constitute a prima facie case of guilt in a court case so "the onus would then be upon the accused to rebut or raise a reasonable doubt of that presumption."

WORKHOUSE

Mr. Gardom said conviction should bring "without exception, some definite period of workhouse or community agency custody."

He said licence suspensions could be added but jail terms should only be imposed for more serious or repeated offences.

However, fines should be reduced.

"The fine system is a rotten yardstick and really only comparable to one's financial status. "A $500 fine is insignificant for the wealthy, but it's absolutely backbreaking for those in the lower or middle income groups and the greatest burden is usually borne by those not at fault, the next of kin.

PUNISHMENT

"Some form of mandatory custody for drinking driving would be the only just and the only equal form of punishment for all segments of society, let alone an excellent deterrent."

Mr. Gardom, who drew general applause, said the fine system has failed to prevent an increase in drinking driving.

Mr. Gardom urged a Criminal Victims Indemnity Fund similar to the Traffic Victims Indemnity Fund, pointing out a 10-year-old Vancouver boy who recently lost an eye in an unsolved bomb explosion could have received compensation if he had been hit by a car instead.

PAYMENT

He proposed that small contract and sub-contract loggers be allowed to file liens for wages on companies just as mechanics, plumbers and other tradesmen to guarantee they will receive payment for work.

Jurisdiction of small debts court should be increased from $200 to $1,000 claims, he said, so aggrieved parties could obtain quick and relatively inexpensive court action in collecting debts.

Divorce Reform Vote Asked by Grit MLA

A freshman Liberal MLA Wednesday sent out a "Mayday" call for immediate divorce reform.

G. B. Gardom (L — Vancouver Point Grey) told the legislature it and all provincial legislatures should hold free votes "recommending the federal Parliament make a decision by not later than May 1 of this year."

He said the decision should be to extend the grounds for divorce to include extreme cruelty, incurable insanity and desertion over two years.

"The country is tired out about thinking about the problem and it is right smack up to the federal Parliament to face the issue head on, bring the amendments to a vote and get on with the job.

"Any more chit-chat about divorce at public expense should be dissuaded . . . the decency of matrimonial dissolution can no longer be denied Canadians."

Drop in and we'll give you a rubber check for your tires.

During Canada's Centennial year, you and your car will probably be on the move more than ever. Seeing Canada.

And we want you to see it through safely.

That means driving your car safely. And driving a safe car.

Right now, to get '67 off to a safe start, we'd like you to drop in and have your tires checked for the winter.

One of our tire experts will go over your tires to make sure that they'll see you safely through the slippery months of winter.

If they check out safely, that's fine. If they don't, he'll bring out a set of Uniroyal Winteride tires for your inspection. They're designed to give you a better hold on snow-covered roads. And if you're looking forward to spring, ask to see the The Rain Tire (Uniroyal Laredo). Just the thing for driving through April showers.

Let's get together for safety's sake and have a look at your tires. You'll feel a lot better for it.

And so will we.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—A report of possible drought conditions in parts of the winter wheat belt of the U.S. Southwest sent wheat prices rolling ahead on the grain futures exchange of the Chicago Board of Trade today.

The bread grain bulged more than 2½ cents within minutes after the opening. There was some moderate profit-taking at mid-morning, but most wheat deliveries advanced again beyond two cents a bushel before the close.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Price advances in all commodities were noted today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and the upturns were attributed to the report of dry weather conditions in U.S. winter wheat areas.

Rapeseed drew most of the attention, recording an aggressive demand and sharp advances.

A moderate trade was recorded in oats and barley where prices held to a narrow range in mostly domestic business.

Rye received some stimulation from an unfavorable report from the U.S. indicating severe weather in winter wheat areas.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged.

Net Earnings Show Decline

TORONTO (CP) — Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd. had net earnings of $15,927,921 or 91⅛ cents a share in 1966, compared with $16,736,007 or 96¼ cents in 1965.

In an interim report, the company says the earnings declined despite an 8.6-per-cent gain in sales. Sales reached a record $211,167,334, compared with $194,411,148 in 1965.

"Reproduction and start-up expenses charged against the year's earnings were a principal factor contributing to reduced earnings," the statement says.

"Lower earnings also reflect a strike at the company's largest hardboard plant and interruptions in shipments to customers caused by strikes in the transportation industries.

"While there were some increases in selling prices, they were insufficient, in the aggregate, to offset the rising costs of labor and materials."

MARKET SUMMARIES

Dome Petroleum Backs Off

Dome Petroleum backed off in trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange after a company spokesman denied rumors of a takeover bid.

The stock fell 1¼ to 46¼ after it had jumped five on Wednesday.

The spokesman also added that he knew of no reason for the stock's sudden popularity.

Dome's wild run caught the market by surprise as investors spiritedly bid the price up amid rumors that the company would be taken over by a U.S. firm.

Among other oils, Provo fell 10 cents to 5.30, Scurry-Rainbow ¾ to 20 and Central Del-Rio ⅛ to 12⅛.

The New York market softened establishing a lower trend in the ratio of declines to advances.

AT TORONTO industrials weakened and wiped out fractional gains scored earlier in the week.

A number of analysts said the market was due to subside following the sharp gains of last month.

Corby's was down 1 to 25¾ and Alcan and Magna Electronics ¾ each to 34¾ and 11. Massey-Ferguson gained ⅜ to 27¼.

AT NEW YORK National Airlines was the volume pacemaker, losing about three points. It was closely followed by Sperry Rand up nearly a point.

Scott-Foresman slid about 1½ in active dealings. MCA and Colt Industries rose between 1 and 2 points. Delta Airlines sank three points. American telephone, despite record earnings, backtracked from an early fractional gain and traded about unchanged.

IBM dropped four points.

AT MONTREAL industrials and papers slid lower while the rest of the market was mixed in active trading today. Domtar and Price Co. each lost ½ to 18 and 13, respectively, while Great Lakes Paper eased ¾ to 25.

Distillers-Seagrams and Famous Players each were off ¼ to 37½ and 35½. Phillips Cables was off ½ to 44½ and Power Corp. ¼ to 11¼. Imperial Oil was lower by ⅜ to 60⅛ and Inco ⅝ to 95⅞.

AT LONDON the market presented a generally irregular appearance today.

The market was pleased with the Imperial Chemical Industries dividend and the share price moved up to 37s 3d after a preliminary earnings statement by the company but later slipped back to 36s 9d, a net gain of 4½d.

Among the other leaders, EMI was firm and Rank Organization improved on color television prospects.

In rails, Canadian Pacific was dull, in line with North American stocks. Alcan lost 1¾ to 70½ and Noranda dropped 1½ to 116½. Algoma, International Nickel, British-American Oil, West Coast Transmission and Trans Canada Pipe were other Canadian stocks to move lower.

AT VANCOUVER industrials showed strength and the recent fast pace in mining speculatives eased in pre-noon trading today.

Inland Natural Gas climbed .25 to a new high of $11.50, while Woodwards A was up .50 at $25 and CPR jumped $3.37 to $62.62.

Prices held firm in slower mines trading. Bata, Ace and Hogan all gained .05 and Lytton tacked on .07 to .73. Torwest lost .05 at .76. Pyramid dipped .15 to $4.10 and Brenda gained .35 to $7.35.

Car Pact Probe Demanded in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) said Wednesday he would subpoena records of U.S. car makers for a congressional investigation of the effects of the two-year-old automotive trade agreement with Canada.

Calling the pact an "illegal price-fixing" scheme, Hartke told the Senate he would request a hearing by the Senate finance committee on all aspects of the agreement.

Hartke said neither Detroit nor the White House would provide details of U.S. jobs lost through the agreement. It was designed to permit duty-free movement of cars and parts across the Canada-U.S. border.

'LOST JOBS'

"This much is certain — we lost jobs," Hartke said. "We lost industry. Our favorable balance of trade in auto products has been cut in half. We are paying unemployment compensation to our displaced workers, while Canada is enjoying the greatest plant expansion in history."

Under the agreement, Hartke said, a growing number of U.S. firms were moving production to Canadian plants. At the same time, he said the Canadian government was forcing the U.S. firms to make large capital investments to expand their Canadian facilities.

"The shroud of secrecy surrounding the impact of this Canadian agreement is an appalling disgrace," he charged.

Car Sales Drop Blamed On Weather

DETROIT (AP) — Wintry weather has received much of the blame in the latest sales slump and production lag reported by the U.S. auto industry.

Industry executives Monday reported a 20.6-per-cent drop in sales for the first 10 days this month and said snowstorms and zero or below-zero temperatures that hit large areas of the United States were a major cause.

While fierce weather apparently kept some buyers away from auto showrooms, it prevented many auto workers from reaching their jobs.

The report of sales losses dovetailed with simultaneous losses or cuts in production and the highest inventory of unsold new autos for any Feb. 1 in history. One firm, American Motors Corp., closed its plants Monday for two weeks to bring its production in balance with sales and inventory.

All the major carmakers, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors, reported drops in sales for the first 10 days of the month as compared to the same February period last year. The difference averaged 20.6 per cent.

So far this year not one 10-day sales period has equalled its counterpart of last year.

Easier Money Signs Grow

NEW YORK (AP) — New signs of an easing of the money situation appeared last week in the United States.

This trend has been credited in part for the strong advance by the stock market in January.

The latest developments:

—Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York posted rate reductions ranging to ¼ percentage point on its negotiable certificates of deposit.

—First Western Bank and Trust Co. of Los Angeles reduced its real estate loan rate to 6.75 per cent from 7 per cent.

—Several finance companies and lending institutions reduced the interest charged automobile dealers on loans to finance car inventories.

Recently Chase Manhattan Bank sliced its prime rate — the interest charged the biggest and most credit-worthy borrowers — to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent. Other major banks came down to 5¾ per cent but Chase stuck with its bigger reduction.

Markets Must Refurbish Image

MONTREAL (CP) — Charles B. Neapole, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, says the tarnished image of Canada's financial markets should be refurbished to restore the glamor his country's securiies once held in international markets.

Modernization of securities legislation is a must, he said.

Mr. Neapole called for a national policy of regulation and uniformity and said this was the only way "recognizable and international stature could be given to all our capital markets."

Japan Remains Interested In Oil Sands

EDMONTON (CP)—A spokesman for Japan Petroleum Exploration Co. Ltd. says the company still is investigating the possibilities of the Athabasca oil sands, but "it has been decided we will do something."

The Japex spokesman said in an interview that something more definite might be announced about the end of March.

There has been speculation the company, controlled by the Japanese government, is considering a $300,000,000 oil sands processing plant in the vicinity of Fort McMurray, 250 miles northeast of Edmonton.

It has been estimated the oil sands contain the largest known oil reserve in the world.

Sun Life Jumps Payments To Policyholders

MONTREAL (CP) — Alistair M. Campbell, president of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, told the annual meeting that sales in 1966 were $1,316,463,000, increasing total life insurance in force by seven per cent to $14,447,064,000.

Payments to policyholders, beneficiaries and annuitants during 1966 increased $18,197,000 to $263,362,000.

Mr. Campbell also announced an increase in dividends to policyholders in 1967 which will bring total dividend payments to an estimated $67,279,000, an increase of $7,881,000 over 1966 dividends.

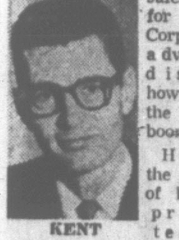
How to Attract Potential Buyer

By AB KENT
Business Editor

A good example of why consumer credit sometimes gets out of control was given inadvertently here Wednesday by an eastern sales executive.



KENT

The speaker was William Pratt, of Montreal, general sales manager for Fleetwood Corp., who was advising local distributors how to gear for the color TV boom.

He stressed the desirability of high power promotion techniques aimed at the middle class, and when he referred to advertising he said:

"Never state the price in the ad. Say the set can be had for as little as $4.50 a week. If you give the list price you're dead."

This type of selling is precisely the sort opposed by Senator David Croll's Senate-Commons committee that has been investigating consumer credit in Canada since 1963.

One of the recommendations delivered by the committee Wednesday is for full disclosure of all interest and service charges on credit sales, both in advertising and at the time of the sale.

The report also condemned certain types of credit plans, such as "revolving," "open-end," "budget," "cyclical" and "easy-payment" accounts.

* * *

To use Mr. Pratt's example, a buyer might act without knowing full price or credit charges, although he would be excessively foolish to do so.

And still using his illustration, a purchaser of a $700 TV set would need more than three years to pay off the principle amount, not to mention the interest or carrying charges that might impose a further 10-20 per cent.

Mr. Pratt has suggested to dealers that the most attractive way to present the price of a color TV set is to compare the weekly payment to that of a black and white TV set, which he said might be about $3.50.

How many potential buyers, caught up in the excitement of color television — which can indeed be dazzling under proper conditions — would stop to consider the difference in total price might be $400 and the time in which to pay closer to two years rather than at least three?

To the unsophisticated or the uneducated such techniques can be misleading, understandably.

But a very old Latin advisement still stands — let the buyer beware.

Peter Dixon and Eric Lewis of Ensign Motors (Chrysler-Plymouth-Valiant-Barracuda) have added the Rootes Group line to their automotive franchise.

And as of today will have a now horse in the stable as well. The change in franchise comes naturally with the recent takeover of Rootes of England by the Chrysler Corp. It means the addition of Sunbeam Imp and Alpine cars to the previously held Simca import.

The new car was to have its North American premiere in Vancouver today, and although Mr. Dixon had no idea of its name, he said the car will compete with domestic compacts.

He said he knew nothing of a rumored $100 retail price increase for all imported cars this year.

But he agreed that if imported cars must meet new American safety specifications, the cost of production would be higher for cars imported to Canada, too, since the export model is the same for both countries.

Mr. Dixon said the manufacturer might be able to absorb any such increase.

All directors of Cambri Mining and Development Ltd. will resign before a general meeting called for Feb. 23 at 10 a.m. in the company's Vancouver office.

Purpose is to allow a smaller board to be elected, a step in which the existing board not only concurs but actively supports three candidates: Donald Jamieson, Percy Sheppard and Nisson M. Goldman.

It is the company's intention to limit the board of directors to three men.

The B.C. legislature standing committee on forestry makes a two-day hop across the border next month to see an American integrated operation at first hand.

The Weyerhaeuser company will be host — possibly aided by the B.C. Council of Forest Industries — to MLAs for a tour of its Klamath Falls, Ore., operations, expecially those relating to smallwood utilization and sustained yield through reforestation.

A company aircraft will call here for the legislative party the morning of March 4, returning them to the capital next day.

WAGE SCALES, PRODUCTIVITY LINK STUDIED

VANCOUVER (CP) — Negotiators for the Plumbers' Union and plumbing contractors are considering a plan for scaling wages to productivity, it was learned Wednesday.

"Agreement will mean amending the present five-year contract to include the new formula," union officials said Wednesday night. "If agreement is reached it would cause a major impact throughout industry in general."

The Plumbers' Union along with other construction industry unions have signed long-term contracts and have found that wages are falling behind in comparison with other trades.

Canada Trade With Japan Shows Gain

VANCOUVER (CP) — The executive director of the Canada-Japan trade council says that Canadian exports to Japan in 1966 increased by 42 per cent over the previous year.

Robert L. Houston of Ottawa said Canada shipped $450,000,000 worth of products and raw materials to Japan and purchased $255,000,000 worth — a total trade value of more than $700,000,000.

Mr. Houston said these figures underlined the growing importance of Japan as a trading partner for Canada. He said B.C. could achieve the greatest benefit by expansion of this trade.

Vancouver "is in the best position to make the most of this progress," he said.

"Much-needed raw materials for the mighty and hungry Japanese industries, as well as products of our farms, our manufactured goods . . . can be shipped more cheaply from your port than from almost any other port in the world."

Net Earnings Of Cominco Show Decline

TRAIL (CP) — Net earnings of Cominco Ltd. dropped to $49,200,000 during 1966 compared with $53,037,000 the previous year, company officials have revealed.

Officials at the giant Cominco smelter at this south central B.C. city released a preliminary and unaudited earnings statement prepared by W. S. Kirkpatrick of Montreal, chairman and chief executive officer.

The report said earnings per share dropped from $3.18 in 1965 to $2.95 last year.

Sales for 1966 totalled $224,600,000, up from $211,173,000 in 1965. Earnings were $83,600,000 compared with $87,767,000. Income from investments in 1966 amounted to $4,600,000 as against $6,861,000 the previous year.

Deductions included $15,700,000 for depreciation and depletion; $14,600,000 for income and mining taxes and $8,700,000 paid to minority shareholders of Pine Point Mines Ltd., of which Cominco is the majority shareholder.

COMMONS COMMITTEE TOLD

Banks Will Split Shares

OTTAWA (CP)—A rash of share-splitting by the chartered banks will occur this spring when the new Bank Act comes into force, the Commons finance committee was told Wednesday.

Splits have not been possible during the 13-year life of the present act.

Clayton Elderkin, recently-retired inspector-general of banks, said the banks will jump at a new freedom to change the par value of their shares.

The Bank of Montreal, whose shares are trading at slightly more than $60, has already announced its intentions of making a 5-for-1 split.

Canada's four other big banks, the Royal Bank of Canada, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Bank of Nova Scotia, and Toronto-Dominion Bank, are all well over $60 on the market.

The committee completed a first run through the 162 clauses of the new act Wednesday, approving most and leaving contentious areas for debate next Tuesday.

The government is intent on getting final Commons and Senate approval of the bill before the parliamentary adjournment March 10. The act is already three years overdue in its decennial revision.

Royal Trust Profits Show 17.2% Gain

MONTREAL (CP) — The Royal Trust Co. today reported net profit for 1966 of $3,814,000 or $6.03 a share, 17.2 per cent more than 1965 profits of $3,253,000 or $5.15 a share.

Conrad F. Harrington, president, said that on the basis of 1966 results, it was expected that regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents a share would be maintained during 1967, resulting in a payment of $3.15 on the 632,000 shares outstanding, compared with $2.75 a share in 1966.

Income totalled $55,524,000 compared with $43,496,000 in 1965, an increase of 28 per cent.

Assets of own and guaranteed funds accounts were $665,000,000, up $122,274,000 or 23 per cent, while total assets under Royal Trust's administration increased by $371,242,000 to a record high of $4,400,000,000.

The total of capital, reserve and retained earnings stands at $29,929,000, an increase of $1,382,000 over the previous year.

STOCK PROMOTER PAID $670,000

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Kaftel, an international stock promoter, received at least $670,000 from the late C. Powell Morgan to push shares of two Canadian companies in Europe, a royal commission hearing was told Wednesday.

Accountant Bertrand Wolfman said that Morgan, former president of Atlantic Acceptance Corp., made the payments to Kaftel for his part in promoting shares of Commodore Business Machines and Analogue Controls Ltd. in 1964 and early 1965.

Mr. Wolfman told the commission investigating the collapse of Atlantic in June, 1965, that he knew nothing of the eventual disposition of the money after it was paid to Kaftel.

He said he assumed the payments had been entirely for Kaftel's benefit.

Both stocks had sensational runs on Canadian stock exchanges about the time of Kaftel's promotion efforts. Most of the payments to Kaftel came from Morgan's brokerage or bank accounts but at least one came from the funds of Daylite Grand Bahama Ltd., a company financed by Atlantic.

'AW, C'MON, GIVE UP'

If you think professional wrestlers come out of high school you may be right . . . and you may be wrong. As these boys—Tom McKenzie on top, and Bruce Dixon—demonstrate they just don't have the full, rich grimaces needed for the pros. McKenzie is working on it, but he's got a ways to go. The boys were among 48 competing in the Toronto high school championships. (CP Wirephoto.)

WILT AND CUS

Two Believe Chamberlain Can Clip Clay

By MILTON RICHMAN

RHINEBECK, N.Y. (UPI)—There are two men absolutely convinced big Wilt Chamberlain can beat Cassius Clay for the heavyweight championship of the world.

The first man who is so sure is Chamberlain.

And the second one is a veteran manager, who already has had one heavyweight champ and now heads a camp for fighters here.

That manager, Cus D'Amato, feels so strongly that Chamberlain could beat Clay that he offers to teach him boxing for nothing more than his expenses.

"I'm completely confident Wilt Chamberlain can beat Clay and become champion if I handle him," declared D'Amato, under whom Floyd Patterson won the heavyweight title twice.

"Chamberlain won't do it in one fight, though. This man has to be taught. I think he learns quickly and he learns well. When I originally spoke to him about the idea, I got the impression he was greatly interested."

They Were Set To Slug It Out

The reason the subject of the 7-foot-2, 290-pound Chamberlain possibly leaving basketball for boxing comes up again now is because of a story kicking around that he and Clay practically were all set to slug it out for the title in the Houston Astrodome on June 29, but the champion's manager, Herbert Muhammad, vetoed the match.

Had the match been made, D'Amato would have been among those considered as a possible manager for Chamberlain, according to the story. That would have been rather nice because it was D'Amato's idea to get the big Philadelphia 76ers' centre interested in a boxing career in the first place two years ago.

"Ike Richman (now dead) owned the Philadelphia team then and also was Chamberlain's attorney," said D'Amato. "He listened to my idea and to what I had to say to Chamberlain and said he was very impressed.

"As a matter of fact, I remember him asking me, 'how would you like to manage my team?' I told them both what I thought Chamberlain could do and couldn't do in boxing. I explained it would be a mistake to exploit his size and reach only.

Being a Jockey Not in His Plans

"These are the areas some other people might depend upon to bring Chamberlain victory in the ring, but there's far more to it than that. Size doesn't mean that much in boxing. Look at such fellows as Primo Carnera and Jim Beattie to name only a couple. There was another seven-foot heavyweight a few years back and he didn't get too far, either."

Chamberlain, in his own mind, can do everything better than the next guy.

He lives in a Walter Mitty type world in which he would be the No. 1 ranking player if he went into tennis; the world's leading miler if he went in for running, and naturally the heavyweight king if he tried his hand at boxing.

The one thing Chamberlain doesn't talk about is becoming a jockey. That might be a little rough. On the horse, of course.

D'Amato remains a great believer in Chamberlain although he doesn't think Clay ever will meet him in the ring.

D'Amato Doesn't Lack Confidence

"They have criticized this man (Clay) so often, and in my opinion, so unjustly, that I don't think his handlers will risk his being criticized further by having him meet a man without any previous experience," said D'Amato.

"I honestly don't know if Chamberlain wants to fight Clay any longer. But if he ever does, I am certainly ready to handle him. That goes for now, next year or the year after. His age wouldn't be that much a factor.

"Apart from expenses, I wouldn't take a penny from him until he finally earned a stipulated sum. That's how much confidence I have in my ability to use his asset properly."

KNOCK FROM BIG BLOCK ASKS EX-ATHLETES IN

Victoria College sports letter winners, vintage 1939 on, are asked to step forward and declare themselves.

University of Victoria sports council is revitalizing the "Big Block" Club and wants to record the names of outstanding athletes in order to increase the tradition of the institution.

Records are complete from 1961 but prior to that official files are hard to find.

Former award winners are invited to a meeting in the SUB board room on the campus Friday, March 24, at 12:30 p.m.

'LOST THEIR GUTS'

Francis Frantic After Leaf Win

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs are on the move again and it doesn't look healthy for the rest of the National Hockey League.

The Leafs broke a 10-game losing streak Saturday night with a tie against Chicago Black Hawks. They beat Boston Bruins Sunday and extended their unbeaten streak to three games Wednesday night by humiliating New York Rangers 6-0 in the only scheduled NHL game.

Frank Mahovlich, Brian Conacher, George Armstrong, Jim Pappin, Allan Stanley and Larry Hillman scored the Toronto goals.

Everybody feasted on the Maple Leafs during the club's slump and in no time they found themselves in fifth place in the standings. But since coming alive, they have moved into undisputed possession of fourth place.

The Leafs have 47 points, two more than Detroit Red Wings and two fewer than Montreal Canadiens. The loss left the Rangers in second place with 54 points, 14 fewer than the league - leading Chicago Black Hawks.

BOWER STOPS 27

Veteran Johnny Bower kicked out 27 shots to register his second shutout of the season. He was particularly strong in the first period against Bob Nevin and a point-blank shot by Nevin in the third period.

The Leafs took 37 shots at the New York nets. Ed Giacomin played the first two periods and stopped 17 shots. Cesare Maniago handled 14 shots in the third period.

Emile Francis, coach and general manager of the Rangers, was unhappy with his club's effort.

'WHERE'S THEIR PRIDE?'

"Actually, there's nothing wrong with my team, except they've lost their guts. I can't understand it. Where's their pride?

"They took one lousy penalty. That showed they weren't even mad. Toronto did everything to them and they didn't even try to get even," Francis said.

He planned a stiff workout for the Rangers today.

"I don't know what I'm going to do exactly. But when I get through with them, they'll be ready to play."

In tonight's game, last-place Boston Bruins meet the Canadiens in Montreal and the high-flying Black Hawks visit the Red Wings.

B.C.'s Gerace Hoops It Up —For Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—A touch of international class has been added to the first Canadian Winter Games by a brace of champions well known for their prowess in track and field competitions.

Marjorie Turner of Winnipeg, championship sprinter formerly of Lockport, N.S., and Diane Gerace, the high-jump champion from Trail, B.C., who now works as a hostess for Expo 67, are playing a large part in the success of the basketball teams of their adopted provinces.

Miss Turner scored 18 points Wednesday as Manitoba beat Saskatchewan 61 - 53. Miss Gerace was instrumental in Quebec's 58-50 victory over Alberta in the women's championship round, scoring 11 points.

In men's championship-round play, Nova Scotia staged a last-minute drive to beat Sarnia Knights of Ontario 57-56 in one squeaker while Ray Mischook scored 31 points to lead Montreal Orchids to a 95-92 win over University of Alberta Dinosaurs.

While basketball was drawing the crowds, badminton rounds continued, with British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec each losing eighth-round matches to break their previously unbeaten string.

TAKES LEAD

Quebec emerged as the first-round leader in the two-day rifle shoot and curling and hockey progressed in round-robin series.

Competition has ended in several sports and champions have been declared in gymnastics, synchronized swimming, speed-skating and table tennis,

Added to today's action will be competitions in skiing. Volley-ball and wrestling get under way Friday and figure-skating Saturday.

B.C. THIRD

On the basis of official standings, which give points for all entrants in each event, the provinces lined up this way:

Quebec 35, Ontario 33, B.C. 26, Alberta and Manitoba 25, Saskatchewan 23, Nova Scotia 11, Newfoundland 9, New Brunswick 8, Northwest Territories 4, Prince Edward Island 3.

Under the official scoring system, if a total of 10 provinces and territories take part in a sport the champion emerges with 10 points, the second - place team with nine, right down to one point for the last - place team. If only five teams are entered in a particular sport, the top team gets five points and the others graduate down to one.

McLEAN SPARKLES

Here's how B.C. athletes and teams fared:

Sparked by Al McLean's three goals, B.C. handed Ontario its first defeat, 6-2, and moved into first place in the B section with Ontario, Newfoundland and Saskatchewan. Tom Koretchuk, Glen Richards and Ronald Morris also scored for B.C.

In curling, B.C. brought its record to 3-3 by defeating Prince Edward Island 10-6.

In men's basketball, B.C. defeated P.E.I. 103-49 in consolation play. In women's basketball, B.C. won twice, putting down Ontario 55-43 and Manitoba 44-26 with Pauline Gensick, Barbara Robertson and Shelagh Farrell leading the way.

B.C. took it's first loss in badminton when George Brown went down 15-4, 15-8 to Quebec's Yves Pare in a men's singles match. B.C. is tied with Ontario for first place as the competition moves into the ninth round.

In shooting, B.C. is in third place, one point behind Alberta and nine behind Quebec after the first-round of the two-day rifle competition.

'THEY'RE TIRED'

Ski Team Should Be In School

TORONTO (CP) — Members of Canada's national ski team should be in school when they're not competing, instead of trying to raise money to keep the team going, says an official of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association.

Goodwin Gibson, chairman of the CASA's Ontario fund-raising campaign, says the team "is taking part in too many extra-curricular activities and as a result is physically and emotionally tired."

Paul Serhenick, CASA publicity director, says the team is in trouble unless the public offers more support.

"Most certainly unless more money comes into the ski association in the near future the CASA will have to take a further look at plans for the 1968 Winter Olympics."

Gibson also called for donations, saying "with a goal of $52,000 in southern Ontario, only $17,000 has been raised by public subscription."

'Flu May Keep Nancy Off Skis

TORONTO (CP) — Nancy Green of Rossland, B.C., is suffering from a slight attack of the flu and may not compete this weekend in the U.S. national ski competition at Spokane, Wash.

In an interview at the airport Tuesday, Miss Green, currently in third place in the World Cup race, said if she shakes her illness she will compete in the Canadian championships March 4-5 at Rossland.

FIVE ON BENCH?

Injuries Hit Wallabies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Australia's touring Wallabies, weakened by injuries and illness, went through a light workout Wednesday in preparation for today's rugger match with the University of B.C. Thunderbirds.

Team manager Bill McLaughlin said following the practice that three regulars who will sit out the UBC game will be back in the Wallaby lineup for Saturday's encounter with the B.C. Reps.

Those who will not dress against UBC are scrum-half Ken Catchpole, standoff Phil Hawthorne and winger Stewart Boyce.

Thursday's game will be the 100th that prop-forward Tony Miller, 37, has played for the Aussies.

Two other players have the flu and are doubtful starters for the UBC tilt.

John Hipwell, the youngest Wallaby at 18, has recovered from a broken leg suffered earlier in the tour and will play against UBC.

Wallabies leave here Sunday, returning home via San Francisco from a gruelling five-month tour of the British Isles and France.

Leafs Cash in For 4-1 Victory Over Oakland

OAKLAND—There's no place like home, it has often been said, but there are some who can find their greatest happiness on the road.

Victoria Maple Leafs have their share of happy travellers, as witnessed during Wednesday's 4-1 Western Hockey League conquest of Oakland Seals.

The road-runners of the Leafs are Rollie Wilcox, Mike Labadie and, to a lesser degree, Bruce Carmichael.

HOPES REVIVED

They scored the goals that snapped a five-game Victoria losing streak and revived Maple Leafs' hopes of making it to the playoff parade.

Wilcox, who enjoys his greatest success away from home, started it off with his 14th goal of the season. Of the 14 scoring shots, 11 have been scored in games away from Victoria.

Labadie, who has been coming on strong for coach Frank Mario in recent games, popped in an important insurance goal in the third period. Although only his seventh goal of the season, it was Labadie's third in his last four games.

Four of Labadies' seven have been scored on the road.

BRUCE CHANGING

Carmichael tends to be a homer, but two goals — including the winner — started to rectify that Wednesday.

The goals gave Carmichael a total of 24 for the season — four more than he counted in the entire campaign with Vancouver Canucks last season. Ten of the 24 are road goals.

Leafs, now only two points behind fifth-place Los Angeles and five behind Oakland, hitched up their defensive belts and came up with a solid two-way game. Goaltender Al Smith, particularly brilliant in the last two periods when he made a number of key saves, missed his fifth shutout when Charlie Burns banged in Seals' only goal with less than nine minutes remaining in the game.

By that time, the road-runners had built up a 4-0 cushion.

Victoria's penalty-killers also came to the fore. Leafs drew five of the game's eight penalties, but rode out each with comparative ease.

Leafs wrap up their road series with another game here Friday night.

Ladies Work To Win

Carol Meija and Lorna McLean must be exhausted today. Happy, though.

They had to go through six marathon games Wednesday before advancing in the ladies' doubles of the Island Open badminton championships at Cordova Bay Hall.

The winners were pushed all the way in getting past Yvonne Grant and Barbara Ford, 15-10, 13-15, 15-11.

Then Doris Frieson and Jean Dewey came along and made it even tougher before bowing 15-11, 13-15, 15-13.

In men's B singles, Paul O'Connor went into overtime to defeat Don Sluggett 17-14, 17-15.

Ron Brousseau took Dave Halme 15-10, 15-5 and Darryl Bissel disposed of Ray St. Denis 15-3, 15-10 in other singles matches.

Tonight's draw:

7:30—Bob Currie, Lorne McLean vs. John Meija, Russ Atkinson; Jean Wescott, Ken Kent vs. Ann Currie, Jim Massie.

8:00—Bob Lewis, John Dewey vs. Jack Lequesne, Lloyd Park; Don Sluggett, Mike Woods vs. Reg. Hoadley, Doug Boniface.

'Twas Long Wait For St. Patrick's

St. Patrick's midget girls' basketball team has reason to celebrate today.

They defeated Metropolitan 18-11 Wednesday, their first success against the Mets in two years.

In a pre-midget game First United Aces trumped Metropolitan 27-11.

Hosts Go for Broke

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Mexico will compete in all 19 events at the Pan American Games in Winnipeg, July 23-Aug. 6, Jose Saenz, president of the Olympic Committee, said Wednesday.

Ferguson Suspended For Striking Linesman

MONTREAL (CP)—John Ferguson of Montreal Canadiens was suspended Wednesday for three games for striking linesman Brent Casselman during a game in Chicago Feb. 8.

The announcement was made following a hearing at National Hockey League headquarters attended by Ferguson, defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot of the Canadiens, Frank Udvari, supervisor of officials, and Casselman.

The incident occurred in the third period as several players from both the Canadiens and Chicago Black Hawks fought for possession of the puck along the boards in front of the Chicago players' bench.

SOME EXPLANATION

The NHL announcement said Casselman jumped on top of the boards to avoid being involved in the jostling and was pushed into the laps of Chicago players. Ferguson, who was leaning over the boards in front of Casselman, punched him on the side of the face with his free gloved hand and skated away into the play.

Ferguson admitted the action and had no explanation for it except that someone was holding his other arm and that he was just trying to free himself.

Ferguson was not given any additional suspension or fine for his action in a game in Detroit Feb. 5 against the Red Wings in which he was given a minor, a major, a misconduct and a game misconduct following a highsticking duel and fight with defenceman Gary Bergman of Detroit.

However, Talbot was fined $100 in addition to the automatic $75 fines for his part in the same incident. He was given a misconduct and a game misconduct for using abusive language to referee John Ashley after leaving the players' bench.

Baseball Leafs Seek Tax Break

TORONTO (CP)—A request by Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League to have the baseball club's 1965 tax bill of $28,000 cancelled will be dealt with by Toronto's board of control next Wednesday.

Waiving the outstanding bill would allow the Leafs to compete this year.

The city has waived the 1966 tax bill.

VIKING VIEWS

By MIKE WOODLEY

For ages, "It's a long way to Tipperary" has been a phrase near and dear to every staunch old Irishman's heart. This year, Canada's Centennial, "It's a long way to Quebec City" was a phrase near and dear to every staunch young Canadian athlete's heart.

In the past, travel to these two distant spots has been difficult, expensive and time-consuming. But with today's giant jets soaring daily across continent and ocean, both are within easy reach.

Inside of 12 hours, the transplanted Irishman can set down in his homeland, while a young Canadian athlete from the West Coast, within five hours of any major city in the nation, can set foot upon the historied streets and lanes of Quebec City.

Six athletes and one coach from the University of Victoria did not go to Ireland, but they are in Quebec, the site of Canada's first Winter Games.

* * *

The six are Derek Reimer, Meredith Spike, Jim Vosburgh, Bob Ireland, John Phillips and Ann Jeffrey. The coach is Don Smyth, Mr. Volleyball on the Pacific Coast.

They're in Quebec as representatives of the province of B.C. and not the University of Victoria, however, as the volleyball section of the games is a provincial affair with all 10 sending teams.

The five men will be joined by one other Victorian — Bobby Graves — six UBC students on the B.C. team, under the tutelage of Smyth.

Miss Jeffrey joined Victorian Wendy Aaronson and 10 mainlanders for the journey and the 20-game round-robin competition which takes place Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

This Quebec City jaunt is only the first step on the road leading, hopefully, to the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg in August. No sooner do Uvic's athletes de-plane from this junior age-limit tournament than four of them are off again in mid-March for the Canadian men's open championships in Montreal.

* * *

Reimer, Phillips, Vosburgh and Ireland have been working hard for the past several winters in preparation for the upcoming tests. How well they perform so far away from home will determine whether or not they will be chosen for the Canadian team.

Their chances are good. They have prepared long and hard. They're dedicated, have had top coaching from Smyth — both at Victoria High School and at Uvic. Their goal — the honor of playing for their country — is one to fire any athlete to excellence.

They'll be a long way from home, but they know that this is what they've been waiting for so long. When the coin has been tossed and the referee shouts "Jouer," they'll be ready.

The basketball Vikettes earned a trip to Edmonton in early March by edging past Salmon Arm in the provincial tournament held at Uvic last weekend. Jean Robertson, unanimous choice at all-star guard in last year's Canadian finals, came through in the clutch for Uvic, sinking a 25-footer with only seconds remaining to give Vikettes victory, 49-48.

* * *

Miss Robertson, normally Vikettes' top scorer, was held to only seven points in the first two games, but dunked 11, including the crucial winner, in the final to more than redeem herself.

An interested spectator at the thrilling finale was university president Dr. Malcolm Taylor. Dr. Taylor, who in the past has enjoyed many Friday night Viking hockey games, has this year been unable to attend as often as he would like, but Saturday he made a point of getting away to watch the basketball and was seated amid under-graduates and parents to cheer the Vikettes to their spine-tingling triumph.

Coming up in the near future, Tuesday at 12:30 to be precise, is one of the big athletic events of the year on campus. The occasion is the annual battle-royal between the Vikings rugby and soccer teams for possession of that most-prized trophy, Stanley's Cup. This cup, a suitably engraved "thunder-mug" or child's "pottie," is awarded annually to the team which can score the most goals on their opponents in a soccer match. The only catch is that the game, staged on the soccer pitch and using soccer rules, is played with a rugby ball.

The rugby Vikings are outt his year to regain the cup which they lost in last season's match. According to Mike Hutchinson, Mr. Rugby on campus, they have an excellent chance with former soccer stars Bill Mundie and Dan Evans in their lineup.

'To Play Overtime Or Not to Play...'

They have played 54 games in the Inter-High School Rugby League, but the 55th may be the most important of the season.

Mount View and Victoria will play it next week. On the outcome hinges the third and final playoff berth.

Both teams won Wednesday, Mount View defeating Claremont 6-3 in overtime and Victoria blasting Oak Bay 16-5.

Whether Mount View's win will be accredited remains in the hands of league officials. Normally, overtime is not played in league games. Wednesday the teams were tied 3-3 in regulation time but played on with Mount View winning.

Both Mount View and Victoria are tied for third place with nine points.

Victoria's heavier scrum had a relatively easy time against the Bays, getting trys from Brian Robinson, Harry Ruitenbeck, Tom Walton and Gary Coy. Walton and Lorne Hamilton added converts. Oak Bay's points came on a try by Ken Sutton converted by Gerry Horne.

George Hall and Bob Holden scored trys for Mount View; Danny Coleman got one for Claremont.

Pro Football Coaches Pack, Shuffle, Sign...

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Giants think they have solved some of their problems by hiring Harland Svare as an assistant coach in charge of defence but they still are not ready to make the big announcement about a quarterback.

Things have reached the stage where the Giants' hired hands thumb the papers each morning to read the latest names who have been tossed into the rumor mill.

Despite strong reports that either John Brodie of San Francisco '49ers or Francis Tarkenton, late of Minnesota Vikings, are headed toward Yankee Stadium, the Giants insist no decision has been reached.

THEY HAVE CHOICE

The club gets the No. 1 college quarterback if it wants it. Allie Sherman, the head coach, said Wednesday he understood the Giants could take their pick and draft first or let New Orleans go first and then draft second.

If they pass up their special quarterback selection, they can hold it for another year. Of course, they also can trade.

"We have explored the college picture," said Sherman. He mentioned Steve Spurrier of Florida, Bob Griese of Purdue and Don Horn of Los Angeles State but wouldn't hint which he preferred.

IVY HUNG OUT

The Giants shook up the coaching staff Wednesday by shifting assistants Pop Ivy, Tom Scott and Harry Wright to scouting and personnel work.

According to Sherman, Ivy preferred to spend some months at home in Oklahoma, Wright had other business interests and Scott had a flourishing insurance business.

Ivy is a onetime coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League.

The Giants weren't the only NFL club to revamp its coaching staff.

Harry Gilmer, recently dropped as boss of Detroit Lions, was named the backfield coach for St. Louis Cardinals.

Other changes involved Tommy McCormick, who quit Minnesota Vikings a week ago and now is in charge of the backs at Green Bay, and Bill Crutchifield, who left Florida State to become director of offence for Atlanta Falcons.

Busy Summer In Store for Tennis-Minded

Tennis instruction will be provided for more than 1,000 Greater Victoria school children this summer by the city of Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich.

Six weeks of training will be offered for boys and girls 11 to 18 by coaches Gordon Hartley and Howie Tooby.

The tutoring will be climaxed with the Greater Victoria championship tournament in mid-August.

The program runs from July 3 to Aug. 11.

Colts' Official Dies on Court

BALTIMORE (AP)—Joe Campanella, 36, general manager and vice-president of Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, died Wednesday in hospital.

Authorities said Campanella was playing handball with Colts' coach Don Shula when he collapsed.

FOUR YEARS EARLY

Pension Increase A Step to Parity

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—American Football League owners voted Wednesday to contribute $1,250,000 to player pensions, putting its own plan on a parity with that of the National Football League and possibly speeding the merger of the two conferences.

The action, taken four years ahead of schedule, could bring inter-league trading sooner than the present 1970 target date, AFL president Milt Woodard told a news conference.

Besides the initial contribution the nine club owners voted unanimously to put $300,000 a year into the fund.

Five-year players now will receive a minimum of $437 a month at age 65, the same as the NFL payment. The pension will be $656 for 10-year men and $821 for 15-year veterans.

MAY BE BETTER

"These are guaranteed minimums, based on conservative, growth estimates of the fund," Woodard said. "The payments could be much higher and probably will be."

The difference in retirement benefits paid by the two leagues was one of the principal stumbling blocks against trading between the two leagues. The players wanted a synchronized plan.

"I can't say for sure," Woodard said, "but this may make possible a completion of the merger sooner than expected. This was one of the big things that had to be settled."

Under the old AFL plan, a five-year player received a pension of less than $100. The new plan gives players credit for years that have been played since 1960.

Sorry, No Mecca U.S. Tells Clay

BEIRUT (AP)—The American government has forbidden world heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay from making a pilgrimmage to Mecca, the newspaper Al Anwar reported today.

It said Clay, in a telephone conversation from Texas with a Saudi Arabian Prince, apologized for not being able to accept the latter's invitation.

The reason for the reported ban on Clay's travel was not given by Al Anwar. It presumably is connected with Clay's draft status.

'Ottawa Pulled The Rug Out'

Province Whipping Boy On Education—Peterson

By GLEN ALLEN

Minister of Education Leslie Peterson, whose department spends more than one-quarter of the provincial budget, Wednesday charged the federal government with sabotaging cost-sharing arrangements.

In his budget debate address, he said Ottawa is withdrawing from the conventional fields of education.

He charged that in university financing the federal government has made "whipping boys" of the province.

He said it is a "gun-at-head" proposition by the federal government.

FORCED ACTION

"In other words," he said, "should it be necessary for the provincial government to impose increased taxation for university funds, the federal government is prepared to do likewise, but Ottawa will take the stand that federal taxation is being increased only because the province has forced such action.

"On the other hand, if the province struggles to finance university costs without increasing taxation the federal government can easily take the stand that if the province would only provide more money they would do likewise.

"So, whichever way the province moves on university financing, we are the 'whipping boys'."

PULLS OUT RUG

The minister also charged Ottawa with "pulling the rug out from under our feet" in the financing of vocational schools.

Terming the late Technical and Vocational Training Agreement "one of the best cost-sharing programs ever advanced by any federal government anywhere," he said, "we mourn its passing."

BRIGHT JEWEL

"For this bright jewel in Canada's crown to be abandoned in this, our Centennial Year, is a great tragedy."

He said the new vocational school cost-sharing formula can only lead to a greater distortion of the educational system.

Mr. Peterson said what he had hoped Ottawa would do would be to extend the vocational school plan—a per-capita grant arrangement—to universities.

EXPENDITURES

The costs of higher education in the 1967 budget would be increased by more than $23 million over last year's costs.

"Nevertheless," he said, "our expenditures must be judged in the light of other indispensable expenditures.

"I do not appreciate being the target of what sometimes seems to be a massive pressure play on the part of the universities."

NEW CLASSROOMS

Speaking of primary and secondary education Mr. Peterson told the house 1,151 new classrooms were authorized during 1966, "more than ever before in our history."

He said public schools had a population this year of 440,000, as compared to 183,000 in 1951 52.

The government spent $46 million in school building construction last year, he said, an increase of 176 per cent over four years.

BOND ISSUE

Referring to the $25 million bond issue announced Monday he said it meant a green light for further construction this year.

Mr. Peterson also said that less than half the classrooms in the province had more than 35 pupils.

AMENDMENT

And he said: "It is my intention to introduce at this session an amendment to the Public Schools Act which will reduce the maximum ratio in this category (pupil-to-teacher ratio) to 36-to-1 from 37-to-1.

The provincial grants to school districts, at $101 million, he said, were an increase of 17.5 per cent over last year.

Meetings Calendar

Pacific Meridian Toastmasters Club, Monday, 12:10 p.m. at the Colonial Inn.

Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society, Tuesday, 8 p.m. at the Art Gallery, 1040 Moss.

Willows PTA, Tuesday, 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. Speaker: grade seven student at Willows, on the 1966 Children's International Summer Village at Oslo, Norway, with slides.

Douglas Rotary Club, Monday, 6 p.m. at the Red Lion Inn. Speaker: John Erb, director of civil defence for B.C.

Pioneer Club of the North American Benefit Association, Review No. 1, Friday at 2:30 p.m., home of Mrs. A. R. Reech, 3745 Blenkinsop Rd. Take Maplewood and Cook bus at Rose's Jewellers.

Women's Auxiliary to Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, Wednesday at 2 p.m., Red Cross House, 1046 Fort St.

End Seen To School Crowding

Education Minister Leslie Peterson admitted to the House Wednesday that there are "still swingshifts and crowded classrooms" in B.C. schools.

But he predicted the end to the problem, at least for the elementary schools, is less than three years off.

"We estimate that the total elementary school population, kindergarten to Grade 7, will reach its peak of about 320,000 in the 1969-70 school year."

He also said it may drop slowly thereafter for the next few years.

He told the House he based his predictions on the number of births (plus immigraion), noting a decrease in birth rate over six years of about 30 per cent.

Adult Education Grows Quickly Across Province

According to Education Minister Leslie Peterson, mother and dad, like their children, will soon be taking up their book satchels and heading for the little red schoolhouse.

Education was once considered a terminal thing, the minister told the house Wednesday.

"It is now a life-long process."

Mr. Peterson said 80 of the 85 school districts in the province are involved in adult education in varying degrees.

He cited one school in Coquitlam with 1,700 adult registrations in credit and non-credit courses.

He said 150,000 adults were in schools in the province this year.

VANCOUVER BOOM

The Vancouver school board alone, he said, has 24 night school centres and offers more than 450 courses.

He also noted that nearly half of the department's correspondence branch students were over 19 years of age.

Irish Tickets Seized

MONTREAL (CP) — City police have seized 29,400 Irish sweepstake tickets with a sale value of $102,900 and have arrested a man they called a major distributor of the illegal lottery tickets.

There are very few things left for the men in this world.

This smooth dark rum is one of them.

FIRE SIRENS won't mean the same to Fire Chief James B. Allan in future. But after 37 years in the Victoria Fire Department the betting is that it will be a long time before he stops reacting automatically to the wail of a speeding fire truck. Wednesday afternoon Mayor Hugh Stephen praised the retiring chief for his outstanding service to the community and presented him with an aluminum plaque to mark the veteran firefighter's step-down from office. Present for the occasion were Mrs. Allan, Ald. Percy Frampton, chairman of the fire wardens committee, and newly appointed Deputy Chief R. J. Coates. (Robin Clarke photo.)

ESSENTIAL CONSTRUCTION RESUMES

Schools Get Money Now

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. School Trustees Association was told Wednesday that release of $17,000,000 for school construction by the provincial government will mean resumption of most essential school construction.

Frank Beinder, of Trail, president of the BCSTA said at a press conference that Premier Bennett and Education Minister Peterson assured him in Victoria Tuesday the money would be forthcoming immediately from cash resources.

"The release of the money won't eliminate school swing shifts entirely," Mr. Beinder said. "But planning ahead for new rooms needed for the 1967-68 school year now is possible."

The premier and Mr. Peterson stressed the money would be used for essential construction only and not for gymnasiums and activity rooms, Mr. Beinder said.

HUGE FIRE destroyed wharf and two oil barges Tuesday at Columbia Cellulose plant near Prince Rupert. Damage has been placed at $1 million. Firefighters used dynamite to destroy portion of wharf and prevent flames from reaching chlorine tanks. (CP Wirephoto.)

COLUMBIA OFFICIAL

Gas Warning Was Premature

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—An official of Columbia Cellulose Ltd. says evacuation warnings broadcast at this northern coastal city during a dock fire and chlorine gas scare Tuesday were premature.

D. W. Peate, manager of the $100,000,000 Columbia Cellulose pulp mill production plant on Watson Island, 12 miles southwest of here, said Wednesday there was no real danger to the city's 15,000 inhabitants at any time.

He was commenting on a $1,000,000 fire that destroyed a 3,700-foot dock at the plant and for a time threatened to spread to three huge chlorine tanks at the company's plant site.

Firemen blasted 1,000 feet of wharf into the sea to keep the flames from reaching the chlorine, which would have emitted a deadly cloud of gas, had the tanks exploded. Twenty cases of dynamite were used.

RCMP used television and radio facilities to alert this city and the small company town of Port Edward on Watson Island to the possibility of a major evacuation.

An RCMP spokesman said he throught the evacuation alert was justified due to the severity of the fire and the possibility of a chlorine explosion.

Fire Chief Willis Hill of Prince Rupert disagreed.

"I tried to stop it," he said. "I couldn't see any reason to alert the people of Prince Rupert. It was soon clear there was no danger from the chlorine tanks."

The plant was not damaged and production of pulp is continuing.

Company officials are investigating other means of loading the deepsea freighters that called regularly at Watson Island and it was believed they would utilize port facilities at Prince Rupert temporarily.

Ferries connect this city with the island.

Canada Gets Tasteless New Stamp

A special 5-cent stamp was issued by the Canada Post Office last month to commemorate Canada's Centenary.

Designed by Brigdens Limited, Toronto, the stamp features Canada's red-and-white flag atop a globe on which Canada is prominently shown in blue. In matching blue is the Centennial symbol in the lower right of the stamp.

This new stamp employs a new tasteless and non-sticking gummed paper bearing the trade name "Davac." Davac paper is manufactured by Nashua Canada Limited in Peterborough, Ont.

The paper was chosen by the Post Office Department because of its adhesive qualities and non-curling feature. Conventional adhesives, applied in a solid coat, have a tendency to curl the paper under humidity changes.

The adhesive paper was successfully tested by the Post Office Department for the Highway Safety Stamp issue last May.

The Centennial commemorative 5-cent stamp will remain on sale throughout most of 1967.

FORMER president of the Quebec Provincial Police Association, Arthur Vachon, 27, says he is a member of the Communist Party.

DOG BLAMED FOR FATAL CAR CRASH

HAMILTON (CP) — A coroner's jury Wednesday blamed a fatal accident on a dog.

The jury found that Gary Grant Kiernan, 25, of nearby Grassie, Ont., died Oct. 29 because his dog jumped into the front seat of a car causing the driver to lose control.

Kiernan, a passenger in a car driven by Rolf Johannesen, 25, of Hamilton, died in hospital from multiple chest and head injuries.

The jury recommended a change in the Highway Traffic Act to prohibit animals in cars unless they are tied.

OIL LIES UNDER SEA

An estimated 18,000 million barrels of oil lies under the Gulf of Mexico.

Fire Sweeps Stores

LEAMINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Fire swept through four stores early today at the main intersection of this Lake Erie town 44 miles southeast of Windsor. Eight fire trucks from four communities — Wheatley, Kingsville, Tilbury and Leamington — batted the blaze in freezing temperatures for 1½ hours before bringing it under control. No injuries were reported.

55,000 Non-Ops Ratify Pact With Railways

MONTREAL (CP) — Seven unions representing 55,000 non-operating railway employees Wednesday announced ratification of a contract agreement providing a wage increase of 24 per cent over three years.

The agreement, biggest wage package ever negotiated with Canada's railways, was worked out in December under mediator H. Carl Goldenberg. It followed a national railway strike by 120,000 employees last summer.

The seven unions, who negotiate in a group known as the residual non-ops, ratified the agreement by a vote of 19,042 to 8,452. The union members include freight handlers, porters, telegraphers and signalmen.

The agreement was approved in January by the 20,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, but was rejected by two other union groups involving 45,000 railway workers.

The two groups which will proceed to compulsory arbitration under terms of strike-ending parliamentary legislation are the 20,000-member Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, transport and General Workers and the 25,000 - member shop craft organizations.

Mr. Goldenberg said in a statement Wednesday that these two major union groups still had time to reconsider before compulsory arbitration begins. He said they would "do well to follow in their own best interests."

The agreement, which runs from Jan. 1, 1966, to Dec. 31, 1968, adds six per cent in the final year to the 18-per-cent increase over two years awarded in legislation passed by Parliament Sept. 1.

The average wage in the contract that expired Dec. 31, 1965, was $2.20 and the new average, as of Jan. 1, 1968, would be $2.72 an hour.

'Fair' Laws Not Helping Older Worker

Discrimination in hiring is carried out despite the Fair Employment Practices Act, the Victoria Labour Council was told Wednesday night.

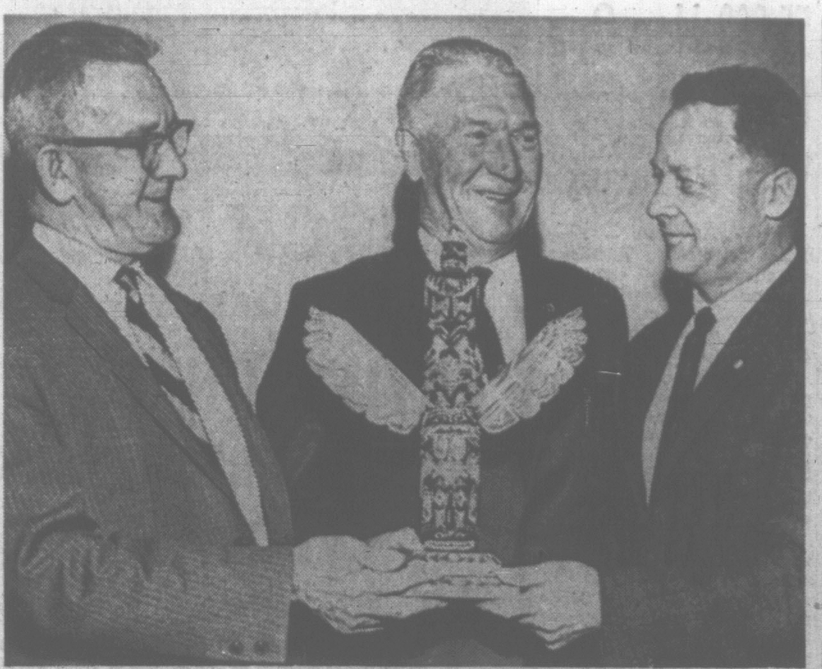
Jack Chapman of the International Typographical Union said one of the questions which is always asked of job seekers is age.

While the discrimination can be eliminated from advertisements it is "naive to think you can do it at the employment level.

"Anyeon over 45 who has applied for a job can bear it out."

Another delegate, John Nicol of the Retail Food and Drug Clerks Union, complimented the labor department on its warning to newspapers and advertisers to eliminate job advertisements which contravene the act.

"I am very pleased to see the department take action on it," he said. "I hope the warning will stop this in future."



LONG SERVICE to the Victoria Labour Council by Robert Barrie (centre) was marked Wednesday night when he was given a specially-engraved desk totem pole carved by local Indian Raymond Williams. Mr. Barrie was president of the council for 10 years, stepping down last month, and has been president of his union for 22 years. He is a member of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union. With him are Bill Gauld (left), a Canadian Labour Congress representative from Vancouver, and new council president Jack Groves.

DISTRICT APPROACH

Stephen Praises Hospital Plan

Mayor Hugh Stephen said Wednesday that he was generally pleased with Premier W. A. C. Bennett's announcement that hospital districts would soon be created in B.C.

"Although the proposal does not substantially alter the existing formula it will give the districts easier borrowing power without diluting the borrowing ability of individual municipalities," he said.

Mayor Stephen said he still felt that the municipal share of hospital construction — 36 per cent under the regional formula, 40 per cent under the existing formula — was too high.

"But," he said, "under the new proposal the district would be able to issue debentures to finance $9 million for construction which would mean that for two mills we could raise $18 million over a period of years without hurting our borrowing power for other projects."

Mayor Stephen has long been an advocate of regional hospital program and has stated publicly on several occasions that such a move would solve many existing problems.

GOVERNMENT SUBSIDY SUGGESTED

Home Starts Down as Price Goes Up

By ROGER STONEBANKS
Times Labor Reporter

It is "almost impossible" for persons earning $400 to $500 a month to own a house, the Victoria Labour Council was told Wednesday night.

"Even with $600 to $700 a month people are finding it difficult," said Chris Dowling, local manager of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, a Crown agency.

He was speaking of the current crisis in housing accommodation in Canada.

He said there were 135,000 housing starts in the country last year — 32,000 less than the previous year.

The need is for 170,000 starts a year and this will increase to 200,000 and more within five years.

"Even booming B.C. has not escaped," he said, with housing starts down 17 per cent, most in Vancouver. In Greater Victoria, there was actually a fractional rise.

LAND COSTS

Because repayment is "so heavy" for people earning $400 to $500 a month, consideration would have to be given to housing that could be rented at, say, 20 per cent of his wage.

Land costs were "rocketing" with a 50-by-100-foot lot in Toronto selling for $8,000 to $10,000.

"One suggestion by the Ontario Housing Authority is to buy enough land around the major cities to be adequate for housing for the next 10 years," he said.

The land would be bought by the federal and provincial governments and sold at cost.

"We could do this in B.C. — we have done it in Duncan," he said. "Lots sold around $2,000 each, fully serviced."

He outlined the mechanics of the National Housing Act, which CMHC operates, including the point that housing is a municipal and provincial responsibility under the constitution, the federal government acting only when called upon.

Labor council delegates, in a discussion later, agreed to contact the Canadian Labour Congress to ask the federal government to remove the 11 per cent sales tax on building materials.

MATERIALS

Secretary Larry Ryan said 75 per cent of the cost of a home is in materials and 25 per cent in labor. He called the sales tax "iniquitous."

In other business, the council:

- Heard that the organization committee is contacting all affiliated unions to get more of them to send delegates;
- Approved "greater efforts" by everyone to control pollution wherever it emanates.

Shoplifter Given Chance

A man who stole an electric razor from Woodward's Store Feb. 2 was given "one more chance" and fined $100 Wednesday in central court.

Magistrate William Ostler told John Glazier, 143 Lurline, he might well be sent to jail but imposed the fine on consulting with the prosecutor.

Patricia Meikle, 423 Quebec, was remanded in custody to Feb. 22 for a pre-sentence report after pleading guilty to stealing $8.49 in groceries from the T. Eaton Co. Tuesday.

Court was told the woman had $35.98 in her possession when arrested.

A youth who siphoned five gallons of gasoline from a parked truck was fined $75 and given a stern warning by the magistrate.

"Unless you are very careful you will end up in prison," Magistrate Ostler told Alfred Perri, 524 Ellice, charged with theft under $50.

British Case Said Demolished By Trade Board Chief's Talk

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson's trade chief warned Wednesday night of adverse economic effects if Britain enters the European Common Market, causing a stir during Wilson's visit to Bonn to seek more West German support for Britain's candidacy.

One member of Wilson's Labor party said Douglas Jay, president of the government board of trade, "completely demolished the case for going into the Common Market" in a talk to a closed meeting of Labor members of Parliament.

Asked for comment on Jay's statements, Wilson told a reporter in Bonn he could "safely leave the conduct of the British government to me." He added that his statement Nov. 10 expressing Britain's desire to join the Common Market was made on behalf of the whole British government.

Wilson, completing two days of discussions with Chancellor Kurt Kiesinger, said he found the West German government's position completely in agreement with its public statements supporting Britain's entry into the six-nation economic group. But he refused to say whether his visit had encouraged or discouraged him.

To observers, it appeared he had made little if any progress toward getting increased backing.

Kiesinger indicated he wants Britain in the Common Market but not enough to get into a dispute with French President de Gaulle, who has opposed British membership.

PREDICTS CRISES

Jay was reported to have predicted British entry into the European trading bloc would result in repeated economic crises. He was said to have told the meeting acceptance of the market's agricultural policies would cost the British balance of payments between £100,000,000 ($300,000,000) and £175,000,000 a year.

Jay was reported to have said the cost of living would rise four per cent after Britain entered the market. Wilson has said the rise would be 2½ to 3½ per cent.

Several other government officials have expressed doubts about joining the market, and Emanuel Shinwell, chairman of Labor MPs, is leading an open battle against it.

One diplomat pointed out that Wilson will not complete his visits to European capitals until March 8 and said: "You mustn't applaud or hiss between the movements of a symphony."

RHODESIAN REBEL TASTES VOTE DEFEAT

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — Government candidate Wallace Stuttaford threw down a challenge from an independent candidate and convincingly won the first byelection in Rhodesia since independence Wednesday.

Stuttaford, nominated by the ruling Rhodesian Front party, defeated independent Gerbert Moresby-White by 1,127 votes to 61.

Moresby-White, a cattle rancher, also is a member of the Rhodesian Front but has advocated a more right-wing policy for the government. His vote was watched as an indication of support for the rebel right-wing element in the party.

QOR Return On Weekend From Alberta

The First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, will return to Work Point Barracks this weekend after winter exercises at Camp Wainwright, Alta.

The battalion will fly to Victoria International Airport in an around-the-clock air movement on RCAF Hercules aircraft from 435 Squadron, Namao, near Edmonton.

The four aircraft will fly a shuttle service between Namao and Victoria, each carrying 26,000 pounds of equipment, vehicles and personnel.

The first flight is scheduled to land at the airport at 10 a.m. Friday and the last at 6 a.m. Saturday.

"We advise wives, families and friends to meet the soldiers at Work Point, not at the airport," a battalion spokesman said. "The soldiers will board buses immediately they disembark from the aircraft."

ERA of former prime minister Mackenzie King will be subject of talk by federal Transport Minister Pickersgill, 61, 3:30 p.m. Friday in Education-Arts Building of University of Victoria.

SPEAKER at a meeting sponsored by Young Progressive Conservatives of Esquimalt-Saanich later this month will be Alvin Hamilton, former agriculture minister. Date will be set later by the Esquimalt-Saanich group which elected new officers president Allan Willis, vice-presidents Gloria Harrison and Francis Creswick and Don Petersen as secretary-treasurer.

HIS GREENS ON CANVAS NEAT, TOO

Victoria-area golfers have come to know Frank Gavan as a man who tends his course wtih loving care.

Formerly employed at Uplands and now greens superintendent at Cedar Hill Golf Club, Gavan expresses another facet of his creativeness through paintings.

The first public showing of Gavan paintings was opened today at the Little Gallery, 725 Yates. His collection of over 30 paintings will remain on view at least until Saturday.

Moon Area Shown Okay For Landings

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — First pictures televised by Lunar Orbiter III show at least one area of the moon probably is smooth enough for astronauts to land.

The area, in the dry Sea of Tranquillity, near the eastern edge of the lunar disk, was photographed Wednesday as the 850-pound spacecraft swung within 33½ miles of the moon's equator, near the low point of its 32 by 1,147-mile orbit.

The photographs, matching if not bettering the quality of those made last year by Lunar Orbiter II, showed broad level areas pocked with small craters but few large enough to prevent a manned landing.

Some of the 32 frames of wide-angle and closeup pictures showed craters and rocks as small as three feet across.

Televised 250,000 miles to earth, the pictures were of the first of 12 equatorial sites to be photographed by Lunar Orbiter III during the coming week.

The space craft actually photographed four sites during the day but these films will not be released until later in the week.

Torch Victim Dies

NEW DELHI (AP) — A man who turned himself into a flaming torch in front of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's residence Monday died Wednesday night in hospital. The man, identified only as Aziz, 50, doused himself with kerosene and touched it off with a match after he was refused permission to see the prime minister.

Sukarno Asks Exile But Bid Rejected

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Indonesian military leaders have rejected an offer by President Sukarno to go into exile if he is allowed to retain his title, reliable army sources said today.

This was the latest compromise proposal in a series of offers and counter-offers passing between Sukarno and the powerful army leader, Gen. Suharto, and was an obvious step down from the president's last proposal.

Sukarno offered last week to hand over the affairs of state temporarily to Suharto as long as he, the president, determined main policy and was kept in close touch with all decisions.

The president ignored a subsequent demand by Gen. Suharto that he resign.

The latest army move was the tabling by an anti-Sukarno member of the House of Representatives of a draft proposal urging parliament to ask the policy-making People's Consultative Congress to appoint Suharto acting president until next year's general elections.

Congress meets March 6 to consider an earlier parliamentary motion pressing for the president's dismissal and possible trial for the attempted Communist coup in 1965.

Dutch Face Hard Job In Forming New Gov't

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—The two main political parties in The Netherlands suffered substantial setbacks in Wednesday's general elections.

The Roman Catholic and Socialists, who ruled The Netherlands in a series of coalitions dating back to the end of the Second World War, lost a total of 15 seats in the lower house of Parliament, complete unofficial returns showed.

The Catholic party, which was estimated to have lost some 20 per cent of its voters in the main cities, dropped to 41 seats from 50 in the 150-seat lower house, while the Socialists lost six seats out of 43 held in the old parliament.

The most spectacular gain was registered by a new party called the D-66 party—for Democracy 1966. It won seven seats. D-66 party candidates ran on a platform of electoral reform.

Thirteen parties will be represented in the new house and for the first time in Dutch parliamentary history, the Christian confessional parties do not have a majority.

These factors, together with a refusal by outgoing Premier Jelle Zijlstra to stay in politics, indicated that the formation of a new cabinet could prove to be the most difficult in Holland's political history.

The election was held three months ahead of schedule following the fall of the government headed by Premier Joseph Cals in October after Parliament voted no confidence in his 1967 budget.

RC CHURCH OBLIGATED TO BACK WORLD RULE

Roman Catholics are morally obligated to accept the concept of international government, Most Rev. Remi De Roo, Roman Catholic Bishop of Victoria, said Wednesday night.

In an address to the Victoria branch of World Federalists of Canada meeting in St. John Ambulance Hall, the bishop said:

"We believe there should be a world authority. But, in order to operate effectively and be really impartial, it should be set up by common accord, not by force."

The bishop said there is a structural defect in international organization today.

"It can be said, therefore, that at this historical moment the present system of organization, and the way its principle of authority operates on a world basis, no longer corresponds to the objective requirements of the universal common good."

Bishop De Roo used the encyclical Pacem in Terris of Pope John XIII as the basis of his talk. He said Pope John's philosophy was embodied in the encyclical and he read a quotation from it as an illustration:

"Nothing is lost with peace: all may be lost with war. Let men return to mutual understanding. Let them begin negotiations anew, conferring with goodwill and with respect for reciprocal rights.

"Then will they find that, to sincere and conscientious negotiations, an honorable solution is never precluded.

TRUE SENSE

"They will feel a sense of greatness in the true sense of the word if, by silencing the voices of passion — be it collective or private—and by leaving to reason its rightful rule, they will have spared the blood of their fellow man and saved their countries from ruin."

BRIEF FROM JEWISH CONGRESS

Canadian Divorce Law Termed Invitation to Perjury

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Jewish Congress said today that current divorce legislation breeds "disrespect for the law and leads to a situation where subterfuge, collusion and perjury have to replace honest efforts to abide by the law."

The congress made the comment in a brief to the joint Commons-Senate committee on divorce. Contents of the brief were released in advance.

Divorce should be granted, the brief said, when "a marriage has been irretrievably broken and domestic harmony manifestly ruptured in the judgment of the court."

"A marriage should be dissolved by law only after it is clearly demonstrated that it has no hopes for viability."

But the congress said that divorce proceedings should include attempts at reconciliation "without which divorce courts should not be empowered to dissolve a marriage."

It suggested abolition of the Senate's granting of divorces by resolution. Currently all divorces for residents of Quebec and Newfoundland are handled by the Senate. Other provinces have their own divorce courts.

The congress urged a "sound and sensible divorce law designed for . . . saving a marriage," but where this is not possible a law which dissolves marriage "with the least possible turmoil, with the fewest obstacles and with the least expense."

PEACE TALKS FORMULA

Same Old Cry From N. Viet

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi indicated today it is still ready to talk peace with the United States but demanded the Americans first "put an immediate end" to their bombing of North Vietnam.

An article in the North Vietnamese official newspaper Nhan Dan also hinted that Hanoi might have gone to the peace table if the United States had not resumed bombing after the Lunar New Year.

Nhan Dan says the U.S. "immediately changed its language" about peace talks "as soon as the government of the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam declared that the two sides could have a talk after the U.S. had stopped for good and unconditionally its bombings of North Vietnam."

But Nhan Dan made clear Hanoi considers the door still open, saying:

"We demand that before any talk could be started the U.S. government must put an immediate end to this act (the bombing)."

THANT CONVINCED

At UN headquarters in New York, Secretary - General U Thant was reported still convinced that an indefinite and unconditional end to the U.S. bombing would bring about peace talks.

The statement from North Vietnam's foreign ministry said public opinion demands that the U.S. respond to the Viet Cong's proclamation of a seven - day Lunar New Year truce and that the U.S. "definitively and unconditionally" end its bombing of North Vietnam.

Nhan Dan also denied that secret talks were going on between North Vietnam and the U.S.

It commented: "The U.S. ruling circles have stupidly contended that the U.S. bombing of North Vietnam did not prevent negotiations.

"They have also cooked up the tall story that 'secret talks' were being held between the Democratic Republic of North Vietnam and the U.S."

11 Killed In Blast Of Shell

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—A 105 - millimetre artillery shell blew up while workers were loading it with high explosive Wednesday night and killed 11 persons. Searing flames followed the blast at the U.S. Army's giant ammunition depot west of here.

Thirteen other persons suffered injuries, but only four of them were kept in hospitals overnight.

The base commander said the explosion apparently occurred while an employee was loading a shell with high explosive. Such a projectile is about two feet long and weighs 33 pounds.

There are 7,000 employees at the depot, which is one of the largest such plants in the United States.

The dead and injured were civilian employees at the huge arsenal, which manufactures and stores ammunition for the army.

"A ball of fire went right down the line and several people's clothing caught on fire," said one witness.

This was the second major explosion at the facility. One employee died and 21 were injured in a blast July 8, 1963.

B.C. Teachers Giving Aid

VANCOUVER (CP — The B.C. Teachers' Federation has joined teachers' groups in eight other provinces in offering Quebec's 13,000 striking teachers with information on job openings here.

Communications director Ken Aitchison said Wednesday the B.C. Federation is opposing an effort by the Quebec government to force its teachers to knuckle under on collective bargaining rights.

"We feel strongly about it because we have worked for years to win the right to collective bargaining in B.C.," said Mr. Aitchison.

Planes Crash In Formation

MANILA (UPI)—Four Philippine air force F86 sabrejets were missing today and officials feared all may have crashed while flying in formation near the cloud - shrouded Zambales Mountains on the west coast of Luzon.

An intensive search continued seven hours after the four planes would have run out of fuel.

Apartment Plan For Shelbourne Under Attack

A large number of protests against an apartment district plan for the Cedar Hill Cross Road-Shelbourne area were registered at a special Saanich council meeting Wednesday.

The proposal, outlined in a booklet by municipal planner Tom Loney envisages a ribbon of apartments on both sides of Shelbourne, north of the intersection to Mortimer.

Reeve Hugh Curtis said Wednesday that no action would be taken on the plan until a public meeting is held March 2, followed by a formal council meeting.

The Honest Wash can be yours, simply by adding CALGON® water conditioner to your next wash. Calgon gives you the Honest Wash by ridding your laundry of bathtub-ring-of-the-washing-machine — that dirty gray film that builds up and clings to fabrics wash after wash. Keep your laundry white, bright, naturally soft, fresh smelling and new looking longer. Do as I always do, use Calgon water conditioner every wash day!

Personal cleanliness with Demure is the beginning of beautiful poise. For internal bathing combine Demure with its beauty-companion, SHY, the hoseless feminine syringe . . . both of them beautifully simple and simply beautiful to use.

. . . LANDYMORE WARNS

It would be a complicated business but it had happened in Italy, Germany, Russia and Cuba and other countries.

The admiral said he was not suggesting a coup is likely in Canada or that anyone would take part in such a plot. But there should be safeguards so that Parliament would never have to worry about what was going on in the military.

In his brief, the admiral said:

"If ever a commander of that command decided to set himself up to control this country of ours, he has a ready-made organization to achieve it," the former chief of Maritime Command told the Commons defence committee Wednesday.

"If a minister of national defence and a commander of Mobile Command got together, we could have a dictatorship overnight. As members of parliament, you should contemplate this organization with some alarm."

With headquarters at St. Hubert, Que., Mobile Command is, in effect, the army. It includes all four brigades and later will include four squadrons of attack planes.

Admiral Landymore is expected to undergo questioning for several hours today by committee members. Questioning was only started when the committee adjourned at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

PACKS HEARING

Admiral Landymore, wearing his uniform — officially, he is still in the navy until April—drew the biggest crowd in the four-year history of the committee. Many in the audience, apparently naval officers or former officers, and their wives, applauded loudly at the conclusion of his brief.

Opposition members on the committee are making plans to call as witnesses six or seven other officers compulsorily retired by Mr. Hellyer last summer. They include Lt.-Gen. Robert Moncel, vice-chief of defence staff, Lt. - Gen. Frank Fleury, comptroller - general, and Air Marshal Clare Annis, chief of technical services.

Admiral Landymore said armed forces unification is virtually destroying the navy.

Unification would be the "greatest fiasco of all time" time" and it was "oriented politically and not militarily."

"Our servicemen must not become fodder for political cannon," he said.

The navy was being so torn apart by unification that its personnel structure had been seriously weakened.

Morale had declined to the point where operational effectiveness was being affected, he said in reply to questions.

He said the last study he saw while Maritime commander showed that the armed forces would run down to 92,000 to 93,000 men under unification. They now number about 105,000.

Admiral Landymore said the unification bill gives the defence minister powers far too sweeping.

One section of the bill "allows our forces to be seconded to any state."

"This virtually allows the minister to send our armed forces to fight anywhere at any time. Under this, he could, I daresay, commit our forces to Vietnam, for example, without consulting anyone."

In another brief reference to Mobile Command, he said: "Consider the place of Mobile Command against the possibility of the military taking civilian control. I think the present organization may give you some qualms."

Fukien Rebels Crushed

TOKYO (AP) — Mao Tse-tung's supporters claimed today they smashed anti-Maoists in an armed clash and seized control of Fukien province across from Nationalist China - held Taiwan last Saturday.

Peking Radio, Mao's propaganda outlet, said after crushing the "black stream counter-revolutionary elements in authority," the Maoists held a huge pro-Mao rally in the provincial capital of Minhow (Foochow) to celebrate the takeover.

Fukien, across the Formosa Strait from Chiang Kai-shek's stronghold of Taiwan, is the fifth province of 21 provinces and five autonomous regions on mainland China which the Maoists now claim to have wrested from supporters of Mao's two arch - enemies, President Liu Shao - chi and party General Secretary Teng Hsiao-ping.

The Maoists claim they have taken over Shansi, Heilungkiang, Kweichow and Shantung.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Communist party accused Mao Tse-tung today of planning new attempts to provide a break in Soviet-Chinese relations. In Peking, more anti-Russian pronouncements were reported.

On Formosa, Nationalist China's official Central news agency said armed clashes between forces for and against Mao have spread from Tibet throughout the adjoining province of Szechwan, in southwest China.

It said that the fighting had prevented supplies from reaching Maoists in Tibet and that clashes in Lhasa, the capital previously reported under anti-Maoist control, were nearing a climax.

A pro - Nationalist Chinese newspaper in Hong Kong said part of Kwangsi province bordering on North Vietnam has been taken over by anti-Maoists but Mao's supporters have the upper hand in some big cities. Clashes were reported in Wuchow, a Kwangsi city of more than 200,000.

In an implied appeal to Mao's Chinese opponents, Pravda said Peking still had the chance to restore friendly ties with Moscow and rejoin "the ranks of the Socialist community."

Women to Find Equality in Mine

When Canadian women demanded the federal government establish a royal commission into the status of women in the country, it's doubtful they had in mind the kind of equality suggested in the British Columbia legislature Wednesday.

Mines Minister Donald Brothers introduced a bill that would allow women to do light underground work in mines. If passed, it will be the first time in the history of the province that women are permitted to work in mines.

Mr. Brothers said the bill is not intended to allow women to perform heavy or dangerous mining jobs. He said that so much of today's mining is automated that women can work at "a nice, clean station underground pushing buttons all day long."

The 68-page bill would set up a completely new Mines Regulation Act and repeal the 19-year-old Metalliferous Mines Regulation Act which currently decides safety and working practices in mines.

The bill proposes a host of new regulations "that are updated to meet modern conditions and mining techniques," Mr. Brothers said.

Among the changes would be a permissive authority for 17-year-olds to work underground.

"The present act permits 18-year-olds to be employed in the mines and we've found that in some cases they take these jobs without any knowledge about mining and get themselves killed," the minister said.

"This will allow them to learn about the work before they become regular employees."

PROMOTED to second in charge of the provincial Forest Service engineering services division is University of B.C. graduate R. D. Thomas.

MINE DIVERSION PLAN TO CUT TROUT SUPPLY

KAMLOOPS (CP) — British Columbia stands to lose its best source of rainbow trout supplies if Brenda Mines Ltd. is granted a licence to store and divert water from Pennask Lake, says Ed Vernon, chief provincial fisheries biologist.

Mr. Vernon told a hearing on the licence application Wednesday the lake provides 50 per cent of the rainbow trout eggs taken for fish culture operations throughout the province.

Indians, ranchers, the federal fisheries department, provincial fisheries branch and the B.C. Wildlife Federation are opposing Brenda's application.

H. D. De Beck, controller of water rights, reserved decision on the application.

The company proposes to divert water from the lake, 60 miles south of here, 10 miles to a proposed $40,000,000 copper and molybdenum operation southeast of Kelowna.

"Withdrawal of water for ore-milling use may result in annual water level fluctuations in Pennask Lake in excess of those experienced under normal conditions," Mr. Vernon told Mr. De Beck.

"Any fluctuations greater than that which exists under natural conditions must reduce the productive capacity of the lake.

"PHENOMENAL LAKE"

"This is a phenomenal lake which produces fish at a fantastic rate and any changes in its natural state could prove disastrous," the biologist said.

"The loss of this source could not be regained by any hatchery operation."

Mr. Vernon also claimed that his submission on behalf of the fish and wildlife branch lacked completed details and its hasty preparation was instigated by provincial government pressure to get the study completed in a hurry.

Howard Paish, representing 12 fish and game clubs in the Okanagan and the 170 game clubs in the B.C. Wildlife Federation, said freshwater fishermen spend $23,000,000 annually in B.C.

HALF STOCKS

"Fifty per cent of the eggs taken by the fisheries branch comes from Pennask Lake," Mr. Paish said.

"Practical limitations on hatchery space and time limitations on certain aspects of fish culture, coupled with the fact that Pennask is a proven source of Rainbow trout eggs makes it imperative that any changes of water allocation that could affect the productivity of the lake be carefully evaluated," he said.

Brenda also presented a much-reduced water application Wednesday.

On Tuesday the company asked permission to store 15,000 acre-feet at the lake and to divert 5,000 gallons a minute. This was reduced to 6,600 acre-feet and 3,500 gallons a minute.

DEAR JOHN
Sex Unlimited
Fox Cinema

We seem to have reached the point where a film which offers sex in the raw — preferably with a bleak European background — is acclaimed as a work of art.

Hundreds of men and women have enjoyed and endorsed the film Dear John during its five-week Victoria run. Because I respect their views, it is difficult for me to say that I found it disappointing.

Surely sex is something fine — so aesthetic and so delicate that it can only be interpreted in a very subtle form.

I did not find that subtlety in Dear John.

For all its cleverness and odd-angle photography, it seemed much too blatant and lacking in delicacy to be really impressive as a commentary on sex.

True, some of the camera shots — even in grey monotone — are magnificent and the acting and direction are more than competent. It is the lack of subtlety in the bedroom scenes which bothers me most.

Nothing is left to the imagination and that, surely, is an offence in the world of art. A camera lifted at the right moment can make all the difference between brash realism and suggestive restraint.

* * *

For the record, Dear John was written and directed by Lars Magnus Lindgren and produced in Sweden.

It tells of Jarl Kulle, the captain of a coastal steamer, which puts in at a small Swedish port for a load of cargo. He is lonely and soon develops an interest in Christina Schollin, a waitress in the local restaurant.

She resists him, but he shows up early in the morning when she goes for a swim. The routine is repeated the following morning and they become better acquainted when Christina and her little daughter visit a local zoo.

They have an idyllic all-day outing and, at night, when the delightful child is asleep, they make love.

There is an appealing naturalness when the man, the woman and the child visit the zoo. And the camera shots of the animals (as they might be seen through the eyes of a child) are magnificent.

They led me to expect that the bedroom scenes would be handled with the same kind of sensitivity.

I was disappointed.

CRITICS HAIL STRATFORD'S TWELFTH NIGHT

'Glistening Piece of Confectionery'

CALGARY (CP) — Critis today described the Stratford Festival company production of Twelfth Night, which Wednesday opened the company's first national tour, as fresh and "a glistening piece of confectionery."

About 2,200 persons, 900 more than the ticket agency predicted on the basis of advance sales, saw the Shakespeare romantic comedy and officials hoped for sellouts Friday and Saturday.

"There is stylish, high-powered acting to top the evening into a glistening piece of confectionery from almost every member of the cast," wrote Antony Ferry of the Toronto Star.

"Something remarkable is abroad on the land. A new Stratford Festival . . . entirely new; fresh and quite exciting," said Ron Evans of the Toronto Telegram.

The company presents Twelfth Night again tonight and Saturday afternoon. Nikolai Gogol's Russian comedy, The Government Inspector, will be staged Friday night and Saturday night.

VICTORIA NEXT

The company will offer the same plays at Victoria Feb. 21-22, Vancouver Feb. 23-25 and Winnipeg Feb. 27 to March 4. The tour ends at Ottawa March 23 after a swing through the Maritimes.

Officials confidently forecast a sellout in the 2,572-seat jubilee auditorium Saturday when chartered buses and aircraft are expected to bring in hundreds of Edmonton residents.

Reviewers said the play, which drew near - capacity crowds to Stratford, Ont., last year, was helped by the move to a regular box stage from Stratford's large, projecting thrust stage.

The tour is part of the $3,000,000 Festival Canada program which is sending Canadian, European and American drama, music and dance productions across Canada during Centennial Year.

Were it not that prophets tend to have a lousy batting average, I would be convinced that the dignity of man is no longer worth shucks. This because of two press accounts and one incident that have come to my attention in the last few days.

One story quotes Donald Gordon, professor of political science and economics at Waterloo University, as predicting a time when the student can have himself programmed to a personalized computer.

"People shouldn't be able to hide within themselves," the prof is credited with declaring. "All their vulnerabilities and prejudices and so on could be programmed."

The second shocker, this one of U.S. origin, suggests that the geneticists are well along with experimentation which would eventually produce customized humans on order.

There are frightening possibilities, we are told, that science will be in a position to control human behavior by the time the century has ended.

On top of all this, a newly-computerized outfit with which we do business has just asked us to pony up $71.50 in a lump, instead of spreading the payments as agreed.

The reason given, accompanied by a laugh that seemed to hint of secret terror, was that the computer insisted on such an arrangement and would mark us in arrears each month if we didn't do its bidding.

★

What this adds up to in your book, I don't know. But I hope you will agree that the watchdogs of humanity should begin to bark both loud and long.

This thing that threatens the race is a science fiction plot transferred from the late, late shows to this earth we inhabit!

George Orwell (who, significantly, committed suicide) foretold part of the nightmare in his chilling novel, '1984.' That's only 17 years away; and I really think we must bestir ourselves.

While I have every respect for Prof. Gordon, and was pleased to see that he marked himself as uncustomized by arriving for a Uvic panel discussion the other night in a belted trenchcoat, I find his doctrine of universal exposure absolutely appalling.

Even the slaves who toiled their lives away on Egypt's pyramids were permitted to hide within themselves. The inner self is humanity's only true retreat. Here and here only can we be individual, and unmechanized.

While it isn't nice to club others with our prejudices, we have a perfect right to them, and even more so to our vulnerabilities. Surrender those, and we are no more our own man than Orwell's pathetic rebel became when exposed to the rats which "Big Brother's" brain-pickers knew to be his secret horror.

★

We can't turn scientific progress back, although we might be happier without certain of its monster-children. What we should press for, however, is a righting of the balance that tipped with the mass destruction of Hiroshima and took another lurch when Russia wiped the American eye by launching the first man-made satellite.

Science, which has no more conscience than a monkey, has become top-heavy in our scheme of things. Our respect for its works and claims has become too deep: we are in grave danger of letting man's creature become his master.

One result is that true humanism, which defends scientific exploration but insists on remaining aware of other truths by which man lives, has suffered. The impersonal is crowding out the personal.

So, in certain vast universities, we find research taking precedence over teaching, the tweed-jacketed lecturer replaced by the taped voice piped electronically to the thousands in the lecture hall.

We'd be lost without the machine in its myriad forms. But we may also lose ourselves because of it.

Crash Victim Fair

Drivers Injured In Two Accidents

A Metchosin man whose car crashed on the West Saanich Road early today is in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Anthony Norton, 23, of 3126A Metchosin Road, suffered severe chest injuries when his car went out of control while negotiating a curve near Markham Street, hit a tree and finally stopped at the bottom of an embankment in a blackberry patch.

Saanich police said the accident happened shortly before 3 a.m. Norton was alone in the car. Officers said the car was a wreck.

CAR SKIDDED

Karl Steinmeier of 9704 Third Street in Sidney is in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital after his car skidded into the side of a loaded lumber truck on the Sooke Road Wednesday afternoon.

He suffered a dislocated hip, cuts and abrasions in the accident about four miles east of Sooke.

RCMP officers said the injured man's auto slid sideways into the loaded trailer unit of a truck driven by Autar Sing Rahi of 1712 Denman. The rear wheels of the truck were knocked loose in the smash and the truck's load of logs had to be reloaded onto another unit.

WOMAN INJURED

A woman hurt in a two-car crash four weeks ago is still in a coma at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Lacey, 20, of 1177 Goldstream, remains in poor condition after the accident at Haultain and Shakespeare Jan. 20.

Youth Caught When Wheel Fell Off Car

City police caught up with William Ernst Wednesday night when the wheel fell off his car.

The 19-year-old, who lives at 1124 Mason Street, was fined a total of $200 when he pleaded guilty to four charges in central court this morning.

The fines carry alternate jail terms totalling 39 days and Magistrate Ostler denied Ernst time to pay them.

Constable Peter Voth told the court he followed the accused's car on Skinner Street with siren sounding and red light flashing. When he tried to pull his cruiser alongside, Ernst swung into his path.

HITS CURB

After the pursued car made a number of erratic turns it finally halted on Craigflower after a wheel hit a curb and broke free.

Ernst turned violent when put in the police patrol wagon, causing $40 damage when he kicked the doors and screens covering a window.

He told police he had never had a driver's licence, had no car insurance and had just bought the car that day.

"Don't you read the newspapers?" asked the magistrate. "Aren't you moved by the recent accident tragedies?"

Ernst was fined $100 for careless driving, $50 for wilfully damaging the police vehicle, $25 for driving without a licence and another $25 for driving without insurance. He was ordered to pay the city $40 for damage to the patrol wagon as well.

Man Must Be Boss Of the Household Say Modern Misses

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The man should be the supreme head of the household.

If he isn't he's falling down on his job.

These words come out of the mouths of two attractive young women with short skirts and modern hair-dos. They came out loud and clear from Miss Elizabeth Calder and Miss Elaine Stranne, both members of the Jehovah's Witness movement in Victoria.

Nodding her head in concurrence was Mrs. Harry Zaruk, an older but still very attractive Witness.

●

All three are dedicated workers for a church which bases its beliefs entirely on the Bible.

"The Bible makes it absolutely clear that the man is the head of the house and should have the last word in every major decision," said Miss Calder.

"He should also be looked up to by his children as head of the house," put in Miss Stranne.

"If you believe in the Bible, there are no two ways about it," said Mrs. Zaruk. "Furthermore, if the man exercises — with a firm out gentle hand — the wife is much the happier for it.

●

"Most of the trouble in the world today is the result of man relinquishing his authority and letting the wife take over," Mrs. Zaruk added.

The three women are active door-to-door convassers for the Jehova's Witness movement in Victoria and have just returned from a series of Bible-teaching conventions in nine countries of South America.

"Although South America is predominantly Roman Catholic, we were received in a most friendly spirit," Mrs. Zaruk said. "We carried on our door-to-door canvassing down there and in 99 per cent of cases we were invited into the homes we visited."

Miss Calder said many Roman Catholics in South America have never read the Bible — they rely entirely on the priesthood for religious instruction.

"We are strongly opposed to this," she said.

"We believe everyone should study the Bible and dig out its great truths for themselves.

"We were encouraged by the fact that no one in South America — even the most devout Catholics — gave us any opposition."

Mrs. Zaruk said there are now 76,251 Jehovah's Witnesses in South America whereas in 1945 there were practically none.

●

The three Victoria women were among 450 Witnesses from Canada, the United States, England, Germany, Spain, Denmark and Switzerland who took part in the South American conventions.

"Our main reason for going there was to link up with Witnesses in South America," Miss Stranne said, "but whereever we go we promote study of the Bible."

Both Miss Stranne and Miss Calder are training as missionaries for their church and are prepared to go anywhere they are sent.

But first they must take an intensive training course, including language study, at the Witnesses' Gilead School in New York.

TB Test Follow-Up Set for Month's End

A community follow-up chest survey will begin at the month's end of all those adults who last year showed a positive reaction to their tuberculin skin test, when Christmas Seal mobile vans visited southern Island points.

Of the 100,000 persons who recieved their tuberculin skin test and chest X-ray last year, 18,000 are being called back now because they showed a positive reaction.

A positive reaction to the skin test does not mean the person has TB. It shows thay have been infected by someone with tuberculosis and statistics indicate that one positive reactor out of 20 will one day develop active tuberculosis.

BEGIN AT JORDAN RIVER

Christmas Seal mobile vans will begin the positive reactor survey at Jordan River Community Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 28, and Fulford Harbor Community Hall on Wednesday, March 1.

They will be at Sooke shopping centre on March 1 also, and on March 2 will visit Ganges Community Hall and Langford Elementary School.

On Friday, March 3, and Saturday, March 4, they will be at the Sidney Health Unit and Colwood Shopping Plaza.

On Monday, March 6, they will move to the Victoria area to check on positive reactors at several key locations there. The survey finishes March 18.

VISIT SALTSPRING

Positive reactors at Port Renfrew, Galiano, North and South Pender, Mayne and Saturna islands are being asked to visit mobile vans when they are at the southern Vancouver Island locations nearest them. Mobile vans will only visit Saltspring Island on this follow-up survey.

The survey is being conducted by the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health, in co-operation with the B.C. Division of TB Control, and the B.C. TB Christmas Seal Society.

City Ambulance Users Asked To Pay $10 Fee

Victoria council is going to ask the people served by the new city ambulance to volunteer to pay a nominal sum of $10 for the use of the emergency vehicle.

The Lands and Fire Wardens Committee was told this morning that during December and January the ambulance had made 294 emergency runs—135 last month and 159 in December.

Mayor Hugh Stephen said he was against fixing a set fee for the ambulance service.

"I am confident that if we sent out a letter suggesting that people using the ambulance pay $10 or $15 the response would be good," he said. "I am optimistic that we could recapture some thousands of dollars this way."

Payment would be strictly on a voluntary level.

Private ambulance services have a fixed $25 minimum rate.

Saanich Calls Vote On Recreation Plan

$1.25 Million Program

Saanich howeowners will vote in a referendum on a $1.25 million recreation plan in late March—probably March 18.

This was announced today by Reeve Hugh Curtis, who also released details on the five-year plan to provide an ice arena, a senior citizen centre, an indoor swimming pool and a community centre.

The plan was given unanimous approval by the council in a closed meeting Wednesday night.

The approved program comprises a major part of the recommendations made in the Saanich Indoor Recreation Study by A. B. Sanderson Company.

Reeve Curtis said the starting date of the projects, if they are approved by the ratepayers, will depend upon the availability of low-cost borrowings and the completion of working plans.

SEEKS LARGE VOTE

"We shall seek the support and active participation of all groups which made representations to council in order that a large and decisive affirmative vote may be received," he added. Here is an outline of the proposal:

- An ice arena to be located north and west of the Tillicum outdoor theatre on a 20-acre municipally owned site, with access probably off Tillicum. It will provide a 200-by-85-foot ice surface, seating for up to 900, changing rooms, skate shop, concession and storage areas. Cost: $400,000.
- A senior citizens' centre on a site still to be decided in the Hampton Park area. It will contain an auditorium, lounge, meeting and activity rooms and a kitchen. Cost: $95,000.
- A 25 metre pool and community building on municipally owned land east of Torquay Drive and south of Gordon Head Elementary School. The pool, meeting areas, hobby and craft rooms, and recreation spaces will be under one roof. The six-lane pool, heated, with change rooms and storage rooms, will have life guard service and will accommodate up to 1,000 people per day. Cost: $450,000.
- A community centre in the McRae Estate area, site not pinpointed but to serve the Maplewood, Blenkinsop, Cedar Hill, Shelbourne and Tattersal areas and described as a general purpose building for meeting, hobby classes, etc Cost: $250,000.

LANDSCAPING

The balance of $55,000 would be required for contingencies and a minimal landscaping program, the reeve stated.

He said the consultants believe the estimates given are generous and allow for possible increases in construction costs.

The capital required would be borrowed and repaid over a 20-year period.

"This method gives council authority to proceed when and as appropriate, after carefully completing plans and siting, and testing the financial market," said Reeve Curtis.

Municipal officials estimated the annual cost to ratepayers at 1.3 mills on the assessed values of 1967.

$5.20 PER YEAR

This would mean an annual charge on property taxes of about $5.20 per year on a home valued at $8,000 to $10,000, about $7.80 on a $12,000 to $15,000 home, and about $10.40 on a home valued in the $15,000 to $20,000 range, when all projects are completed.

The reeve said the plan pays close attention to population densities in the municipality.

He added, "Great care was taken that the final dollar figure was sufficient to meet the immediate need without placing a heavy load on the property owner.

"The program is designed to offer recreation space to as wide an age-grouping as possible.

"This is not just a youth program although council considers the Tillicum area to be a priority item to ease the desperate shortage of ice surfaces in the community. The arena would be used for minor hockey, public skating, practices, etc."

SOFTLY NOW . . . STROKE!

Uvic's robust rowing team is at work again!

Just ask the residents around Elk Lake.

While the young oarsmen were driving their shell about the lake early this morning, the cries of their co'x'n were driving some of the neighbors 'round the bend.

From the shell it may sound like "stroke." From the shore it sounds like "help!" Or it just plain sounds loud.

Saanich police, in the middle as they were many times last year, got two irate phone calls this morning. They are expecting more.

'Even $500 Too Much' For Royal Gift

Any gift presented to Princess Alexandra when she visits Victoria on May 19 should be of modest cost, says Ald. Percy Frampton.

Ald. Frampton made the statement this morning when Mayor Hugh Stephen proposed to the city's entertainment committee that the princess should be presented with a Fenwick Lansdowne painting during the 15-minute ceremony scheduled for city hall at 11 a.m.

The mayor said he wasn't sure what such a painting would cost but that the price of the gift would be shared by all municipalities in the Greater Victoria region.

He said it could go as high as $500 or even $1,000.

"I don't see how we can justify spending money for this sort of thing," said Ald. Frampton. "Even $500 is too much. She's going to do well if she gets a $500 present every place she goes."

Mayor Stephen noted that the princess was visiting the city by invitation and that she would be the most important visitor during Centennial year.

AGAINST COST

Ald. Frampton said he wasn't against the idea of a gift for the princess, but that he was against excessive cost.

The committee agreed to check on the price of a Lansdowne painting before making a final commitment.

On the day of the visit the princess will be introduced to the reeves of all surrounding municipalities and a brief address of welcome will be given by Mayor Stephen.

"We only have 15 minutes so the ceremony will have to be brief," the mayor said. "I think all reeves should be invited because this, really, is an intermunicipal visit."

The ceremony will take place in the council chamber before 200 specially invited guests.

RACING COMMISSION:

Sandown Issue Can Be Solved

The chairman of the B.C. Racing Commission today expressed hope that both sides in the Sandown racing issue will reach agreement within the next three weeks.

"I don't think they are that far apart," Glen McDonald told the Times from Vancouver.

Mr. McDonald said he had not yet received an application by the B.C. Jockey Club to transfer Sandown's 17 racing days to Vancouver.

The commission chairman said that until he does receive the application he would not decide on whether the public would be admitted to hearings.

Jack Diamond, co-owner of the jockey club, Wednesday said he would seek transfer of the dates.

Mr. Diamond said North Saanich Council's demand of a $150 daily licence fee and improved fire protection and sanitary facilities suggested to him "that they don't want racing at Sandown."

DOESN'T UNDERSTAND

Mr. Diamond said that Reeve J. B. Cummings "doesn't understand the problems of operating a track. He doesn't know racing."

The reeve said today that "if Mr. Diamond has any suggestions we are ready to listen."

He said Mr. Diamond did not protest the $150 daily licence fee when council first notified him.

Mr. Diamond's chief problems, said Reeve Cummings, are sanitation and fire protection.

He said the fire marshal has recommended to the attorney-general that a sprinkling system be installed in present and new barns and that they have improved sanitary facilities.

Mr. Diamond said that "even if we had 50 fire wardens we wouldn't have been any better off when fire hit our barns last year."

He said that Vancouver authorities are "content" with fire-fighting facilities at Exhibition Park "and we don't have sprinklers there."

"We can't put any money into Sandown under council's conditions," he said. "The money isn't there to take out. It may be some day. But not now. We lost $27,000 last year."

N. Saanich PTAs Sponsor Talk On Sex Education

Sex Education will be the topic of a panel discussion Monday, sponsored by five North Saanich PTAs and two parents' auxiliaries.

Panelists will be Dr. E. M. Patriarch, Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board physician; Mrs. F. MacBride, supervisor of the unmarried parents' section of the Family and Children's Service; Donald McColl, principal of Sansbury Elementary School; Rev. H. C. McDermott, of St. Paul's United Church, Sidney; A. W. Murphy, boys' counsellor at North Saanich Secondary School; A. G. Campbell, teacher and former Saanich School Board chairman; and school trustee Mrs. Ruby May Parrott.

The panel discussion, starting at 8 p.m. will he held in the McTavish School auditorium, 1720 McTavish Road.

Ask The Times

Q. The Times on Wednesday said a man and his wife both drawing old age pension cheques would both qualify for the federal old age pension supplement if their combined income was less than $2,340 not counting the pension cheques. This is at variance with the booklet I received. Should the figure be $1,440? H.K.D.

A. The federal pensions office here says you are correct. The pertinent figure is $1,440 and the Canadian Press story was in error.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Fence Art Stored To Allow Excavation

Works of art completed by sidewalk fence painters were removed this week to give workers more elbow room on the site of the new museum-library-archives project.

About 35 of the plywood panels decorated during the do-it-yourself beautification fad have been stored away.

New boarding has been erected further out on Government Street to permit a giant shovel to operate on the edge of the excavation.

A public works official said the painted panels will be replaced as the excavating work proceeds. He suggested that eventually, when the project is complete, all the painted panels may be auctioned for charity.

The $7 million project, a joint federal-provincial centennial enterprise, is again bustling with about 75 men on the job. Premier Bennett, in his recent budget speech said the exhibit hall section will be completed by the end of this year.

The seven storey office building which will house workshops and the curator's staff, and the archives building, will be delayed in completion until after the centenary of Confederation is over. Original planning called for the whole project to be opened in September of this year.

The Diller Technique Solves All Problems

By Penny Saver

Have you ever wondered how to remove sand from your living room rug? Or how to have a completely spotless house at all times? A subject near and dear to all of us is meal planning, how to serve a meal and the best things to serve at dinner parties. Another is how to stop the youngsters from fighting. Everyone is interested in how to save a penny here and there, and every housewife is conscious about her home when she has guests in.

Phyllis Diller, renowned comedienne and "immaculate housekeeper" (she says, "I'm clean, but the house is a mess"), attacks all of these aspects of modern-day living in her new book of household hints.

The star by no means tries to convince her readers that she is the perfect housewife. At the beginning, she states, "Fang, my husband, says the only thing domestic about me is that I was born in this country."

Now, about that sand, Miss Diller suggests that you grow a cactus in the living room. "It makes the sand on your floor look like part of the decor."

A hint on meal-planning from the comic artist is, "Don't spend too much time planning meals. You don't want a charge of premeditation."

You know that new recipe that you've tried for dinner? Miss Diller suggests that you wear glasses when you take it out of the oven. "They will steam up and you'll have a few minutes to brace yourself," she says.

If you have trouble keeping "peace and order" in the family, try the Diller method. "Fine your kids a penny for every fight they have. (I did this once and by night time, their bicycles had second mortgages.)"

Perhaps you won't have the cleanest house in the neighborhood if you follow this book, but you'll have hundreds of rib-tickling excuses for the dust and neglected chores. The main thing is, this book is guaranteed to make you laugh. Pick one up today — price is $3.25. It's illustrated with punchy cartoons and has an introduction by Bob Hope.

Do you belong to the "shirk work club" of your neighborhood? If so, this book is for you. Give me a call at 382-3131 if you want to know where I found it.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You're on Your Way to Glamorous Goal With BIP

Lowman

This is the sixth week of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan (BIP for short). Those of you who began this routine when it first started or soon afterwards are well on your way to that glamorous goal, losing from 15 to 20 pounds and becoming a more attractive you. All in eight weeks, too!

Here is more first-aid for those of you who are following BIP, and for any others of you who are interested in planning meals which are not fattening but give you the essentials for best health.

In the first place it accomplishes no lasting good if you starve yourself and may cause some damage. Very soon you will begin eating more than ever. In a way the reducing diet should be a permanent plan in that it is a healthful diet but provides you with no more calories than you need, either to lose weight or to maintain your ideal weight.

The only bargain foods are those which give you the greatest value in nutrition and cost the least in calories. Spend your allowable calories carefully. You can have generous servings of lean meat, fish, poultry, seafoods and eggs. The yellow and green vegetables and green salads are very low in calorie count but are impressive with their vitamin content.

Cut your intake of fats and carbohydrates and choose those carbohydrates which give you a bonus in health rather than those which just tickle your taste-buds. Do not eliminate any one group of food.

Never forget what a tremendous difference in calorie count the same foods can give you, depending on how you prepare them! Frying food zooms the calorie count. Broil, roast or boil it. Cut the fat off of meat and take the skin off chicken before you eat them.

If you like bacon, cook it until it is very crisp and then let it drain on a paper towel. If you are interested in weight watching or even more concerned about a high blood cholesterol content, cook a roast, stew, or home-made soup the day before you are going to use it, leave it in the refrigerator overnight, and then take off the hard fat which will rise to the top of the soup or stew or the juice from the roast.

If you use herbs for seasoning, you will not feel the need for cream sauces or lots of butter or margarine. Remember that there are cooking utensils to which the food will not stick, even without added fat.

If you are a nibbler at heart, admit this to yourself! If you are one of those human and not unusual persons, divide your allowable daily calorie intake into five or six smaller meals, and nibble to your heart's content, only on what was permissible in the first place. I hope that these suggestions will help you on the way to better health and a prettier figure!

If any of my readers missed my Beauty Improvement Plan and would like to join thousands of other women in the adventure of self-improvement, you may want to have my BIP Kit. This gives you directions for weighing and measuring, a calorie chart, exercises, a weight and height chart, menus for 15 days (with calories counted for you) and that unique chart on which you can plot your progress and see your beauty line rise as your weight drops. If you would like to have this send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling, and your printed name and address. Send to Josephine Lawman in care of this newspaper.

Presentation — Members of Dogwood Social Credit Women's Auxiliary presented retiring president Mrs. G. W. Cousens with a gift when the auxiliary met recently in the Pakington Street home of Mrs. C. E. Rushton. Mrs. C. M. Walkemeyer presided at the meeting and reports were given. A tea hour followed and refreshments were served by the hostess, and Mrs. H. H. Davis, Mrs. E. Hartley and Mrs. D. J. Steves.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cull will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary this coming Sunday and will mark the occasion by being at home to their friends from 2 to 5 p.m. They live at 2057 Cadboro Bay Road. That evening they will be honored by a dinner party, to be given by their two sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. (Joyce) Snell, of Richmond, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. Roy (Joan) Campbell, of Santa Barbara, Calif. Also present will be the couple's grandchildren, Mr. Jim Snell and Miss Joan Snell. The honor couple was married in St. Pancras Church in Chichester, Sussex, England, on February 19, 1917. Mr. Cull has lived in Oak Bay since 1912, being the owner of the Willows Confectionery for 34 years until his retirement in 1953. He served overseas with the Canadian Army Veterinary Corps during the First World War. (Bill Halkett photo.)

Saltspring Island Marks Day of Prayer

For the first time in the island's history, an annual World Day of Prayer service was held in a Roman Catholic Church on Saltspring Island when about 100 worshippers, several of them men, attended Friday's service in Our Lady of Grace Church at Ganges.

Mrs. C. F. Yeerman, president of the Catholic Women's League, led the service and the address was given by Mrs. M. B Gilpin of Full Gospel Chapel. Mrs. E. W. McQuarrie of the United Church was organist and soloist was Mrs. F. K. Parker of the Anglican Church. Women of the four churches took part in readings and prayers.

On conclusion of the service, afternoon tea was served in the parish hall. The head table was covered with a lace cloth and decorated with a bowl of daffodils and white tulips, flanked by pale green candles in silver candelabra. Presiding at the table were Mrs. R. B. Horsefield, Mrs. Bob Marcotte, Mrs. W. M. Mouat and Mrs. Scott Clarke. Conveners of the tea were Mrs. Fred Rhodes and Mrs. Walter Jameski.

Centennial Tea

Plans were completed for a centennial luncheon and tea when the president and leaders of the Anglican Girls' Auxiliaries of Greater Victoria recently met in the Glen Lake Road home of Miss Nona Butts. The affair will be held in the Bay's Douglas Room on February 18.

The tea will be convened by St. John's Victoria Branch. Mrs. C. C. Hackett of Langford is in charge of tickets, and Mrs. T. Emerson of St. Mark's is convening the display of souvenirs of the century.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Weekend Invite Not for 'New Talent'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband's business associate (Mr. G.) recently lost his wife after a marriage of nearly 40 years, so we telephoned him (he lives in Indiana) and invited him to our little winter home in Florida to rest up and get over his grief. Mr. G. said he would love to come for a few weeks.

About 10 minutes later he called us back asking if he could bring his "girl friend!" Abby, we were shocked! My husband said, "But we have only one guest room." Mr. G. said, "That's all right. I want to see how this gal looks in the morning before she puts her face on."

With that he hung up, so now we are trapped. We certainly don't want that kind of set up here, but what can we do?

TRAPPED IN FLA.

DEAR TRAPPED: If you can catch Mr. G. before he heads south, call him and tell him that the invitation was for him, alone. And if he has in mind auditioning "new talent" while he recovers from his grief, he'll have to find friends with a larger home.

DEAR ABBY: We belong to a women's church group. One of the older members happens to be a very nice lady who is well-liked by everyone and for many years has been a devoted worker in the church. But Abby, she keeps cats, and lets them climb all over her sink, her table, and even her stove when it's not on.

The problem is when she entertains at home no one wants to eat her food. We realize she goes to a lot of trouble and expense preparing refreshments, but when she serves it, we all look at each other and our stomachs turn. She is the kind of hostess who watches to see that everyone eats, but how can we, knowing that the food is probably full of cat hair? We hate to hurt her feelings.

CHURCH LADIES

DEAR LADIES: If you "hate to hurt her feelings," — eat what you can and leave the rest. And if you forget about the "cat hair" you'll be bothered less about it.

DEAR ABBY: I sure wish I knew what to do about my husband. He is so jealous if someone looks at me he thinks they are going to grab me and run. He has lots of friends and he thinks all of them are (or at one time have been) in love with me.

I have to think over every statement 10 times before I say it to be sure I don't mention some man's name, because if I do, I will have a fight on my hands.

I am no raving beauty and I am not forward or overly friendly to men. I am a good woman, Abby, and I was when he married me. He knows that for certain, but he's still jealous.

He is making a nervous wreck of me. I am 25 and he is 29 and if I have to put up with this the rest of my life I will crack up.

A WRECK

DEAR WRECK: It's your husband who has the problem. He is tormented by fantasies, self-doubts and insecurity. Insist that he get some professional help (and I do mean a doctor) or your marriage is headed for the rocks.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Increases Membership at Annual Affair

HOSPITAL GROUP STAGES PARTY

Women's groups in search of members would be well advised to follow the example of the Women's Auxiliary to the Veterans' Hospital. Each year, the organization holds a membership coffee and sherry party.

This year's affair proved as successful as its predecesors, netting $265 for the organization's projects and, what's more important, three new members to help carry out its future commitments.

Maybe it was the unaccustomed sunshine, it could have been the cause which brought the women guests together, whatever the reason, warmth and friendliness set the pace at Wednesday morning's party, held in the spacious Lansdowne Road home of Dr. and Mrs. D. E. Alcorn.

Mrs. George R. Pearkes was a special guest and obviously enjoyed meeting the community-minded members, as did Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, who was one of those who presided at the head table.

Others who presided at the table were Mrs. J. S. Adam, Mrs. E. G. Hart, Mrs. D. Leslie Macdonnell, Mrs. C. W. McCarthy, Mrs. W. L. Coke, Mrs. M. A. Kent and Mrs. E. Vant.

The table was bright with a setting that sang of spring. Citrus green candles in crystal-enhanced holders flanked an attractive arrangement of daffodils, plum blossom and pussy willow.

Receiving the guests with the hostess were president Mrs. F. R. Roberts and general convener Mrs. S. Carson.

Included among the special guests were Mrs. W. H. Murray, wife of the British Columbia Legislature's Speaker; Mrs. Cyril Shelford, wife of the Social Credit member for Omineca, and Mrs. Waldo Skillings, wife of the Victoria SC member.

Ms. H. G. Jarvis, assisted by Mrs. Vant, was in charge of receipts. Membership applications were handled by Mrs. D. Jewell. Mrs. P. A. Hole arranged the flowers.

Serviteurs were Mrs. C. L. Pullen, Mrs. R. C. Allder, Mrs. H. W. Vyvyan, Mrs. A Davis, Mrs. N. James and Mrs. H. R. Russell.

Working just as hard behind the scenes, arranging sandwiches, washing dishes and doing other kitchen chores were Mrs. R. Lott, Mrs. R. A. Lott Jr., Mrs. R. Cooley, Mrs. A. Wiles and Mrs. P. Newman. Serving sherry were Mrs. J. K. Murray and Mrs. D. Macphail.

Every bit as delicious as the food served at the party was the variety of home baked items that disappeared as quickly as snow in July at a stall convened by Mrs. P. W. Smoothy, Mrs. R. A. Willoughby and Mrs. S. Witherow. Other attractions were cake and mystery raffles, arranged by Mrs. J. Lewis and Mrs. G. P. Bannister.

Travels Overseas

Among those who have recently signed the visitors' book as British Columbia House in London, Eng., is Mr. Michael J. Fairweather. The traveller's parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Fairweather of Lockehaven Drive.

Return to Island

Two couples have returned to their homes on Saltspring Island after lengthy holidays. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Alton have returned to their home at Isabella Point after spending three weeks in the Bay Islands, Republic of Honduras. They travelled via Mexico City where they were delayed by the city's first snowfall in 30 years. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hatch are back in their Beddis Road home after a month in the south. Visiting Mexico, they also stopped at Palm Springs, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Shower Hostess

A laundry basket, decorated in pink, aqua and white and topped with white wedding bells, contained the gifts when Mrs. B. Warburton entertained at a shower in her Short Street home in honor of her future sister-in-law. Miss Marilyn Lowrence. The latter received a red and white corsage. Her mother and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. J. Lowrence and Mrs. G. Carter, received corsages of aqua, white and red-tipped carnations. Others attending were Mrs. E. Warburton, Mrs. W. Jones, Mrs. D. Walker, Mrs. S. Skinner, Mrs. T. Robertson, Mrs. K. Trask, Mrs. G. Loat, Mrs. J. Sears, Mrs. I. Shipway, Mrs. E. Shipway, Mrs. C. Carrington, Mrs. H. Riddle, Mrs. M. McCahill, Mrs. T. Galup, the Misses Carol Paul, Valerie Shipway, Susan Lowrence and Mae Walker.

Bride-Elect Feted

A cake decorated to resemble a ship was the star of the refreshment table when bride-elect Miss Pamela Robert was entertained at a shower in the Vancouver Street home of Mrs. Michael Henry. The cake depicted her fiance's occupation as a commercial fisherman. A corsage of white carnations was presented to the honor guest, and her mother, Mrs. A. J. Robert, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. R. A. Coleman, received red carnations en corsage. About 15 guests, the bride-elect's co-workers in the operating room of St. Joseph's Hospital, attended. Saturday afternoon, a trousseau tea was held in the King George Terrace home of the bride's parents. More than 40 guests attended.

Project Receipts Total $2,000 . . .

. . . At Major John Hebden Gillespie Annual Meet

NEW FUND-RAISING RECORD REPORTED BY LOCAL IODE CHAPTER

A record year for projects was reported by treasurer Miss Joan E. O. French Tuesday evening, at the annual meeting of Major John Hebden Gillespie Chapter IODE in the Century Inn. Miss French told members that $2,000.02 had been raised by the chapter at a cost of only $709.46. On the actual work of the order, supplying funds for departments such as education and services at home and abroad, $1,323.23 had been spent. Money-raising events included assisting at the IODE festival and a successful rummage sale. Receipts totalled $2,264.40 and disbursements were $2,359.20. The balance remaining was $1,255.52.

An outstanding year in both departments was reported by services at home and abroad convener, Mrs. F. J. Adams and educational secretary, Mrs. H. C. Johnston.

Mrs. Adams told the meeting that a total of $593.98 had been spent in this department. The chapter had donated funds to send two boys to the YMCA Camp Thunderbird for the summer, and had joined forces with another chapter to send toys to children attending school at Nahanni Butte, N.W.T.

She told members that magazines had been given to merchant ships calling at Nanaimo and to the Veterans' Hospital. Members had also spent $50 for the hospital's bingo game prizes and had given a magazine subscription.

Mrs. Adams said that members had filled 20 nursery bags and 20 Eskimo kits and had sent quilts to Morocco.

As well as supplying a holiday hamper to a needy family and sending a food parcel overseas, Mrs. Adams reported that $200 had been forwarded to national funds.

In her report, Mrs. Johnston said that a bursary of $200 had again been presented to a student at the Victoria School of Music and that another $225 had been used to assist a student at the University of Victoria. She told the meeting that she and several members had attended a ceremony at the chapter's adopted school in Langford to present citizenship certificates to outstanding students. Expenditures in this department, she added, were $675.05.

Three new members had been inducted during the past year, bringing total membership to 34, said membership convener Mrs. J. J. Johnston. Two live out-of-town. During the meeting Mrs. H. C. Molyneaux, a former member, was re-inducted into the order by municipal organizing secretary Mrs. P. W. Bell.

Reports were also given by secretary, Mrs. A. F. Taylor; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. J. Moffit; Echoes and public relations, Mrs. G. H. Dunaway; and project convener, Mrs. R. H. Spilsbury. Reports from standard bearer and project convener, Mrs. A. J. T. Laundy, and immigration and citizenship convener Mrs. R. A. Marquis were read by Mrs. Taylor.

In her address, retiring regent Mrs. H. L. Woolison told members that the order must prepare to move with the times. The constitution will have to be up-dated and changed, she said, to meet the challenge of moving forward. She also introduced the special guests: Municipal regent Miss Christine MacNab, national and provincial councillor Mrs. Bell, and honorary vice-regents Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps and Miss Elizabeth Forbes. Miss MacNab conducted the installation of officers which followed.

Serving on the new executive are first vice-regent, Mrs. H. C. Johnston; second, Mrs. V. A. Downard; secretary, Mrs. Taylor; treasurer, Miss French; assistant secretary, Mrs. Moffit; Echoes, Mrs. Dunaway; educational, Mrs. G. V. Hartman; services, Mrs. Woolison; standard bearer, Mrs. Laundy, and membership, Mrs. J. J. Johnston. The regent will be elected at a later date.

GANGES IODE

Re-Elect Head of Chapter

Mrs. F. K. Parker was re-elected regent of HMS Ganges Chapter IODE when the group held its annual meeting in Ganges United Church Hall, Saltspring Island.

Also serving on the new executive are Mrs. O. L. Stanton, first vice-regent; Mrs. T. W. Portlock, second; Mrs. B. Earl Hardie, secretary; Mrs. J. Pitts, assistant secretary; Mrs. E. A. Richardson, treasurer; Mrs. George Wells, educational secretary; Mrs. V. C. Best, Echoes; Mrs. Colin King, services; Mrs. Gavin Mouat, standard bearer.

Conveners are Mrs. George St. Denis, membership; Mrs. Edwin Worthington, public relations and world affairs; Mrs. W. M. Mouat, hospital; Miss Helen Dean, talent table, and Mrs. C. S. Hewett, tea.

RUNS ELECTION

Mrs. Best presided at the election of officers and handling nominations were Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. Portlock. A vote of thanks was given to retiring officers Mrs. G. H. Holmes, Mrs. Joyce Parsons, Mrs. J. J. Carlin and Mrs. G. D. Cruickshank.

Annual reports were given, and it was noted that books and gifts had been sent to the chapter's adopted school at Quilchena, B.C. Thirteen parcels of paper-back books were shipped to Canadian servicemen overseas. Clothing and jewelry to the value of $80 were sent to the women's clothing shop at Riverview Hospital. Socks had been knitted for holiday hampers and scrapbooks were made for a children's hospital.

Fund-raising projects for the chapter included a bake sale and monthly talent table. Social events were a life membership tea and an annual dinner. Membership is 38.

TWO CEREMONIES

The chapter also participated in the Remembrance Day service in Ganges and the local school's Citizenship Day ceremonies.

Because of members' interest in the proposed cairn for Centennial Park, the chapter appointed a committee, Mrs. Cruickshank, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Worthington, to work with the centennial committee on the project. It was voted to send a letter of thanks to Col. M. F. Peller for restoration of the backboard taken from HMS Ganges, which would be incorporated in the face of the proposed cairn.

Following the meeting, tea was served by Mrs. Stanton and Mrs. W. M. Mouat.

Newlyweds Honeymoon In Hawaii

Following their recent wedding in St. Aidan's United Church, newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. David Harold Thomas travelled to Hawaii for their honeymoon trip.

The bride, the former Katherine Clear Dangerfield, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dangerfield, 2838 Tudor Road and the groom is the son of Mrs. Flora Thomas, Vancouver. Rev. A. G. MacLeod officiated at the quiet ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a two-piece suit of white silk braid. Her veil of illusion net misted softly to her shoulders from a floral hat. She carried red roses and freesia in her bouquet.

ATTENDS BRIDE

Her only attendant was Mrs. Allen Gill, Vancouver, who wore a wool suit in raspberry red tones. Accenting her outfit were a matching feather hat and a bouquet of white roses and freesia.

Best man was Gordon Goodlad, Duncan.

Harold Colpman proposed the toast to the bride's happiness at the reception which followed in the home of her parents.

For travelling on honeymoon, the new Mrs. Thomas chose a blue linen dress which she topped with an imported coat of blue and bone wool.

The couple will be making their home at Maple Bay.

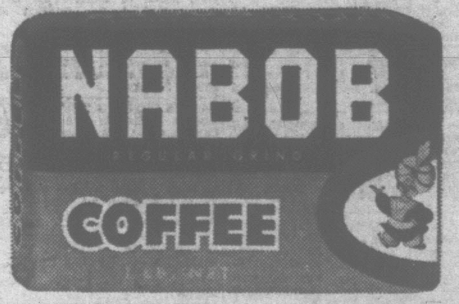
THE COFFEE OF GOOD TASTE



IN CANADA'S MOST EXCITING YEAR

Canada welcomes the world to its 100th birthday party! And while gaiety and pageantry color the land, people from coast to coast are extending hospitality to visitors and neighbors alike. In so many homes, the welcome will take the form of a friendly and heartwarming cup of Nabob coffee. As Canadian as the maple leaf, Nabob coffee reflects the quality and good taste that Canadians have always cherished in fine products for their homes.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Association

When you miss five to the queen the finesse play is far superior to the drop. Your problem is not whether to finesse but rather how and when to finesse.

In general your plan is to take the finesse on the second round. The reason for this is that if the suit is going to break 4-1 then once in five times the singleton will be the queen and by postponing the finesse you may pick up the singleton queen.

After these preliminary instructions we present a hand for the Department of Utter Confusion. It tends to show that a little learning is apt to be dangerous.

Opening lead—♠ J

South's seven no-trump call was optimistic. If North were to hold solid diamonds and the ace-king of hearts, North could go to seven once South asked for kings. When you do make an optimistic bid it pays to be able to play the hand properly and South went wrong.

At trick two he led a diamond to dummy's king. Then he came back to his hand and finessed successfully against the queen of diamonds. Unfortunately, this second-round finesse came a trifle too late. There was no way tp pick up East's queen.

South made the usual complaint about bad luck but it was bad play rather than bad luck that led to his downfall.

This was one time when South should have taken a first-round diamond finesse. The reason was that if the diamonds were going to break 4-1 he would lose to a singleton queen but he would gain a trick against a singleton small diamond.

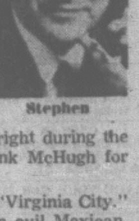
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

If you want to feel old in a hurry, catch some of the movies on the late show.

Most of the motion pictures shown usually go back to the mid-50's or so. That's not so bad, but when the go back to 1940 the grey hair, if you're lucky enough to have some, begins to show up clearly.



Stephen

Channel 4's late show Tuesday had one that headlined five, count them, five stars. Any one of them could have carried a picture on their own hook.

There, they were in living celluloid, Errol Flynn, Randolph Scott, Humphrey Bogart, Miriam Hopkins and Alan Hale.

The producers tossed in Guinn "Big Boy" Williams (a star in his own right during the silent movie days); John Litel and Frank McHugh for garnish.

The epic was, naturally, a western, "Virginia City." In this one, Humphrey Bogart played an evil Mexican, sombrero, accent and all.

Flynn was the swashbuckler, swashing with a pistol instead of a sword. The usual practice is to aim a revolver before pulling the trigger. Not in Flynn's case. He "whipped the shot" in downing not only the bad guy rider but horse too.

To whip a shot, you swing the gun out horizontally from behind the shoulder. At the same time, you look the heroine in the eye while firing.

They don't make movies like that any more. Look over the mentioned cast. Gone are the likes of Bogart, Flynn, Hale and Williams.

The were biggies in the film world those 27 years ago. Even today the television replays of the movies show that the then product wasn't as bad as we have been led to believe.

The truth of it is borne out in the selection of Charlie Chaplin's "The Gold Rush" as the greatest comedy film ever made in a poll of critics in 40 countries.

Chaplin's film was made 42 years ago and it was in competition with movies of the post-Second World War era.

Producers today feel that since times have changed we must come to grips with reality.

But the fantasy world of the early movie days didn't harm us either, did it? The films sure relieved a lot of tension and the replays on TV are continuing to carry out the job. That's A-OK in this book.

Co-Ed Who Backed Sex Freedom Would Like Peaceful Anonymity

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jan Lienke, the University of Minnesota co-ed who suggested that people should take the bridle off sex and enjoy it, would like to slide back into peaceful anonymity.

"It's not that I am sorry for what I said—I believe this very strongly," says the attractive 19 - year - old nursing school senior.

"It's just that my comments have been taken out of context, sensationalized and misinterpreted. I've lost my privacy."

What Miss Lienke said was that old morality codes are out of date and, now that some contraceptives are 100 - per - cent safe, the sexual drive should not be suppressed.

Advocating pre-marital sexual relations as something natural, she said sex life is just a form of communication and should not be regulated any more than dancing or shaking hands.

CHIDED AND INSULTED

Miss Lienke, a willowy five-foot-10, has been chided in newspaper editorials, insulted by letters and telephone calls and harassed by male callers.

JAN
. . . she's no kook

"I have had scores of letters from all over the world," she said as she relaxed in her two-room apartment on the edge of the university campus.

"They are about 50-50—some praising me for my courage in speaking out and others attacking me vilely.

"I don't mind people disagreeing with my concepts, but I don't see why they should get so angry over it. They call me a prostitute, say I don't believe in God and issue insults like: 'You and your free love stink on ice.' "

Miss Lienke said she gets calls from unidentified males who ask: "Do you practise what you preach?"

"I answer: 'Do you know what I preach?' " she said.

Friends describe Miss Lienke as a quiet, refined girl with a brilliant mind who — in their words—"is neither kooky nor showoffy."

Miss Lienke neither drinks nor smokes. She has one steady boyfriend, whom she dates on weekends. She is interested in art, music and literature and doubles as a part-time teacher in social studies.

Miss Lienke first rocked the state university last November with a letter to the university newspaper, the Minnesota Daily, in which she answered a fellow student who had written that sexual relations between unmarried students are repugnant, amoral and a sign of weakness.

"I disagree," Miss Lienke wrote. "I believe that this philosophy, this supposedly moral view, is a denial of human nature and an out-of-date concept. I believe that much unnecessary frustration, much conflict and, ironically, many pre-marital pregnancies are a direct result of this philosophy."

tants have a better system, or have the means to afford a better system, than ours."

The Liberal opposition, which fought the bill in the legislature, and the teachers and labor unions who plan to oppose it by strikes and demonstrations, could now appear to be in the position of defending the special privileges of the English-speaking Protestants.

Meanwhile, a one-day general strike by all Quebec teachers Friday was announced Wednesday evening by the associations representing the province's French Roman Catholic, English Roman Catholic and Protestant teachers.

The strike is to be the first demonstration of resistance to the government bill which would put an end to the present system of collective bargaining for teachers and withdraw their right to strike until July 1, 1968.

The strike will involve 62,000 teachers, and almost 1,500,000 children.

Raymond Laliberte, president of the 55,000-member 'Corporation des Instituteurs Catholiques,'' said the CIC provincial council would meet Saturday to decide the course to follow next week.

"We are not ready, sanctioned or not, to accept Bill 25," he said.

"We will not content ourselves with Friday's demonstration."

WOULD BE VIOLATION

For all but the 12,000 teachers already on strike the walkout would be a violation of the Quebec labor code.

Mr. Laliberte said the teachers had given little thought to the sanctions that could be imposed — fines of between $10 and $50 a day for each teacher — under the labor code.

The assembly passed the measure by a vote of 53-35 this morning after giving it clauce-by-clause study for almost seven hours.

Mr. Lesage made a last-ditch effort to change the bill but his motion for amendment on third reading was defeated 53 to 35.

The bill, which now requires passage by the upper House of the legislature as well as final sanctioning by Lieutenant-Governor Lapointe, would order the teachers back to work within 48 hours of its enactment.

The strikes have been on for weeks in some areas, depriving a total of 285,000 children of classes.

Recent days have seen loud protests against the government's measure, backed by at least one threat from a union leader of a possible general strike in Quebec, and a chorus of protest from some organizations of parents as well as teacher groups.

One Montreal parent group said Wednesday night it plans a Friday "march" on the provincial legislature and wants parents from across the province to join in.

The bill is designed to establish what the government calls just and equitable salary levels for all teachers in the province and would forestall further walkouts pending the government's planned overhaul of the education system.

The legislation allows for maximum increase of $1,000 in the annual salaries of teachers and a minimum of $400, all under government-established salary ceilings.

Mr. Johnson and his colleagues have urged the need for the ceilings as a way of stopping a ruinous salary spiral in Quebec's public service.

They also have pressed the case for an end to the strikes in the six affected areas, as a matter of duty toward the children involved.

Expo To Reward Enthusiasm

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The centennial commission has officially recognized the enthusiasm of a 10-year-old boy here who was determined to get to Expo 67 as an athlete.

Sean Power, after hearing Fisher promoting the centennial Commissioner John Fosher promoting the centennial youth program, immediately began practising for the 300-yard dash—in the front hallway of his home.

During Sean's last practice session, he was unable to stop in time and went through a plate glass window. The resulting gash on his arm required 55 stitches.

Sean's mother, Mrs. Leonard A. Power, wrote Mr. Fisher about how seriously Sean had taken the talk and suggested "perhaps you might consider sending him a certificate as a centennial youth project participant for his efforts on behalf of Canada's 100th birthday."

The letter was passed on to the commission's athletic division chief, Ray Boucher, who said in a reply that such "over - enthusiastic preparation for attempting the athletic award tests . . . is deserving of recognition."

He said Sean would be awarded a signed certificate as a participant in the project, a gold-colored centennial pin and an emblem to wear on his school blazer.

SEIZE ON CONFUSION

China Peasants Are Making Hay

By FORREST C. EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP)—Many of China's 550,000,000 peasants are using the power struggle between Chairman Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi to loosen the economic yoke clamped upon them by Mao, specialists on the Chinese report.

Researchers studying Chinese regional broadcasts report a nationwide pattern of peasant opposition to production and distribution restrictions which they have suffered—largely in silence—since Mao forced them into communes in 1958.

Rooted in basic individual desire to better living conditions, the opposition is far more economic than political.

But competent professional analysts here, men who have the job of reporting on China to their governments, say it constitutes a major threat to Mao because the peasants, encouraged by Mao's enemies, are wrecking food production and setting the stage for both rural and urban crises next summer and fall.

Studying scores of regional broadcasts, one research team has come up with a pattern which they say is almost identical throughout China's rural areas.

ACTIONS VARIED

The peasants have:

—Distributed to themselves, through the communes, virtually all accumulated cash, food and material.

—Shared commune capital for next year's production.

—Sold collective - owned animals and distributed the cash.

—Raised their own food rations, thus eliminating much of the food that was destined for urban areas.

—Refused to yield farm products to the state.

—Stopped hot-bed cultivation of vegetable seedlings, restricting both winter production of vegetables and threatening early spring and summer production.

—Secreted carts, driven off draft animals, and otherwise sabotaged transportation of food from rural areas to stations from which the food was to move to urban areas.

—Organized peasant Red Guards, peasant movements and peasant armies to oppose pro-Mao cadres trying to restore rural order.

—Abandoned winter wheat cultivation, water conservation projects and land development programs on the pretext that they had to go to the cities to "help the cultural revolution."

—Demanded enlargement of private farm plots.

—Demanded that state collective production teams return both farm land and farm produce to them.

—Refused to carry out farm product accumulation programs or obey procurement orders.

—Refused to pay for tractor, water and electric services furnished by state-owned collectives.

Broadcast reports of the peasants' economic revolt come mainly from provincial stations in the hands of pro-Mao forces.

HOME GARDEN

Make List Of Plants At Start

By HILDA BEASTALL

At this stage of early planning for a flower garden of annuals, it helps to make list of plants which fulfill various purposes.

Hilda

One list of pink and red annuals, for instance; another of yellow and red; and shorter ones of white which is needed in small quantities, and of blue which needs to be seen at close range to be useful.

And then a special list of fragrant annuals together with their colors, so they may be used to full advantage where needed most.

Mixtures of all colors are found to be less attractive over a long summer period — the variety of color becomes tiring, whereas a blend of two colors is harmonious.

OPEN BEDS

Remembering that the majority of annuals require full, or nearly full, sun to be entirely successful, open beds are probably the best choice of site in gardens having sufficient space.

The problem of height is then of less importance, since all plants will receive equal light and will be viewed from all sides.

In any type of garden, fragrance should be considered as essential, but with annuals fragrance will only be all-pervading if a large number of the chosen plants are used.

A half dozen fragrant stocks will perfume the air immediately around them, but three or four dozen will shed fragrance over an entire city garden.

The same can be said of nicotines (Tobacco-plant) and the fragrant carnations and pinks.

If fragrance means anything in a garden, and surely all gardeners are agreed that it does, let us be sure that our early plan contains sufficient of these plants to be effective.

RCAF Board Opens Investigation Into Forbidden Plateau Crash

—CP Wirephoto

TWISTED FUSELAGE of death plane is examined by an RCAF corporal shortly after crash. Pilot, Flt.-Lt. David Barker, was killed instantly when plane plunged into heavily wooded hillside. The CL-41A Tutor trainer was practising aerobatics with another plane when it plunged to the ground.

COMOX—A board of inquiry today began investigating the jet crash which Wednesday killed crack stunt pilot David Barker.

The 30-year-old RCAF flight-lieutenant died in the wreckage of his Tutor training craft when it plunged on to the slopes of Forbidden Plateau, seven miles southwest of here shortly after noon.

Cause of the crash will not be established until the board has finished its inquiries.

But unofficial reports said the downed plane appeared to touch wingtips with an accompanying aircraft and "break up" before hitting the ground.

Said Mrs. Edwin Barnes, of Courtenay, who witnessed the crash: "I had been watching the planes for about 15 minutes. There were eight of them in a diamond formation with one doing stunts behind.

"They seemed awfully low, no more than 1,000 feet.

"They had been in a dive and were levelling out when one of the planes dropped out of the formation in a spin.

"He was in a nose dive and went straight down.

"It looked like the plane on the other side of the diamond clipped him."

Another witness, Jim Ellis, of Dove Creek, said: "It appeared as if another plane had hit him. Two parts of the tail assembly had been knocked off and were falling separately from the main body of the plane.

"I braced myself for an explosion, but there wasn't one—just a towering cloud of black smoke which poured out of the trees for more than an hour."

Mr. Ellis later visited the crash scene, about 150 yards from Forbidden Plateau Road and commented: "Most of the metal in the fuselage had melted and the trees nearby were all charred."

A second aircraft, piloted by another member of Canada's Golden Centennaire team, reportedly had a damaged wing when it landed at the RCAF base here.

Flight-Lieutenant Barker's plane crashed into tall timbers only a few miles from where skiers were practising on the snow-covered slopes.

An air-sea rescue helicopter which arrived on the scene within minutes was unable to approach the fiercely blazing wreck.

WRECKAGE GUARDED

When the flames eventually extinguished themselves a security guard was put on the aircraft.

The young flight-lieutenant is the second Golden Centennaire to die in less than five months.

Pilot Tom Bebb was killed in a crash at Portage la Prairie, Man., Oct. 4.

The team will perform aerobatics across Canada during centennial year.

Flt.-Lt. Barker, of Lakeview, Ont., was based with fellow pilots at Comox in order to practice for the opening of their show at Expo 67 in April.

Weather conditions on the Island are similar to conditions which can be expected in Montreal when the show opens. Temperature affects the way the 500-mile-an-hour jets handle.

A married man, Barker was seen by thousands across Canada when he held the coveted title of Red Knight for a year.

The Red Knight, chosen for his aerobatic capabilities, annually tours the country giving displays.

Barker had also been a member of the Golden Hawk aerobatic team.

Official Opening

DUNCAN — The new curling rink on Sherman Road will be officially opened Feb. 25. The rink is presently in use.

It's Now 'Official'—Two Words

SALT SPRING — In case that didn't sink in here it is again . . . SALT SPRING.

By an overwhelming majority, residents of that ancient Island to the north have plumped for the two-word spelling in favor of one.

Despite the Geographic Board of Canada and British Columbia Gazette, which show the spelling as Saltspring, the people who have to live with the name are in favor of Salt Spring.

A poll taken by the Times produced the following comments:

"I think journalists and map makers have adopted the one word to save time and space."

★ ★ ★

Another suggests that if we insist on the Saltpring spelling we should call ourselves the Dailytimes.

While the Geographic Board of Canada (now the Board of Geographical Names, as one writer points out) officially listed the one word, generations of Saltspringers (how about that one?) have favored the two.

In support of their own spelling, residents bring to light the following proof:

- The Land Titles Office in Victoria used two words in the island's title of 1906.
- The local post office has the separate names on its official cancellation stamp, which has to be approved by Ottawa.
- Various atlases use Salt Spring.

★ ★ ★

- Local businesses follow suit.
- The public library association as incorporated by the provincial government as Salt Spring.
- The dominion charter of the local branch of the Royal Canadian Legion (1931) shows two words.
- And the British Columbia Year Book of 1897 refers to Salt Spring.

As to why the Geographic Board and British Columbia Gazette used the one-word spelling will never be known.

One resident suggests: ". . . probably a typographical error. . . ."

AGAINST PETITION

DUNCAN—The Chamber of Commerce declined Wednesday to join its Lake Cowichan counterpart in canvassing signatures on a flood control petition.

Dick Benzies, chamber president, said no matter how many people signed a petition it didn't have the strong impact of a proper presentation of the facts.

Lake Cowichan is promoting the idea of controlling the flood level of the lake by blasting an escape channel for flood water to run to Nitinat Lake and out to the West Coast.

Speaking Tonight

DUNCAN — Professor J. C. Harper, director of the Behavioral Science Foundation at Simon Fraser University, was to be guest speaker at a meeting of Cowichan District Teachers Association here today.

Pair Committed for Trial; Dope Found in Teacherage

DUNCAN—Four ounces of marijuana were recovered by RCMP when they raided a Lake Cowichan house Jan. 18.

This was part of the evidence at a preliminary hearing here Wednesday when Lorraine Pearl Lecroix, 25, and Michael Eric Sollner, 19, both of Vancouver, were committed to assize court to stand trial on a charge of possession of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking.

District magistrate Eric Winch continued Sollner's bail at $2,000, but reduced Lecroix's bail from $2,000 to $1,000.

Sollner is a landed immigrant from the United States while Lecroix is a Canadian citizen.

A preliminary hearing of a possession charge against Eric Trokeloshvilli (also known as Trevil) will be heard at Nanaimo Friday.

At Wednesday's hearing Janus Paszlusics, a Lake Cowichn school teacher, said he went to Nanaimo Jan. 16 after fellow teacher Trevil asked him to pick up two friends who were coming from Vancouver to visit him.

Paszlusics said that while in his car the three passengers, Trevil, Lecroix and Sollner "smoked some cigarettes with a strange smell."

He said they arrived at Lake Cowichan and went to bed in the teacherage there.

Paszlusics said he was wakened about 2:45 a.m. when, he said: "The house smelled awful. It was some kind of smoke."

He told the court that before going back to sleep he saw something resembling dry hay lying on a table.

After speaking to high school colleagues, including the vice-principal, Paszlusics notified the RCMP of his suspicions.

The raid on the house was carried out by four police officers.

Constable D. G. Crealey, Victoria RCMP, said when he entered the house known as the teacherage he discovered Lecroix in bed and Sollner in a sleeping bag on the floor.

There was no one else present.

Crealey picked up a tin can from a night table and the substance found in it was subsequently tested and found to be marijuana.

B.C. Film Wins Top Travel Festival Award

A half-hour color film showing the Trans-Canada Highway in British Columbia has won the top award in a travel film festival in Detroit.

Entitled East 1 — West 1, it was produced by the photographic branch of the B.C. Recreation and Conservation Department. It won first prize at the annual travel film festival organized by the Michigan Outdoor Writers Association.

The film was written, directed and photographed by Wilfred Gray of the photographic branch. It illustrates things to see and do along the Trans-Canada Highway from the foothills of the Rocky Mountains in Alberta to the edge of the sea in Victoria.

F. W. E. Round, director of the photographic branch, said branch films have now won eight awards or citations at film festivals sponsored by the Michigan writers' group.

Change of Plea Bid Rejected by Court

DUNCAN — An attempt by William Blacklock, 19, to change a former "guilty" plea to "not guilty" failed Wednesday.

The Duncan millworker's Dec. 10 conviction for impaired driving, at which time he pleaded guilty, will stand.

At the time he was fined $350 and suspended from driving for a year.

Blacklock was charged after his car crashed into a power pole, plunging the city into total darkness and apparently causing a $50,000 fire in a nearby building supply store.

David R. Williams, counsel for Blacklock, argued that his client did not in the interval between his arrest and court appearance have the benefit of legal advice.

The fire subsequent to the accident had serious implications for Blacklock but he did not even know about the fire when he appeared and entered his plea, said his lawyer.

Mr. Williams said Blacklock was under the impression that his apprehension earlier in the day of the accident for consuming liquor in a public place meant he had no defence to the impaired charge.

He also submitted the facts of the case were not stated at the court hearing.

Crown witness Constable James Swanson said that in the cells after his arrest Blacklock was told about the fire and the serious damage done.

Judge L. Arnold Hanna held that Blacklock understood the charge and was fully aware of the circumstances. He ruled the application dismissed and the conviction and sentence upheld.

Blacklock paid the $350 fine.

Duncan Chamber Against Dropping Taxpayer Vote

DUNCAN — The Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island will be asked to go on record opposing capital projects by municipalities and school boards being undertaken without ratepayers' approval.

Duncan Chamber of Commerce Wednesday agreed to sponsor a resolution to this effect.

Will Dobson, director, said: "There has been some support voiced for a plan to push through certain projects without the tested medium of a bylaw vote by the owner-electors.

"The ACCVI should oppose such a plan and reaffirm its confidence in the traditional method of official ratepayer approval for such capital improvements."

Duncan chamber will also ask the ACCVI convention to work with the Motor Vehicles Branch to have a uniform testing of cars become more general on the Island.

Mr. Dobson said car testing should be made compulsory on the Island as it is in Vancouver.

TWO-CAMPUS PLAN STUDIED FOR MID-ISLAND COLLEGE

If approved by taxpayers, a regional college north of Nanaimo would be similar to the $5 million Selkirk College at Castlegar, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said Wednesday.

Interviewed in the legislative building corridor, Mr. Peterson said his department was considering a campus north of Nanaimo plus a sub-campus at Campbell River.

He said the department was presently concerned with the "feasibility" of a dual campus.

He said he hoped a vote would be taken this year on the contemplated college. A meeting this Friday has been arranged between up-Island school trustees and education department officials.

In the house, Mr. Peterson said a plebiscite is also in order for the proposed regional college in the Prince George area.

He said the department is working towards a student-staff ratio of 20 to 1 for academic colleges and a ratio of 15 to 1 for technical courses.

No Decision Yet on Boundary Question

DUNCAN — City hall is still waiting to hear from Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell about the fate of an application to extend Duncan's boundaries.

The city's application would give Duncan a much coveted deep-sea outlet at Cowichan Bay.

The boundary extension plan submitted to the minister extends Duncan to include Koksilah and south along the Trans-Canada Highway to just south of the intersection with Bench Road.

The city would take in all the area between the highway and the sea to the east, including sections of Indian reserve and the CNR wharf at Cowichan Bay.

It would also bring Eagle Heights subdivision, Cowichan golf course and Duncan zoo within the city bounds.

The plan would add approximately 1,000 people to the city's population.

Gordon Berry, city clerk, said Wednesday once the minister has completed his study of the plan it depends on whether or not 10 per cent of the people involved protest if a vote is necessary.

SPECIAL WEEK OF ACTIVITIES

Scouts Across Canada Plan Centennial Year Projects

By LEWIS LEVENDEL

OTTAWA (CP) — Boy Scout Week Feb. 19-27 kicks off an active year for 330,000 Canadian scouts who will participate in a variety of centennial events and projects including a world jamboree and a scout pavilion at Expo 67.

Fit for Citizenship is the theme for Centennial Year. Activities planned by local groups reflect the theme throughout the year and especially during scout week.

An official of the Boy Scouts of Canada at national headquarters in Ottawa said the theme was selected because "it would be most suitable to encourage among scouts a greater awareness of our country celebrating its 100th birthday."

The week will be officially opened Monday, Feb. 20, at an Ottawa ceremony with John Turner, 37, minister without portfolio, representing the federal government.

VISIT COURTS

Among projects planned by local groups for the week are learning the organization of local government, conducting anti-litter campaigns, attending court proceedings to learn about the judicial process, and putting on songfests with representatives of various ethnic groups.

A world jamboree marking the diamond jubilee of world scouting will be held in Farragut State Park in Idaho Aug. 1-9. Canada will send 1,440 representatives. Contingents from nearly 100 countries will be divided into 12 sub-camps. The program will include a skill-o-rama display centre known as Bonanza at which national groups will show their scouting skills, customs, folklore and culture.

At the Montreal world's fair scouts will operate an international scout centre, sponsor a series of international sporting events and provide a big hospitality camp for visiting scout groups. A similar program of service is planned for the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg July 22 to Aug. 7.

HELP HANDICAPPED

The Expo sports will include swimming, marksmanship, canoeing and archery. Presentation of awards will be made July 28, designated as Scout Day.

Another highlight of Centennial Year will be provincial jamborees in Nova Scotia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

A number of unusual centennial projects are planned. Toronto's project will be giving assistance to crippled and handicapped youngsters—a program called Scout - Guide Centennial Good Turn.

The Toronto group will make available for distribution by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind across Canada a number of story books and educational tapes. Motorized wheel chairs will be provided for handicapped children in the Toronto area.

In co-operation with the federal centennial commission, scouts are locating and, where necessary, tidying up the graves of the Fathers of Confederation.

The National Film Board is co-operating with scouts in another project—public showing by local groups of a series of films based on Canadian history and citizenship.

Negro Rate Higher

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American defence department reports that during 1966 the death rate in Vietnam was proportionately higher for Negro than for white U.S. servicemen.

Pentagon figures show that the Negro death rate was proportionately higher in the army and marine corps, but lower in the air force and navy, which suffered fewer casualties.

Of the 4,557 Americans killed in Vietnam during the first 11 months of 1966, the defence department said, 16.3 per cent were Negroes. During the first nine months of the year, Negroes made up 10.2 per cent of the total American force.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Karen Pritchard, age 9, of Louisville, Kentucky, for her question:

What is a loris?

The people of Malay call him the bashful cat. Long ago, Dutch travellers found him there and watched as he moved from bough to bough among the jungle trees. They had a word of their own that seemed just right for him. They called him the loris, from a Dutch name that means sloth — or lazybones.

The loris is at home in a steamy jungle. We can find him in the Philippines or Malaysia, in Southern India or Ceylon or in the tropical forests of Africa. He is a smallish, monkey-type fellow and one of the world's slowest slow-pokes. The smallest one is called the slender loris. He lives in India and Ceylon and in some ways he reminds you of a lazy — a very lazy — kitten who has lost his tail. However, he has monkey-type fingers and toes for clutching onto the boughs. His little round face has a little round nose and his little round ears are almost lost in his thick, grey, furry coat.

A loris has two huge, starry eyes and he looks at the world with a hazy stare. These eyes are the best kind for seeing at night. And night is the time for the furry slow-poke to go hunting for food. Perhaps he sees a moth in the greenery. Slowly, very slowly, he moves one hand, then a foot. He creeps along without rustling the leaves or making a sound. When he gets close enough, he makes a sudden lunge and grabs the moth in his hands. He also eats leaves and fruit and sometimes he catches a small lizard.

Before the sun rises, the lazy loris has filled his tummy and the time has come to sleep. He grasps a leafy branch with his strong fingers and toes and curls his furry body into a ball, tucking his little round nose down on to his furry tummy. He dozes all through the day and wakes up again after the sun sets.

Tree Dweller

The slender loris is slow, but compared with the grey loris of Malaysia, he is a whiz. This grey loris is so slow that he is called the slow loris. He is a fat, chubby fellow, almost twice as big as his slender cousin and more tha twice as slow. The Malay people call him the bashful cat because he often covers his face with his hands. They say that he sees spooks and hides his eyes so that he does not have to look at them. This, naturally, is nonsense. Some of their ideas about the harmless loris are even more unfair. They say that he is a sort of jinx and when a human crook gets caught, he often says that it was a witchy loris who made him commit the crime. Naturally, the furry little slow-poke had nothing to do with it.

There are several other loris animals in other jungles. All of them are tree dwellers. All of them doze through the day and do their dining after dark. As a rule, they do not bother to mix with their relatives and each loris keeps to himself. Mrs. Loris has only one baby at a time and this only child is fed on mother's milk. He stays with Mama until he learns the lazy ways of a loris. Then he goes off to live a lonely life of his own. If he does not meet with a fatal accident, he may live to be a real old-timer and celebrate 10 birthdays.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Kathy Meyer, age 10, of Sargent, Nebraska, for her question:

Where do wild gorillas live?

The big black apes are at home in tropical forests. Zoologists separate them into two slightly different races, but both races are natives of Africa. The coast gorilla makes his home in the thick-forested Cameroon mountains and wanders into tropical regions along the west African coast. The mountain gorilla lives farther inland. He wanders through the steamy jungles along the Congo River. Gorillas are not very plentiful, even in their native jungles. People who want to visit them must travel long, hot, hazardous journeys to gorilla country.

Even then, they may not see the big apes, for they are very shy. The male may be six feet tall and weigh 450 pounds, but as a rule he would rather hide than pick a fight. He roams the jungle with a family party of several wives and a troupe of growing children. When they choose to keep out of sight, they quietly merge with the jungle shadows and not even the sharpest human eyes can spot them.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR LEADER

Tory Glamor Boy Hees Tosses Hat Into Ring

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — George Hees, the long-time glamor boy of Conservative politics, today bounded into the fight for his party's leadership.

In an early morning announcement that surprised no one, Mr. Hees became one of the major contenders to succeed John Diefenbaker.

With his usual exuberance the former trade minister peeled off his pin-stripe jacket and revealed a pair of flaming red suspenders and a burning desire for the top job.

"I believe that I can unite the party into an effective modern political force," he said.

UNITED PARTY

"I further believe that this united party will provide the country with the decisive and progressive government which the Liberal party seems totally incapable of doing."

Mr. Hees thus became the fourth formally declared candidate for the leadership convention which will be held in Toronto in September.

At the moment his chief opponent is former justice minister E. Davie Fulton. The other contenders are Dr. Hugh Horner from Alberta, and John McLean, a little-known service station owner from Brockville, Ont.

MYSTERY

But along with his co-runners, Mr. Hees was unable to answer the mystery question as to the future leadership intentions of Mr. Diefenbaker himself.

"I have no idea whether Mr. Diefenbaker will be a candidate or not," was all he would say.

But he left no doubt that George Hees was running hard and running to win.

"I have never got into a contest of any kind that I didn't think I could win," he said with an engaging grin.

But if he lost he would be "100 per cent" behind the victor.

"The party makes this decision and it usually makes the right one," said Mr. Hees. "The people have extraordinarily good sense."

His aim is not only his party's leadership but the job of prime minister as well.

READY TO BATTLE opponents for the position of national Tory leader is former trade minister George Hees, who today became fourth candidate to succeed John Diefenbaker.

Using Barry Goldwater as an example Mr. Hees said there was no point running at all unless he could lead his party to victory.

"If you can't do that it is the most frustrating and disappointing thing in the world," he said.

"It is a pitiful thing if leaders can't lead their party to victory."

He quickly and succinctly replied to the delicate question of whether the Spence report on the Gerda Munsinger affair would affect his chances.

"I think that issue is over and done with and I don't hear anything about it any more," said Mr. Hees.

Although Mr. Hees was completely absolved of any impropriety in his acquaintance with the controversial Gerda, he received much publicity for his cocktails and lunch with the German blonde.

George Hees hits the headlines with almost everything he does because he is that kind of effervescent personality.

As Mr. Diefenbaker's transport minister and later in the trade portfolio Mr. Hees was labelled a swinger long before the go-go generation lurched on the scene.

His friends have sometimes fondly called him a one-man

Britain Wants to Trim NATO Forces in Europe

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—Britain maintained today there is at present "little danger of aggression" in Europe and that North Atlantic powers can easily trim their conventional forces on the continent with confidence.

Even the prospect of a large-scale war through miscalculation or accident is highly improbable, Defence Secretary Denis Healey maintained in a white paper that gave emphasis to the power of nuclear weaponry as the vital deterrent.

While arguing that a mutual reduction of NATO-Warsaw pact forces would be the best way of achieving a detente in Europe, Healey hinted that Britain may have to take action to withdraw some of its 50,000 troops in Germany later this year if West Germany does not increase defence purchases in Britain to offset fully the foreign-exchange costs of maintaining these troops.

If war should ever break out, Britain feels that nuclear weapons would be used within the first two days.

The old NATO concept is based on a 90-day conventional war. This has been gradually reduced to the point supplies are based on a 30-day conventional battle. Britain is reported to feel that supplies for just two weeks would be sufficient.

AIRLIFT FASTER

Healey maintained that improved air transport reduces the time required to shift home forces overseas.

Based on present forces available in Europe, "the allies could not fight a long war in Western Europe," he said. But the allies are still expected to maintain stocks of ammunition and supplies in Europe to cover a period far in excess of what their combat forces are capable of sustaining.

"By bringing logistic support more into balance with the capability of combat forces, savings could be made in both resources and foreign exchange," Healey maintained.

The labor government has promised to keep Britain's defence budget from rising beyond the 1964 figure of $6,000,000,000. Healey said his 1967-68 estimates are $219,000,000 below that figure. In the three years labor has been in power, the government has saved $2,250,000,000 on the defence program it inherited from the Conservatives, Healey said.

25,000 RETURN

More and more of Britain's troops are being brought back home. By April, 1968, about 25,000 men and 6,000 service families would be returned from places outside of Europe.

In terms of the war threat, Healey argued, the commotions in China and the changed political and economic situation within the Soviet Union could provide NATO allies with "a more confident view of Soviet intentions."

As for nuclear planning within NATO, the defence ministers, meeting as a separate body, had accomplished more in 12 months than the alliance had accomplished in the previous 17 years.

The alliance now has estab-

CAMBRIDGE DONS FLUNK TEST FOR 11-YEAR-OLDS

CAMBRIDGE, England (Reuters) — Fifteen per cent of the science instructors at Cambridge University are not bright enough to pass the intelligence tests given to 11-year-old British schoolchildren, says a survey made public today.

The survey of 148 science dons revealed that 15 per cent had an intelligence quotient below 118, the score needed to pass the "11-plus" exams.

The results could have significance for Britain's educational system, which has used the "11-pluses" to segregate students by intellect. A child who fails the "11-plus" is generally sent on to a trade school, and has little chance of entering a first-rate university.

The survey showed, however, that some teachers with so-called "first-class degrees"—graduates with high honors—had IQs as low as 110. In one department, the man rated by everyone as the best scientist proved to have the lowest IQ.

The majority of the teachers failed to reach the 130 needed to be classed as brilliant. They were merely "bright."

Two members of the university's genetics department conducted the survey as part of a study of the origins and abilities of the science teachers.

Dr. John Gibson, one of the surveyors, said: "This shows that IQ tests are an extremely unreliable guide to a person's ability."

Quebec Dispute Fanned

Protestant Teachers Want Bill Deferred

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — A potentially explosive telegram addressed to Lieutenant-Governor Hughes Lapointe from the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers today added conflict over language and religion to the already severe crisis aroused by the provincial government's schools bill.

The telegram, signed by Miss Ann Macleish, president of the PAPT, asks the lieutenant-governor to reserve sanction of the bill, on the grounds that it violates the Protestant education rights guaranteed by section 93 of the British North America Act.

The bill, approved in third reading by the legislature at 3 a.m. today, provides for the establishment of a provincial standard of salaries and working conditions for all the province's teachers. It thus narrows the autonomy of the school boards which have been denominationally separate.

Constitutionally, the lieutenant-governor could reserve the bill for a year. After a year it would become law, unless disallowed by the federal government.

IMPLICATIONS GREAT

Although Premier Daniel Johnson and Liberal opposition leader Jean Lesage carefully refrained from comment on the political implications of the request, they are enormous.

Observers at the legislature were unanimous in viewing this complaint from the Protestant — and English-speaking — minority as a major assist to Mr. Johnson in his campaign to win public support for the controversial bill.

French-speaking Quebecers are acutely aware that the province's English-speaking minority injoys privileges denied to the French-speaking minorities of the other provinces.

They are also aware that the guarantees given the English-speaking Protestants of Quebec under confederation have been scrupulously observed, while other provinces took away the rights granted by the BNA to their French-speaking minorities.

Premier Johnson had already touched on the resentment aroused by this inequality in the debate on the bill.

Arguing that the bill would provide equal standards of education for all in Quebec, Mr. Johnson said, "gone are the days when the Anglo-Protes-

CHAIRMAN of Commons defence committee, David Groos (right) of Victoria, chats with dismissed Rear-Admiral Landymore before the start of Landymore's testimony in Ottawa. (CP Wirephoto.)

LANDYMORE WARNS . . .

Military Coup Possible Under Single Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Rear-Admiral William Landymore said today safeguards should always be built into the Canadian military establishment to cover any potential danger of a coup.

He said in the Commons defence committee that Mobile Command is a huge command with one man in charge responsible to one man.

It would be sensible to split this command into three geographical areas to remove any "potential hazard."

The dismissed commander of Maritime Command was replying to a series of questions by Robert Andras (L. — Port Arthur) based on the admiral's assertion Wednesday in a brief to the committee that Mobile Command is dangerous to Canadian democracy.

DON'T TAKE RISK

Admiral Landymore said today no one in the armed forces would ever dream of attempting a coup but that "we should never take even a calculated risk."

He said he is not suggesting the chief of Mobile Command wants to take over the government.

Mr. Andras said Admiral Landymore must be thinking of someone like Dr. No or Mr. Goldfinger.

He said a coup would require the collusion of Air Transport and Material Commands.

Admiral Landymore said he has never studied the matter but that a coup would be possible under the guise of an exercise.

WIRE BRIEFS

Heavy Snowfall

TORONTO (CP)— A winter storm dumped up to eight inches of snow on parts of Northern Ontario overnight and today and snapped power lines in the southern regions of the province.

Ship Hits Bottom

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — The destroyer Algonquin struck the harbor bottom and collided with a jetty at the naval armament depot here today. The navy said the ship's steering motors were damaged and there was minor damage to her stern. No one was injured.

Fiery Trail Seen

COLORADO SPRINGS,, Ohio (AP) — A piece of a Soviet rocket booster that was launched Feb. 8 left a fiery trail all along the U.S. west coast Wednesday night as it fell back to earth, North American Air Defence Command reported today.

Storm Victims

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP(— Six children were injured today when high winds ripped off a ventilator cap and hurled it on them as they were at recess in the yard of the Blessed Sacrament grammar school. One girl was knocked unconscious by the five-foot-square metal piece.

Two Whale Families Captured

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Ted Griffin, director of the Seattle Marine Aquarium, captured an undetermined number of killer whales Wednesday night after getting an assist from the U.S. Coast Guard.

The whales were captured in the Yukon Harbor area of Puget Sound.

"It looks as if we have two pods — two families — with 10 or more whales ranging from small to pretty good size bulls," Griffin said. He said it was too dark to tell for sure.

The whales were spotted Tuesday by the coast guard at Port Angeles, Wash. The coast guard notified Griffin, who started the hunt Wednesday morning.

Assisting in the capture were the captain and crew of the purse seiner Chinook, a helicopter, an airplane and two assistants of Griffin.

Griffin said he hopes to bring the whales to Seattle in a travelling pen 80 feet square and 30 feet deep. His first killer whale, Namu, captured in British Columbia waters, accidentally drowned in his aquarium pen last year.

Offensive Plan Set In Truce

SAIGON (UPI) — An estimated 30,000 allied troops struck Communist forces across South Vietnam today in a massive new grand strategy that killed about 600 guerrillas in a day but boost a record 13 United States helicopters shot down.

The latest offensive in an unprecedented series of major operations reportedly planned during last week's lunar new year truce burst into the jungles 315 miles north of Saigon.

There, 17,000 U.S. and South Korean troops formed a three-pronged attack. About 1,500 leathernecks stormed ashore today for operation Deckhouse VI on one side to drive an elite Communist force — said to be North Vietnamese — into the guns of the entire U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division and units of the 25th Infantry Division plus government troops pincering in from north and south in Operation Pershing.

The massive new action coincided with an announcement that 107 Americans were killed, 1,015 wounded and one missing in combat last week in spite of the four-day new year's ceasefire.

SLIGHT INCREASE

The combined casualties represented a slight increase over the previous week's total toll of dead, wounded and missing, and raised the war's casualty toll to 8,897 Americans killed and 42,754 wounded.

U.S. spokesmen reported four Americans killed and eight wounded in the helicopter losses.

"We are slowly taking a (Communist) battalion (about 800 men) apart," said one 1st Air Cavalry battalion commander, Lt.-Col. Robert Stevenson of Ponca City, Okla.

His men, using 45-calibre pistols fitted with home-made silencers made from discarded chocolate milk cans and medical gauze, wiggled into a maze of jungle tunnels, routing the guerrillas out of their longtime coastal bastion.

WORST DAY

But the big fights and the big kills came elsewhere. About 2,000 Vietnamese troops whirled by American helicopters to the tip of the southern Mekong Delta jumped into a Viet Cong battalion Wednesday.

They killed 255 Communists, but the guerrilas shot down 10 U.S. helicopters—nine troop carriers and one medical chopper. All but one of the helicopters was recovered.

Three more helicopters went down elsewhere, making it the worst day of the war for American helicopters. The worst previous day was Feb. 4, when nine 'copters were downed.

In the 4th infantry division fight near the Cambodian border, 6,000 American troops in Operation Sam Houston reported killing 74 Communists Wednesday. But two U.S. companies suffered "moderate" casualties in the jungles.

CRACK aerobatic pilot, Flight Lieutenant David Barker, was killed instantly Wednesday when his jet trainer plunged to earth on the slopes of Forbidden Plateau south of Courtenay. (See story and picture page 36.)

CHARGES FLY IN DEFENCE HEARING

Groos Studies Subpoena Demand

Times News Services

OTTAWA — A demand was made in the Commons defence committee today that Rear-Admiral Robert Welland be subpoenaed to testify.

He has said he is too busy to appear.

Chairman David Groos, Victoria MP, said he would have to obtain legal advice on whether he could force Admiral Welland to attend.

He made the ruling after a row in the committee concerning a visit by Mr. Groos and Grant Deachman, Liberal chairman of Commons committees, to Admiral Welland's house last July 14.

Dismissed Rear-Admiral William Landymore testified today that Mr. Groos and Mr. Deachman both knew about the compulsory retirements of various admirals.

The argument centred around whether Mr. Deachman knew specifically about Admiral Landymore's firing before public disclosure of it.

Mr. Deachman said he didn't know about Admiral Landymore's dismissal until it appeared in the newspapers. He said the admiral should telephone Admiral Welland right away and ask him what took place. He said he was at Admiral Welland's house at the time in question.

Admiral Landymore said: "Why not do better and bring Welland here?"

Mr. Deachman, member for Vancouver Quadra, said that if Admiral Landymore had made a false allegation he was sure he would want to correct it because the admiral is an honorable man.

Michael Forrestall (PC—Halifax) said Mr. Deachman was present and he could tell about what went on at Admiral Welland's house.

Admiral Landymore said Admiral Welland had personally told him about the meeting and that he was prepared to testify about it.

Mr. Deachman said this should be arranged. Mr. Groos agreed.

Gordon Churchill, a former Conservative defence minister, said both Mr. Groos, member for Victoria, and a former navy officer, and Mr. Deachman knew about the retire-

LBJ SEEKS AID FOR CONSUMERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent Congress today a 12-point program which he said would "protect the American consumer."

It calls for stiffer regulation of consumer loans, mail-order land sales, mutual funds, welfare and pension plans, some medical laboratories and natural gas pipelines.

Johnson summed up the program in these words:

"The cost to taxpayers of carrying out these proposals is very small. The savings to them as consumers will be great—in dollars, in safety, and in peace of mind."

The president again urged Congress to enact a "truth-in-lending" law that would make certain the U.S. instalment buyer is told the percentage rate of interest in carrying charges he must pay on his purchases.

COMMITTEE HEAD CONFIDENT

Legislation on Way To Curb Credit Abuse

OTTAWA (CP) — Senator David Croll is confident that most of his committee's recommendations on consumer credit controls will find their way onto the statute books of the federal and provincial governments.

The main recommendations, he told a press conference Wednesday when the recommendations were unveiled, are "to all intents and purposes, already a fait accompli."

The federal government is winning parliamentary approval of Bank Act amendments which will require full disclosure of interest rates and service charges on chartered bank loans. Many of the provinces have, or are enacting, similar legislation in the provincial field.

This, the Liberal senator from Ontario said, will naturally lead to disclosure of true interest rates in advertising of consumer loan and credit facilities.

"Advertising cannot be far behind, and if they are smart the finance companies will quickly clear this situation, up," Senator Croll said.

He also expressed confidence that the Senate - Commons committee's proposal for low-interest long-term bank loans to low-income families, backed by government guarantees, will be acted upon.

PROTECTS POOR

The purpose is to "take the poor people out of the hands of the money - changers and put them in the hands of lenders under government auspices," he said.

The loans would be only for families with income of $4,000 a year or less, would be limited to $1,500, and would be granted only for purchase of equipment necessary to maintain family life.

Ron Basford (L—Vancouver-Burrard), Commons co-chairman of the committee, gave full credit for the work to Senator Croll. The Toronto senator first introduced an interest-disclosure bill in the Senate in 1960.

The main committee recommendation was:

"That every person, firm or corporation, including every chartered bank, carrying on the business of extending consumer credit, shall be required by law to disclose to the consumer the total cost of that credit, expressed both as a lump sum and in terms of simple annual interest."

Caught in the squeeze are revolving credit and other so-called budget - plan accounts operated by some big department stores.

It did not say what ceiling should be put on interest, but recommended the government consider one. It endorsed extension of the Small Loans Act of 1940 to cover loans up to $5,000 instead of $1,500.

This same recommendation was made by the royal commission on banking and finance headed by Chief Justice Dana Porter of Ontario. That report recommended interest of one per cent a month, or 12 per cent a year for loans up to $5,000.

Senator Croll said the committee supports this, by implication, but the rate might have to be higher for normal consumer credit in order to attract investment money.

However, he said, the guaranteed bank loans for poor families should carry interest only sufficient to cover administration and insurance in addition to chartered bank prime lending rates. This would put such loans currently at 6½ to seven per cent.

The banks need not make money on such loans, Senator Croll said. They should provide the service, in return for making good customers of the borrowers after they get themselves out of financial difficulties.

RANGES WIDE

The 40,000 - word report is likely to become a standard reference textbook in the consumer credit field. Its recommendations applied to credit purchases of farm machinery, and to loans for Indians wanting to leave their reserves and settle in urban life.

But the whole of the report tackled two main problems.

"The first concerns the troubles besetting those who buy on credit without understanding the price they are paying for borrowing.

"The second concerns the plight of low-income families who are from time to time in desperate need of credit for necessary goods or services but to whom commercial credit is either not readily available or not available at all."

Confederation Train 'Insult to Canadians'

CASTLEGAR, B.C. (CP) — A college historian said today the Confederation Train is a glossy Madison Avenue presentation and an insult to the average Canadian.

John Munro, history instructor at Selkirk College here, commented after a weekend visit to the train:

"It is based on the assumption that if the public is told how wonderful the train is often enough, they won't question it. It really is a piece of unhistory — if there is such a word."

Mr. Munro said the train deliberately plays down Canada's British and French traditions and implies an absence of British-French conflict.

"It creates a false notion of unity and seems to promote the new Canadianism to which the present government is so enamored.

"This is a slick attempt, in many ways, to rewrite Canadian history," he said. "The train warrants criticism because this thing is being paid for by our money."

Union Leaders Freed From Jail

CHILLIWACK (CP)—Union leaders Paddy Neale and Tom Clarke were released from prison Wednesday, six weeks before their six-month terms were to end.

Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labour Council, was released from an Oakalla prison farm work camp and Clarke was released from Oakalla prison in Burnaby.

Solicitor-General Pennell announced in the Commons Tuesday that both men, given six-month terms for contempt of court, would be released early.

Neale and Clarke were convicted of contempt of court for participating in demonstrations outside Lenkurt Electric Co. in Burnaby after the Supreme Court had issued an injunction prohibiting demonstrations.

PENSION LINK QUERIED

Sales Tax Hike Hit by NDP

OTTAWA (CP)—The NDP described the increase in the federal sales tax to 12 per cent from 11 as iniquitous Wednesday and presented a motion in the Commons that would cancel it and the increased maximum tax payable for old age security.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said there is an impression in the country that revenue from the increased tax would go toward old age pensions when it actually it is directed to the government's general fund.

A bill authorizing the tax increase and a raise to $240 from $120 in the maximum tax Canadians must cough up each year for old age security was given first reading.

But Mr. Knowles moved second reading of the legislation be delayed for six months. This would mean the bill would die on the order paper this session and would have to be presented at the next session of Parliament.

The new taxes were announced in Mr. Sharp's supplementary budget Dec. 19. They came into effect Jan. 1 this year.

Mr. Knowles said the sales increase was unfair to old age pensioners and that Mr. Sharp was "doing a disservice to the country" in introducing it.

The increase was "so objectionable and iniquitous" that the NDP wanted to "register our unqualified opposition."

Mrs. Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver-Kingsway) said the government had increased the cost of living in Canada by raising taxes.

John B. Stewart, parliamentary secretary to the minister of public works, said Mrs. MacInnis agreed additional taxes were needed to provide the increase from $75 to $105 in old age pensions for persons proving need. What taxes would she raise?

Mrs. MacInnis said it wasn't her business to raise taxes. She was being asked her opinion on the increase in the sales tax and she opposed it.

Gerard Laprise (Creditiste—Chapleau) said he favored the NDP amendment. Raising the sales tax didn't mean more revenue necessarily since Canadians would not be able to buy as much as they had.

A. B. Patterson (SC—Fraser Valley) said that while the joint parliamentary committee was looking into rising prices, the government was adding to the cost of living.

Debate was to continue in the Commons today on the NDP motion.

The Senate, earlier adjourned to Feb. 28, has been recalled for today to consider the deposit insurance bill given third reading in the Commons Tuesday.

A Statement by John M. Keith, President,
Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Limited

Rising Costs Force Increase In Prices of Tobacco Products

The prices of cigarettes and tobaccos to our wholesale distributors have been increased with effect from February 20th, 1967.

The retail prices should not increase more than 10¢ per carton of 200 cigarettes and proportionately on pipe and plug tobaccos, and fine cut tobaccos for "roll-your-own" cigarettes. Prices have not been increased on cigars, snuff or cigarette papers.

Price changes have been made necessary by increases in cost beyond our control:

1) The increased purchase price of the 1966 flue-cured leaf tobacco crop is averaging more than 10% over the 1965 crop. The added cost to us for the 1966 crop is estimated at more than $4,000,000.

2) The recently announced increase of Federal sales tax from 11% to 12%, an effective 9% increase on the amount of tax that must be paid on all our sales, is estimated to cost us more than $2,000,000 in 1967.

Most of the tobacco used in Canadian cigarettes is flue-cured leaf tobacco grown in southern Ontario and these tobacco growers, through their Marketing Board, control the number of acres planted. The result has been a tight market in leaf tobacco, aggravated for Canadian manufacturers by increased demands from overseas buyers, primarily due to the unresolved Rhodesian situation. Flue-cured leaf tobacco in Ontario has risen from an average of 56 cents a pound for the 1964 crop to 66 cents a pound for the 1965 crop and an average of 73 cents a pound for the 1966 crop so far. (The 1966 crop is still being sold.)

While manufacturing improvements have helped offset rising costs of salaries, wages, materials and services through the years, we could not entirely absorb these exceptionally large increases in the cost of our principal raw material, so that our price to distributors was increased an average of 2.4% in August 1966. Since then, continuing increases in costs, the further jump in leaf tobacco prices and the increase in federal sales tax have made the present price changes necessary.

It may be well to underline that our marketing expenditures for advertising and promotions in the last two years have been held at the same level despite similarly rising costs of materials and services.

To sum up the situation of the last two years:

1) Flue-cured leaf tobacco prices have advanced	32%
2) Imperial Tobacco prices to distributors have advanced	2.4%
3) Retail prices to consumer per package have advanced on average	5%

Apart from the above, on every package of cigarettes, substantially more than half of the price you pay is tax levied by the Federal and Provincial Governments. The Federal tax alone on a package of 25 cigarettes is more than 25 cents.

I have attempted to describe in clear terms the realities facing the Company.

If you would like additional information on any of these points, please do not hesitate to write to me.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Dome Petroleum Backs Off

Dome Petroleum backed off in trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange after a company spokesman denied rumors of a takeover bid.

The stock fell 1¼ to 46¼ after it had jumped five on Wednesday.

The spokesman also added that he knew of no reason for the stock's sudden popularity.

Dome's wild run caught the market by surprise as investors spiritedly bid the price up amid rumors that the company would be taken over by a U.S. firm.

Among other oils, Provo fell 10 cents to 5.30, Scurry-Rainbow ¾ to 20 and Central Del-Rio ⅛ to 12⅛.

The New York market softened establishing a lower trend in the ratio of declines to advances.

AT TORONTO industrials weakened and wiped out fractional gains scored earlier in the week.

A number of analysts said the market was due to subside following the sharp gains of last month.

Corby's was down 1 to 25¾ and Alcan and Magna Electronics ⅜ each to 34⅝ and 11. Massey-Ferguson gained ⅜ to 27¼.

AT NEW YORK National Airlines was the volume pacemaker, losing about three points. It was closely followed by Sperry Rand up nearly a point.

Scott-Foresman slid about 1½ in active dealings. MCA and Colt Industries rose between 1 and 2 points. Delta Airlines sank three points. American telephone, despite record earnings, backtracked from an early fractional gain and traded about unchanged.

IBM dropped four points.

AT MONTREAL industrials and papers slid lower while the rest of the market was mixed in active trading today. Domtar and Price Co. each lost ½ to 18 and 13, respectively, while Great Lakes Paper eased ¼ to 25.

Distillers-Seagrams and Famous Players each were off ¼ to 37½ and 35½. Phillips Cables was off ½ to 44½ and Power Corp. ¼ to 11¼. Imperial Oil was lower by ⅜ to 60⅛ and Inco ⅝ to 95⅞.

AT LONDON the market presented a generally irregular appearance today.

The market was pleased with the Imperial Chemical Industries dividend and the share price moved up to 37s 3d after a preliminary earnings statement by the company but later slipped back to 36s 9d, a net gain of 4½d.

Among the other leaders, EMI was firm and Rank Organization improved on color television prospects.

In rails, Canadian Pacific was dull, in line with North American stocks. Alcan lost 1¾ to 70½ and Noranda dropped 1½ to 116½. Algoma, International Nickel, British-American Oil, West Coast Transmission and Trans Canada Pipe were other Canadian stocks to move lower.

AT VANCOUVER industrials showed strength and the recent fast pace in mining speculatives eased in pre-noon trading today.

Inland Natural Gas climbed .25 to a new high of $11.50, while Woodwards A was up .50 at $25 and CPR jumped $3.37 to $62.62.

Prices held firm in slower mines trading. Bata, Ace and Hogan all gained .05 and Lytton tacked on .07 to .73. Torwest lost .05 at .76. Pyramid dipped .15 to $4.10 and Brenda gained .35 to $7.35.

Car Pact Probe Demanded in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) said Wednesday he would subpoena records of U.S. car makers for a congressional investigation of the effects of the two-year-old automotive trade agreement with Canada.

Calling the pact an "illegal price-fixing" scheme, Hartke told the Senate he would request a hearing by the Senate finance committee on all aspects of the agreement.

Hartke said neither Detroit nor the White House would provide details of U.S. jobs lost through the agreement. It was designed to permit duty-free movement of cars and parts across the Canada-U.S. border.

'LOST JOBS'

"This much is certain — we lost jobs," Hartke said. "We lost industry. Our favorable balance of trade in auto products has been cut in half. We are paying unemployment compensation to our displaced workers, while Canada is enjoying the greatest plant expansion in history."

Under the agreement, Hartke said, a growing number of U.S. firms were moving production to Canadian plants. At the same time, he said the Canadian government was forcing the U.S. firms to make large capital investments to expand their Canadian facilities.

"The shroud of secrecy surrounding the impact of this Canadian agreement is an appalling disgrace," he charged.

Car Sales Drop Blamed On Weather

DETROIT (AP) — Wintry weather has received much of the blame in the latest sales slump and production lag reported by the U.S. auto industry.

Industry executives Monday reported a 20.6-per-cent drop in sales for the first 10 days this month and said snowstorms and zero or below-zero temperatures that hit large areas of the United States were a major cause.

While fierce weather apparently kept some buyers away from auto showrooms, it prevented many auto workers from reaching their jobs.

The report of sales losses dovetailed with simultaneous losses or cuts in production and the highest inventory of unsold new autos for any Feb. 1 in history. One firm, American Motors Corp., closed its plants Monday for two weeks to bring its production in balance with sales and inventory.

All the major carmakers, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors, reported drops in sales for the first 10 days of the month as compared to the same February period last year. The difference averaged 20.6 per cent.

So far this year not one 10-day sales period has equalled its counterpart of last year.

Easier Money Signs Grow

NEW YORK (AP) — New signs of an easing of the money situation appeared last week in the United States.

This trend has been credited in part for the strong advance by the stock market in January.

The latest developments:

—Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York posted rate reductions ranging to ¼ percentage point on its negotiable certificates of deposit.

—First Western Bank and Trust Co. of Los Angeles reduced its real estate loan rate to 6.75 per cent from 7 per cent.

—Several finance companies and lending institutions reduced the interest charged automobile dealers on loans to finance car inventories.

Recently Chase Manhattan Bank sliced its prime rate — the interest charged the biggest and most credit-worthy borrowers — to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent. Other major banks came down to 5¾ per cent but Chase stuck with its bigger reduction.

Japan Remains Interested In Oil Sands

EDMONTON (CP)—A spokesman for Japan Petroleum Exploration Co. Ltd. says the company still is investigating the possibilities of the Athabasca oil sands, but "it has been decided we will do something."

The Japex spokesman said in an interview that something more definite might be announced about the end of March.

There has been speculation the company, controlled by the Japanese government, is considering a $300,000,000 oil sands processing plant in the vicinity of Fort McMurray, 250 miles northeast of Edmonton.

It has been estimated the oil sands contain the largest known oil reserve in the world.

Sun Life Jumps Payments To Policyholders

MONTREAL (CP) — Alistair M. Campbell, president of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, told the annual meeting that sales in 1966 were $1,316,463,000, increasing total life insurance in force by seven per cent to $14,447,064,000.

Payments to policyholders, beneficiaries and annuitants during 1966 increased $18,197,000 to $263,362,000.

Mr. Campbell also announced an increase in dividends to policyholders in 1967 which will bring total dividend payments to an estimated $67,279,000, an increase of $7,881,000 over 1966 dividends.

Markets Must Refurbish Image

MONTREAL (CP) — Charles B. Neapole, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, says the tarnished image of Canada's financial markets should be refurbished to restore the glamor his country's securities once held in international markets.

Modernization of securities legislation is a must, he said.

Mr. Neapole called for a national policy of regulation and uniformity and said this was the only way "recognizable and international stature could be given to all our capital markets."

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—A report of possible drought conditions in parts of the winter wheat belt of the U.S. Southwest sent wheat prices rolling ahead on the grain futures exchange of the Chicago Board of Trade today.

The bread grain bulged more than 2½ cents within minutes after the opening. There was some moderate profit-taking at mid-morning, but most wheat deliveries advanced again beyond two cents a bushel before the close.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Price advances in all commodities were noted today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and the upturns were attributed to the report of dry weather conditions in U.S. winter wheat areas.

Rapeseed drew most of the attention, recording an aggressive demand and sharp advances.

A moderate trade was recorded in oats and barley where prices held to a narrow range in mostly domestic business.

Rye received some stimulation from an unfavorable report from the U.S. indicating severe weather in winter wheat areas.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were all unchanged.

'Ottawa Pulled The Rug Out'

Province Whipping Boy On Education—Peterson

By GLEN ALLEN

Minister of Education Leslie Peterson, whose department spends more than one-quarter of the provincial budget, Wednesday charged the federal government with sabotaging cost-sharing arrangements.

In his budget debate address, he said Ottawa is withdrawing from the conventional fields of education.

He charged that in university financing the federal government has made "whipping boys" of the province.

He said it is a "gun-at-head" proposition by the federal government.

FORCED ACTION

"In other words," he said, "should it be necessary for the provincial government to impose increased taxation for university funds, the federal government is prepared to do likewise, but Ottawa will take the stand that federal taxation is being increased only because the province has forced such action.

"On the other hand, if the province struggles to finance university costs without increasing taxation the federal government can easily take the stand that if the province would only provide more money they would do likewise.

"So, whichever way the province moves on university financing, we are the 'whipping boys'."

PULLS OUT RUG

The minister also charged Ottawa with "pulling the rug out from under our feet" in the financing of vocational schools.

Terming the late Technical and Vocational Training Agreement "one of the best cost-sharing programs ever advanced by any federal government anywhere," he said, "we mourn its passing."

BRIGHT JEWEL

"For this bright jewel in Canada's crown to be abandoned in this, our Centennial Year, is a great tragedy."

He said the new vocational school cost-sharing formula can only lead to a greater distortion of the educational system.

Mr. Peterson said what he had hoped Ottawa would do would be to extend the vocational school plan—a per-capita grant arrangement—to universities.

EXPENDITURES

The costs of higher education in the 1967 budget would be increased by more than $23 million over last year's costs.

"Nevertheless," he said, "our expenditures must be judged in the light of other indispensable expenditures.

"I do not appreciate being the target of what sometimes seems to be a massive pressure play on the part of the universities."

NEW CLASSROOMS

Speaking of primary and secondary education Mr. Peterson told the house 1,151 new classrooms were authorized during 1966, "more than ever before in our history."

He said public schools had a population this year of 440,000, as compared to 183,000 in 1951-52.

The government spent $46 million in school building construction last year, he said, an increase of 176 per cent over four years.

BOND ISSUE

Referring to the $25 million bond issue announced Monday he said it meant a green light for further construction this year.

Mr. Peterson also said that less than half the classrooms in the province had more than 35 pupils.

AMENDMENT

And he said: "It is my intention to introduce at this session an amendment to the Public Schools Act which will reduce the maximum ratio in this category (pupil-to-teacher ratio) to 36-to-1 from 37-to-1.

The provincial grants to school districts, at $101 million, he said, were an increase of 17.5 per cent over last year.

End Seen To School Crowding

Education Minister Leslie Peterson admitted to the House Wednesday that there are "still swingshifts and crowded classrooms" in B.C. schools.

But he predicted the end to the problem, at least for the elementary schools, is less than three years off.

"We estimate that the total elementary school population, kindergarten to Grade 7, will reach its peak of about 320,000 in the 1969-70 school year."

He also said it may drop slowly thereafter for the next few years.

He told the House he based his predictions on the number of births (plus immigraion), noting a decrease in birth rate over six years of about 30 per cent.

Adult Education Grows Quickly Across Province

According to Education Minister Leslie Peterson, mother and dad, like their children, will soon be taking up their book satchels and heading for the little red schoolhouse.

Education was once considered a terminal thing, the minister told the house Wednesday.

"It is now a life-long process."

Mr. Peterson said 80 of the 85 school districts in the province are involved in adult education in varying degrees.

He cited one school in Coquitlam with 1,700 adult registrations in credit and non-credit courses.

He said 150,000 adults were in schools in the province this year.

VANCOUVER BOOM

The Vancouver school board alone, he said, has 24 night school centres and offers more than 450 courses.

He also noted that nearly half of the department's correspondence branch students were over 19 years of age.

Irish Tickets Seized

MONTREAL (CP) — City police have seized 29,400 Irish sweepstake tickets with a sale value of $102,900 and have arrested a man they called a major distributor of the illegal lottery tickets.

FIRE SIRENS won't mean the same to Fire Chief James B. Allan in future. But after 37 years in the Victoria Fire Department the betting is that it will be a long time before he stops reacting automatically to the wail of a speeding fire truck. Wednesday afternoon Mayor Hugh Stephen praised the retiring chief for his outstanding service to the community and presented him with an aluminum plaque to mark the veteran firefighter's step-down from office. Present for the occasion were Mrs. Allan, Ald. Percy Frampton, chairman of the fire wardens committee, and newly appointed Deputy Chief R. J. Coates. (Robin Clarke photo.)

ESSENTIAL CONSTRUCTION RESUMES

Schools Get Money Now

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. School Trustees Association was told Wednesday that release of $17,000,000 for school construction by the provincial government will mean resumption of most essential school construction.

Frank Beinder, of Trail, president of the BCSTA said at a press conference that Premier Bennett and Education Minister Peterson assured him in Victoria Tuesday the money would be forthcoming immediately from cash resources.

"The release of the money won't eliminate school swing shifts entirely," Mr. Beinder said. "But planning ahead for new rooms needed for the 1967-68 school year now is possible."

The premier and Mr. Peterson stressed the money would be used for essential construction only and not for gymnasiums and activity rooms, Mr. Beinder said.

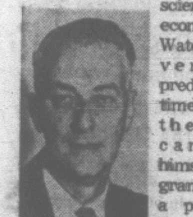
VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, FEB. 16, 1967—PAGE 23

Arthur Mayse

Were it not that prophets tend to have a lousy batting average, I would be convinced that the dignity of man is no longer worth shucks. This because of two press accounts and one incident that have come to my attention in the last few days.



One story quotes Donald Gordon, professor of political science and economics at Waterloo University, as predicting a time when the student can have himself programmed to a personalized computer.

"People shouldn't be able to hide within themselves," the prof is credited with declaring. "All their vulnerabilities and prejudices and so on could be programmed."

The second shocker, this one of U.S. origin, suggests that the geneticists are well along with experimentation which would eventually produce customized humans on order.

There are frightening possibilities, we are told, that science will be in a position to control human behavior by the time the century has ended.

On top of all this, a newly-computerized outfit with which we do business has just asked us to pony up $71.50 in a lump, instead of spreading the payments as agreed.

The reason given, accompanied by a laugh that seemed to hint of secret terror, was that the computer insisted on such an arrangement and would mark us in arrears each month if we didn't do its bidding.

★

What this adds up to in your book, I don't know. But I hope you will agree that the watchdogs of humanity should begin to bark both loud and long.

This thing that threatens the race is a science fiction plot transferred from the late, late shows to this earth we inhabit!

George Orwell (who, significantly, committed suicide) foretold part of the nightmare in his chilling novel, '1984.' That's only 17 years away; and I really think we must bestir ourselves.

While I have every respect for Prof. Gordon, and was pleased to see that he marked himself as uncustomized by arriving for a Uvic panel discussion the other night in a belted trenchcoat, I find his doctrine of universal exposure absolutely appalling.

Even the slaves who toiled their lives away on Egypt's pyramids were permitted to hide within themselves. The inner self is humanity's only true retreat. Here and here only can we be individual, and unmechanized.

While it isn't nice to club others with our prejudices, we have a perfect right to them, and even more so to our vulnerabilities. Surrender those, and we are no more our own man than Orwell's pathetic rebel became when exposed to the rats which "Big Brother's" brain-pickers knew to be his secret horror.

★

We can't turn scientific progress back, although we might be happier without certain of its monster-children. What we should press for, however, is a righting of the balance that tipped with the mass destruction of Hiroshima and took another lurch when Russia wiped the American eye by launching the first man-made satellite.

Science, which has no more conscience than a monkey, has become top-heavy in our scheme of things. Our respect for its works and claims has become too deep: we are in grave danger of letting man's creature become his master.

One result is that true humanism, which defends scientific exploration but insists on remaining aware of other truths by which man lives, has suffered. The impersonal is crowding out the personal.

So, in certain vast universities, we find research taking precedence over teaching, the tweed-jacketed lecturer replaced by the taped voice piped electronically to the thousands in the lecture hall.

We'd be lost without the machine in its myriad forms. But we may also lose ourselves because of it.

Crash Victim Fair

Drivers Injured In Two Accidents

A Metchosin man whose car crashed on the West Saanich Road early today is in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Anthony Norton, 23, of 3126A Metchosin Road, suffered severe chest injuries when his car went out of control while negotiating a curve near Markham Street, hit a tree and finally stopped at the bottom of an embankment in a blackberry patch.

Saanich police said the accident happened shortly before 3 a.m. Norton was alone in the car. Officers said the car was a wreck.

CAR SKIDDED

Karl Steinmeier of 9704 Third Street in Sidney is in good condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital after his car skidded into the side of a loaded lumber truck on the Sooke Road Wednesday afternoon.

He suffered a dislocated hip, cuts and abrasions in the accident about four miles east of Sooke.

RCMP officers said the injured man's auto slid sideways into the loaded trailer unit of a truck driven by Autar Sing Rahi of 1712 Denman. The rear wheels of the truck were knocked loose in the smash and the truck's load of logs had to be reloaded onto another unit.

WOMAN INJURED

A woman hurt in a two-car crash four weeks ago is still in a coma at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Lacey, 20, of 1177 Goldstream, remains in poor condition after the accident at Haultain and Shakespeare Jan 20.

Youth Caught When Wheel Fell Off Car

City police caught up with William Ernst Wednesday night when the wheel fell off his car.

The 19-year-old, who lives at 1124 Mason Street, was fined a total of $200 when he pleaded guilty to four charges in central court this morning.

The fines carry alternate jail terms totalling 39 days and Magistrate Ostler denied Ernst time to pay them.

Constable Peter Voth told the court he followed the accused's car on Skinner Street with siren sounding and red light flashing. When he tried to pull his cruiser alongside, Ernst swung into his path.

HITS CURB

After the pursued car made a number of erratic turns it finally halted on Craigflower after a wheel hit a curb and broke free.

Ernst turned violent when put in the police patrol wagon, causing $40 damage when he kicked the doors and screens covering a window.

He told police he had never had a driver's licence, had no car insurance and had just bought the car that day.

"Don't you read the newspapers?" asked the magistrate. "Aren't you moved by the recent accident tragedies?"

Ersnt was fined $100 for careless driving, $50 for wilfully damaging the police vehicle, $25 for driving without a licence and another $25 for driving without insurance. He was ordered to pay the city $40 for damage to the patrol wagon as well.

Man Must Be Boss Of the Household Say Modern Misses

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The man should be the supreme head of the household.

If he isn't he's falling down on his job.

These words come out of the mouths of two attractive young women with short skirts and modern hair-dos. They came out loud and clear from Miss Elizabeth Calder and Miss Elaine Stranne, both members of the Jehovah's Witness movement in Victoria.

Nodding her head in concurrence was Mrs. Harry Zaruk, an older but still very attractive Witness.

●

All three are dedicated workers for a church which bases its beliefs entirely on the Bible.

"The Bible makes is absolutely clear that the man is the head of the house and should have the last word in every major decision," said Miss Calder.

"He should also be looked up to by his children as head of the house," put in Miss Stranne.

"If you believe in the Bible, there are no two ways about it," said Mrs. Zaruk. "Furthermore, if the man exercises — with a firm out right way — the wife is gentle hand — the wife is much the happier for it.

●

"Most of the trouble in the world today is the result of man relinquishing his authority and letting the wife take over," Mrs. Zaruk added.

The three women are active door-to-door convassers for the Jehova's Witness movement in Victoria and have just returned from a series of Bible-teaching conventions in nine countries of South America.

"Although South America is predominantly Roman Catholic, we were received in a most friendly spirit," Mrs. Zaruk said. "We carried on our door-to-door canvassing down there and in 99 per cent of cases we were invited into the homes we visited."

Miss Calder said many Roman Catholics in South America have never read the Bible — they rely entirely on the priesthood for religious instruction.

"We are strongly opposed to this," she said.

"We believe everyone should study the Bible and dig out its great truths for themselves.

"We were encouraged by the fact that no one in South America — even the most devout Catholics — gave us any opposition."

Mrs. Zaruk said there are now 76,251 Jehovah's Witnesses in South America whereas in 1945 there were practically none.

●

The three Victoria women were among 450 Witnesses from Canada, the United States, England, Germany, Spain, Denmark and Switzerland who took part in the South American conventions.

"Our main reason for going there was to link up with Witnesses in South America," Miss Stranne said, "but whereever we go we promote study of the Bible."

Both Miss Stranne and Miss Calder are training as missionaries for their church and are prepared to go anywhere they are sent.

But first they must take an intensive training course, including language study, at the Witnesses' Gilead School in New York.

City Ambulance Users Asked To Pay $10 Fee

Victoria council is going to ask the people served by the new city ambulance to volunteer to pay a nominal sum of $10 for the use of the emergency vehicle.

The Lands and Fire Wardens Committee was told this morning that during December and January the ambulance had made 294 emergency runs—135 last month and 159 in December.

Mayor Hugh Stephen said he was against fixing a set fee for the ambulance service.

"I am confident that if we sent out a letter suggesting that people using the ambulance pay $10 or $15 the response would be good," he said. "I am optimistic that we could recapture some thousands of dollars this way."

Payment would be strictly on a voluntary level.

TB Test Follow-Up Set for Month's End

A community follow-up chest survey will begin at the month's end of all those adults who last year showed a positive reaction to their tuberculin skin test, when Christmas Seal mobile vans visited southern Island points.

Of the 100,000 persons who recieved their tuberculin skin test and chest X-ray last year, 18,000 are being called back now because they showed a positive reaction.

A positive reaction to the skin test does not mean the person has TB. It shows thay have been infected by someone with tuberculosis and statistics indicate that one positive reactor out of 20 will one day develop active tuberculosis.

BEGIN AT JORDAN RIVER

Christmas Seal mobile vans will begin the positive reactor survey at Jordan River Community Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 28, and Fulford Harbor Community Hall on Wednesday, March 1.

They will be at Sooke shopping centre on March 1 also, and on March 2 will visit Ganges Community Hall and Langford Elementary School.

On Friday, March 3, and Saturday, March 4, they will be at the Sidney Health Unit and Colwood Shopping Plaza.

On Monday, March 6, they will move to the Victoria area to check on positive reactors at several key locations there. The survey finishes March 18.

VISIT SALTSPRING

Positive reactors at Port Renfrew, Galiano, North and South Pender, Mayne and Saturna islands are being asked to visit mobile vans when they are at the southern Vancouver Island locations nearest them. Mobile vans will only visit Saltspring Island on this follow-up survey.

The survey is being conducted by the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health, in co-operation with the B.C. Division of TB Control, and the B.C. TB Christmas Seal Society.

Saanich Calls Vote On Recreation Plan

$1.25 Million Program

Saanich howeowners will vote in a referendum on a $1.25 million recreation plan in late March—probably March 18.

This was announced today by Reeve Hugh Curtis, who also released details on the five-year plan to provide an ice arena, a senior citizen centre, an indoor swimming pool and a community centre.

The plan was given unanimous approval by the council in a closed meeting Wednesday night.

The approved program comprises a major part of the recommendations made in the Saanich Indoor Recreation Study by A. B. Sanderson Company.

Reeve Curtis said the starting date of the projects, if they are approved by the ratepayers, will depend upon the availability of low-cost borrowings and the completion of working plans.

SEEKS LARGE VOTE

"We shall seek the support and active participation of all groups which made representations to council in order that a large and decisive affirmative vote may be received," he added. Here is an outline of the proposal:

● An ice arena to be located north and west of the Tillicum outdoor theatre on a 20-acre municipally owned site, with access probably off Tillicum. It will provide a 200-by-85-foot ice surface, seating for up to 900, changing rooms, skate shop, concession and storage areas. Cost: $400,000.

● A senior citizens' centre on a site still to be decided in the Hampton Park area. It will contain an auditorium, lounge, meeting and activity rooms and a kitchen. Cost: $95,000.

● A 25-meter pool and community building on municipally owned land east of Torquay Drive and south of Gordon Head Elementary School. The pool, meeting areas, hobby and craft rooms, and recreation spaces will be under one roof. The six-lane pool, heated, with change rooms and storage rooms, will have life guard service and will accommodate up to 1,000 people per day. Cost: $450,000.

● A community centre in the McRae Estate area, site not pinpointed but to serve the Maplewood, Blenkinsop, Cedar Hill, Shelbourne and Tattersal areas and described as a general purpose building for meeting, hobby classes, etc Cost: $250,000.

LANDSCAPING

The balance of $55,000 would be required for contingencies and a minimal landscaping program, the reeve stated.

He said the consultants believe the estimates given are generous and allow for possible increases in construction costs.

The capital required would be borrowed and repaid over a 20-year period.

"This method gives council authority to proceed when and as appropriate, after carefully completing plans and siting, and testing the financial market," said Reeve Curtis.

Municipal officials estimated the annual cost to ratepayers at 1.3 mills on the assessed values of 1967.

$5.20 PER YEAR

This would mean an annual charge on property taxes of about $5.20 per year on a home valued at $8,000 to $10,000, about $7.80 on a $12,000 to $15,000 home, and about $10.40 on a home valued in the $15,000 to $20,000 range, when all projects are completed.

The reeve said the plan pays close attention to population densities in the municipality.

He added, "Great care was taken that the final dollar figure was sufficient to meet the immediate need without placing a heavy load on the property owner.

"The program is designed to offer recreation space to as wide an age-grouping as possible.

"This is not just a youth program although council considers the Tillicum area to be a priority item to ease the desperate shortage of ice surfaces in the community. The arena would be used for minor hockey, public skating, practices, etc."

CONFEDERATION HOLIDAY Friday was marked today by S. J. Willis Junior Secondary students who honored Canada's birthday and Fathers of Confederation as well as day free from school in student-organized assembly. Kathy Coulter (left) and Bob Adams give eloquent oration as student council president Peter George, Debbie San who organized singing group, and band president Bruce Jeffs, listen. S. J. Willis was one of five junior and senior secondary schools in Greater Victoria to hold programs and assemblies for students. No further discussion on whether holiday will become permanent date on B.C. school calendar has been held, said department of education official this morning. (Times photo.)

SOFTLY NOW . . . STROKE!

Uvic's robust rowing team is at work again!

Just ask the residents around Elk Lake.

While the young oarsmen were driving their shell about the lake early this morning, the cries of their co'x'n were driving some of the neighbors 'round the bend.

From the shell it may sound like "stroke." From the shore it sounds like "help!" Or it just plain sounds loud.

Saanich police, in the middle as they were many times last year, got two irate phone calls this morning. They are expecting more.

'Even $500 Too Much' For Royal Gift

Any gift presented to Princess Alexandra when she visits Victoria on May 19 should be of modest cost, says Ald. Percy Frampton.

Ald. Frampton made the statement this morning when Mayor Hugh Stephen proposed to the city's entertainment committee that the Princess should be presented with a Fenwick Lansdowne painting during the 15-minute ceremony scheduled for city hall at 11 a.m. and the day of the royal visit.

The mayor said he wasn't sure what such a painting would cost but that the price of the gift would be shared by all municipalities in the Greater Victoria region.

He said it could go as high as $500 or even $1,000.

"I don't see how we can justify spending money for this sort of thing," said Ald. Frampton. "Even $500 is too much. She's going to do well if she gets a $500 present every place she goes."

Mayor Stephen noted that the princess was visiting the city by invitation and that she would be the most important visitor during Centennial year.

AGAINST COST

Ald. Frampton said he wasn't against the idea of a gift for the princess, but that he was against excessive cost.

The committee agreed to check on the price of a Lansdowne painting before making a final committment.

On the day of the visit the princess will be introduced to the reeves of all surrounding municipalities and a brief address of welcome will be given by Mayor Stephen.

"We only have 15 minutes so the ceremony will have to be brief," the mayor said. "I think all reeves should be invited because this, really, is an intermunicipal visit."

The ceremony will take place in the council chamber before 200 specially invited guests.

RACING COMMISSION:

Sandown Issue Can Be Solved

The chairman of the B.C. Racing Commission today expressed hope that both sides in the Sandown racing issue will reach agreement within the next three weeks.

"I don't think they are that far apart," Glen McDonald told the Times from Vancouver.

Mr. McDonald said he had not yet received an application by the B.C. Jockey Club to transfer Sandown's 17 racing days to Vancouver.

The commission chairman said that until he does receive the application he would not decide on whether the public would be admitted to hearings.

Jack Diamond, co-owner of the jockey club, Wednesday said he would seek transfer of the dates.

Mr. Diamond said North Saanich Council's demand of a $150 daily licence fee and improved fire protection and sanitary facilities suggested to him "that they don't want racing at Sandown."

DOESN'T UNDERSTAND

Mr. Diamond said that Reeve J. B. Cummings "doesn't understand the problems of operating a track. He doesn't know racing."

The reeve said today that "if Mr. Diamond has any suggestions we are ready to listen."

He said Mr. Diamond did not protest the $150 daily licence fee when council first notified him.

Mr. Diamond's chief problems, said Reeve Cummings, are sanitation and fire protection.

He said the fire marshal has recommended to the attorney-general that a sprinkling system be installed in present and new barns and that they have improved sanitary facilities.

Mr. Diamond said that "even if we had 50 fire wardens we wouldn't have been any better off when fire hit our barns last year."

He said that Vancouver authorities are "content" with fire-fighting facilities at Exhibition Park "and we don't have sprinklers there."

"We can't put any money into Sandown under council's conditions," he said. "The money isn't there to take out. It may be some day. But not now. We lost $27,000 last year."

N. Saanich PTAs Sponsor Talk On Sex Education

Sex Education will be the topic of a panel discussion Monday, sponsored by five North Saanich PTA's and two parents' auxiliaries.

Panelists will be Dr. E. M. Patriarch, Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board physician; Mrs. F. MacBride, supervisor of the unmarried parents' section of the Family and Children's Service; Donald McColl, principal of Sansbury Elementary School; Rev. H. C. McDermott, of St. Paul's United Church, Sidney; A. W. Murphy, boys' counsellor at North Saanich Secondary School; A. G. Campbell, teacher and former Saanich School Board chairman; and school trustee Mrs. Ruby May Parrott.

The panel discussion, starting at 8 p.m. will he held in the McTavish School auditorium, 1720 McTavish Road.

Ask The Times

Q. The Times on Wednesday said a man and his wife both drawing old age pension cheques would both qualify for the federal old age pension supplement if their combined income was less than $2,340 not counting the pension cheques. This is at variance with the booklet I received. Should the figure be $1,440? H.K.D.

A. The federal pensions office here says you are correct. The pertinent figure is $1,440 and the Canadian Press story was in error.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Fence Art Stored To Allow Excavation

Works of art completed by sidewalk fence painters were removed this week to give workers more elbow room on the site of the new museum-library-archives project.

About 35 of the plywood panels decorated during the do-it-yourself beautification fad have been stored away.

New boarding has been erected further out on Government Street to permit a giant shovel to operate on the edge of the excavation.

A public works official said the painted panels will be replaced as the excavating work proceeds. He suggested that eventually, when the project is complete, all the painted panels may be auctioned for charity.

The $7 million project, a joint federal-provincial centennial enterprise, is again bustling with about 75 men on the job. Premier Bennett, in his recent budget speech said the exhibit hall section will be completed by the end of this year.

The seven storey office building which will house workshops and the curator's staff, and the archives building, will be delayed in completion until after the centenary of Confederation is over. Original planning called for the whole project to be opened in September of this year.

RCN Destroyer Damaged at Halifax

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP) — The Canadian destroyer Algonquin was towed into drydock in Halifax today for a survey of damage after she ran aground and collided with a pier at the naval armament depot here on the eastern side of Halifax harbor.

A defence department spokesman said the ship was damaged above and below the waterline on the port side near the stern and her steering gear was put out of action. There was also minor flooding of the stern section. No one was hurt.

Four Killed in German Air Crash

BREMEN, West Germany (Reuters)—A turbo-prop business plane crashed and burst into flames near Bremen airport today, killing its Canadian pilot and three German passengers.

Police identified the pilot as Wesley Larson, 32, of Alix, Alta.

He was chief pilot for the Bremen-Basel Travel Air Co., the plane's owner.

Red Ruffing Named to Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles (Red) Ruffing, former right-handed pitching great of New York Yankees, was named to Baseball's Hall of Fame today in a special run-off election.

Joe (Ducky) Medwick, a former outfielder of St. Louis Cardinals' Gas House Gang, was second ahead of Roy Campanella, the former Brooklyn Dodgers' catcher.

NATO IN EUROPE

Britain Wants To Trim Forces

By HAROLD MORRISON

LONDON (CP)—Britain maintained today there is at present "little danger of aggression" in Europe and that North Atlantic powers can easily trim their conventional forces on the continent with confidence.

Even the prospect of a large-scale war through miscalculation or accident is highly improbable, Defence Secretary Denis Healey maintained in a white paper that gave emphasis to the power of nuclear weaponry as the vital deterrent.

While arguing that a mutual reduction of NATO-Warsaw pact forces would be the best way of achieving a detente in Europe, Healey hinted that Britain may have to take action to withdraw some of its 50,000 troops in Germany later this year if West Germany does not increase defence purchases in Britain to offset fully the foreign-exchange costs of maintaining these troops.

If war should ever break out, Britain feels that nuclear weapons would be used within the first two days.

The old NATO concept is based on a 90-day conventional war. This has been gradually reduced to the point supplies are based on a 30-day conventional battle. Britain is reported to feel that supplies for just two weeks would be sufficient.

AIRLIFT FASTER

Healey maintained that improved air transport reduces the time required to shift home forces overseas.

Based on present forces available in Europe, "the allies could not fight a long war in Western Europe," he said. But the allies are still expected to maintain stocks of ammunition and supplies in Europe to cover a period far in excess of what their combat forces are capable of sustaining.

"By bringing logistic support more into balance with the capability of combat forces, savings could be made in both resources and foreign exchange," Healey maintained.

The labor government has promised to keep Britain's defence budget from rising beyond the 1964 figure of $6,000,000,000. Healey said his 1967-68 estimates are $219,000,000 below that figure. In the three years labor has been in power, the government has saved $2,250,000,000 on the defence program it inherited from the Conservatives, Healey said.

25,000 RETURN

More and more of Britain's troops are being brought back home. By April, 1968, about 25,000 men and 6,000 service families would be returned from places outside of Europe.

In terms of the war threat, Healey argued, the commotions in China and the changed political and economic situation within the Soviet Union could provide NATO allies with "a more confident view of Soviet intentions."

As for nuclear planning within NATO, the defence ministers, meeting as a separate body, had accomplished more in 12 months than the alliance had accomplished in the previous 17 years.

The alliance now has estab-

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR LEADER

Tory Glamor Boy Hees Tosses Hat Into Ring

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — George Hees, the long-time glamor boy of Conservative politics, today bounded into the fight for his party's leadership.

In an early morning announcement that surprised no one, Mr. Hees became one of the major contenders to succeed John Diefenbaker.

With his usual exuberance the former trade minister peeled off his pin-stripe jacket and revealed a pair of flaming red suspenders and a burning desire for the top job.

"I believe that I can unite the party into an effective modern political force," he said.

UNITED PARTY

"I further believe that this united party will provide the country with the decisive and progressive government which the Liberal party seems totally incapable of doing."

Mr. Hees thus became the fourth formally declared candidate for the leadership convention which will be held in Toronto in September.

At the moment his chief opponent is former justice minister E. Davie Fulton. The other contenders are Dr. Hugh Horner from Alberta, and John McLean, a little-known service station owner from Brockville, Ont.

MYSTERY

But along with his co-runners, Mr. Hees was unable to answer the mystery question as to the future leadership intentions of Mr. Diefenbaker himself.

"I have no idea whether Mr. Diefenbaker will be a candidate or not," was all he would say.

But he left no doubt that George Hees was running hard and running to win.

"I have never got into a contest of any kind that I didn't think I could win," he said with an engaging grin.

But if he lost he would be "100 per cent" behind the victor.

The party makes this decision and it usually makes the right one," said Mr. Hees. "The people have extraordinarily good sense."

His aim is not only his party's leadership but the job of prime minister as well.

Using Barry Goldwater as an example Mr. Hees said there was no point running at all unless he could lead his party to victory.

"If you can't do that it is the most frustrating and disappointing thing in the world," he said.

"It is a pitiful thing if leaders can't lead their party to victory."

He quickly and succinctly replied to the delicate question of whether the Spence report on the Gerda Munsinger affair would affect his chances.

"I think that issue is over and done with and I don't hear anything about it any more," said Mr. Hees.

Although Mr. Hees was completely absolved of any impropriety in his acquaintance with the controversial Gerda, he received much publicity for his cocktails and lunch with the German blonde.

George Hees hits the headlines with almost everything he does because he is that kind of effervescent personality.

As Mr. Diefenbaker's transport minister and later in the trade portfolio Mr. Hees was labelled a swinger long before the go-go generation lurched on the scene.

His friends have sometimes fondly called him a one-man

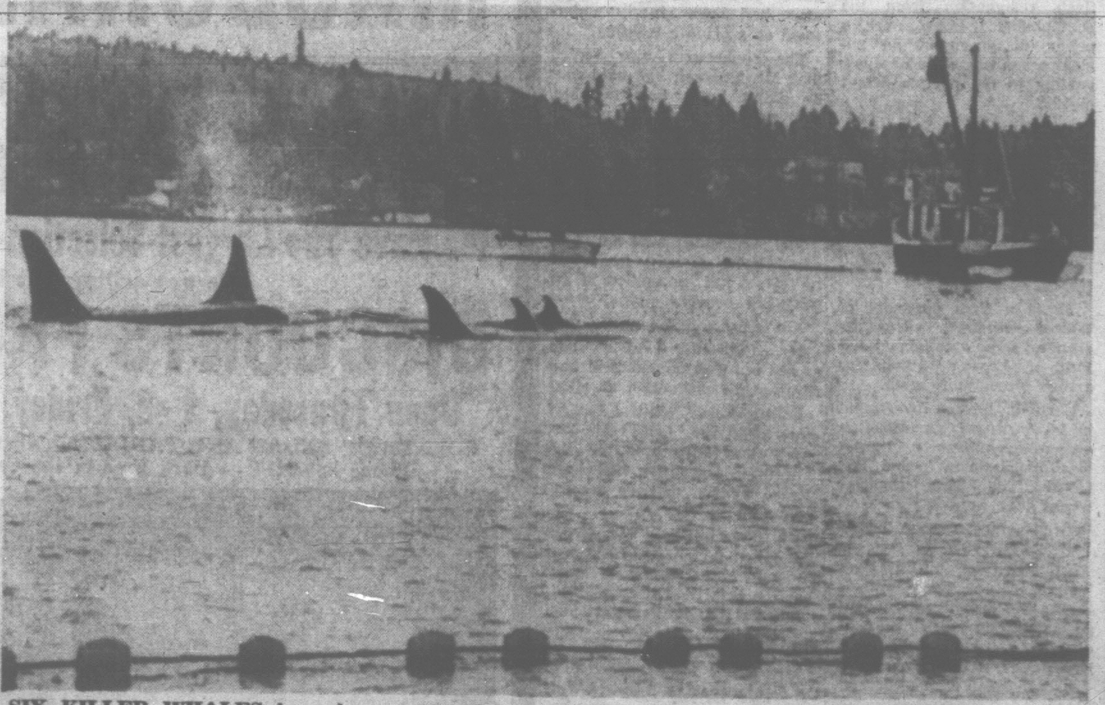
Allied Troops Launch Major Viet Offensive



SIX KILLER WHALES have been captured by Seattle aquarium operator Ted Griffin, using a 3,960-foot purse seine in Yukon Bay, along the Washington coast. Griffin, who bought Namu, a killer whale entrapped off the British Columbia coast, which died last year, plans to take three of the whales to Seattle—two for display and one for sale. 3-Pronged Drive Against Reds

SAIGON (UPI)—An estimated 30,000 allied troops struck Communist forces across South Vietnam today in a massive new grand strategy that killed about 600 guerrillas in a day but lost a record 13 United States helicopters.

The latest offensive in an unprecedented series of major operations reportedly planned during last week's lunar new year truce burst into the jungles 315 miles north of Saigon.

There, 17,000 U.S. and South Korean troops formed a three-pronged attack. About 1,500 leathernecks stormed ashore today for operation Deckhouse VI on one side to drive an elite Communist force — said to be North Vietnamese — into the guns of the entire U.S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division and units of the 25th Infantry Division plus government troops pincering in from north and south in Operation Pershing.

The massive new action coincided with an announcement that 107 Americans were killed, 1,015 wounded and one missing in combat last week in spite of the four-day new year's cease-fire.

SLIGHT INCREASE

The combined casualties represented a slight increase over the previous week's total of dead, wounded and missing, and raised the war's casualty toll to 8,897 Americans killed and 42,754 wounded.

U.S. spokesmen reported four Americans killed and eight wounded in the helicopter losses.

"We are slowly taking a (Communist) battalion (about 800 men) apart," said one 1st Air Cavalry battalion commander, Lt.-Col. Robert Stevenson of Ponca City, Okla.

His men, using 45-calibre pistols fitted with home-made silencers made from discarded chocolate milk cans and medical gauze, wiggled into a maze of jungle tunnels, routing the guerrillas out of their longtime coastal bastion.

But the big fights and the big kills came elsewhere. About 2,000 Vietnamese troops whirled by American helicopters to the tip of the southern Mekong Delta jumped into a Viet Cong battalion Wednesday.

They killed 255 Communists, but the guerrilas shot down 10 U.S. helicopters—nine troop carriers and one medical chopper. All but one of the helicopters was recovered.

Three more helicopters went down elsewhere, making it the worst day of the war for American helicopters. The worst previous day was Feb. 4, when nine 'copters were downed.

In the 4th infantry division fight near the Cambodian border, 6,000 American troops in Operation Sam Houston reported killing 74 Communists Wednesday. But two U.S. companies suffered "moderate" casualties in the jungles.

Quebec Dispute Fanned

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — A potentially explosive telegram addressed to Lieutenant-Governor Hughes Lapointe from the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers today added conflict over language and religion to the already severe crisis aroused by the provincial government's schools bill.

The telegram, signed by Miss Ann Macleish, president of the PAPT, asks the lieutenant-governor to reserve sanction of the bill, on the grounds that it violates the Protestant education rights guaranteed by section 93 of the British North America Act.

The bill, approved in third reading by the legislature at 3 a.m. today, provides for the establishment of a provincial standard of salaries and working conditions for all the province's teachers. It thus narrows the autonomy of the school boards which have been denominationally separate.

Constitutionally, the lieutenant-governor could reserve the bill for a year. After a year it would become law, unless disallowed by the federal government.

IMPLICATIONS GREAT

Although Premier Daniel Johnson and Liberal opposition leader Jean Lesage carefully refrained from comment on the political implications of the request, they are enormous.

Observers at the legislature were unanimous in viewing this complaint from the Protestant — and English-speaking — minority as a major assist to Mr. Johnson in his campaign to win public support for the controversial bill.

French-speaking Quebecers are acutely aware that the province's English-speaking minority enjoys privileges denied to the French-speaking minorities of the other provinces.

They are also aware that the guarantees given the English-

LANDYMORE WARNS . . .

Military Coup Possible Under Single Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Rear-Admiral William Landymore said today safeguards should always be built into the Canadian military establishment to cover any potential danger of a coup.

He said in the Commons defence committee that Mobile Command is a huge command with one man in charge responsible to one man.

It would be sensible to split this command into three geographical areas to remove any "potential hazard."

The dismissed commander of Maritime Command was replying to a series of questions by Robert Andras (L — Port Arthur) based on the admiral's assertion Wednesday in a brief to the committee that Mobile Command is dangerous to Canadian democracy.

DON'T TAKE RISK

Admiral Landymore said today no one in the armed forces would ever dream of attempting a coup but that "we should never take even a calculated risk."

He said he is not suggesting the chief of Mobile Command wants to take over the government.

Mr. Andras said Admiral Landymore must be thinking of someone like Dr. No or Mr. Goldfinger.

He said a coup would require the collusion of Air Transport and Material Commands.

Admiral Landymore said he has never studied the matter but that a coup would be possible under the guise of an exercise.

Cambridge Dons Flunk 11-Plus Test

CAMBRIDGE, England (Reuters) — Fifteen per cent of the science instructors at Cambridge University are not bright enough to pass the intelligence tests given to 11-year-old British school children, says a survey made public today.

The survey of 148 science dons revealed that 15 per cent had an intelligence quotient below 118, the score needed to pass the "11-plus" exams.

The results could have significance for Britain's educational system, which has used the "11-pluses" to segregate students by intellect. A child who fails the "11-plus" is generally sent on to a trade school, and has little chance of entering a first-rate university.

The survey showed, however, that some teachers with so-called "first - class degrees"—graduates with high honors—had IQs as low as 110. In one department, the man rated by everyone as the best scientist proved to have the lowest IQ.

The majority of the teachers failed to reach the 130 needed to be classed as brilliant. They were merely "bright."

Two members of the university's genetics department conducted the survey as part of a study of the origins and abilities of the science teachers.

Dr. John Gibson, one of the surveyors, said: "This shows that IQ tests are an extremely unreliable guide to a person's ability."

CHARGES FLY IN DEFENCE HEARING

Groos Studies Subpoena Demand

Times News Services

OTTAWA — A demand was made in the Commons defence committee today that Rear-Admiral Robert Welland be subpoenaed to testify.

He has said he is too busy to appear.

Chairman David Groos, Victoria MP, said he would have to obtain legal advice on whether he could force Admiral Welland to attend.

He made the ruling after a row in the committee concerning a visit by Mr. Groos and Grant Deachman, Liberal chairman of Commons committees, to Admiral Welland's house last July 14.

Dismissed Rear-Admiral William Landymore testified today that Mr. Groos and Mr. Deachman both knew about the compulsory retirements of various admirals.

The argument centred around whether Mr. Deachman knew specifically about Admiral Landymore's firing before public disclosure of it.

Mr. Deachman said he didn't know about Admiral Landymore's dismissal until it appeared in the newspapers. He said the admiral should telephone Admiral Welland right away and ask him what took place. He said he was at Admiral Welland's house at the time in question.

Admiral Landymore said: "Why not do better and bring Welland here?"

Mr. Deachman, member for Vancouver Quadra, said that if Admiral Landymore had made a false allegation he was sure he would want to correct it because the admiral is an honorable man.

Michael Forrestall (PC—Halifax) said Mr. Deachman was present and he could tell about what went on at Admiral Welland's house.

Admiral Landymore said Admiral Welland had personally told him about the meeting and that he was prepared to testify about it.

Mr. Deachman said this should be arranged. Mr. Groos agreed.

Gordon Churchill, a former Conservative defence minister, said both Mr. Groos, member for Victoria, and a former navy officer, and Mr. Deachman knew about the retire-

LBJ SEEKS AID FOR CONSUMERS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent Congress today a 12-point program which he said would "protect the American consumer."

It calls for stiffer regulation of consumer loans, mail-order land sales, mutual funds, welfare and pension plans, some medical laboratories and natural gas pipelines.

Johnson summed up the program in these words:

"The cost to taxpayers of carrying out these proposals is very small. The savings to them as consumers will be great—in dollars, in safety, and in peace of mind."

The president again urged Congress to enact a "truth-in-lending" law that would make certain the U.S. instalment buyer is told the percentage rate of interest in carrying charges he must pay on his purchases.

Net Earnings Show Decline

TORONTO (CP) — Abitibi Paper Co. Ltd. had net earnings of $15,927,921 or 91⅛ cents a share in 1966, compared with $16,736,007 or 96¼ cents in 1965.

In an interim report, the company says the earnings declined despite an 8.6-per-cent gain in sales. Sales reached a record $211,167,334, compared with $194,411,148 in 1965.

"Reproduction and start-up expenses charged against the year's earnings were a principal factor contributing to reduced earnings," the statement says.

"Lower earnings also reflect a strike at the company's largest hardboard plant and interruptions in shipments to customers caused by strikes in the transportation industries.

"While there were some increases in selling prices, they were insufficient, in the aggregate, to offset the rising costs of labor and materials."

MARKET SUMMARIES

Dome Petroleum Backs Off

Dome Petroleum backed off in trading today on the Toronto Stock Exchange after a company spokesman denied rumors of a takeover bid.

The stock fell 1¼ to 46¼ after it had jumped five on Wednesday.

The spokesman also added that he knew of no reason for the stock's sudden popularity.

Dome's wild run caught the market by surprise as investors spiritedly bid the price up amid rumors that the company would be taken over by a U.S. firm.

Among other oils, Provo fell 10 cents to 5.30, Scurry-Rainbow ¾ to 20 and Central Del-Rio ⅛ to 12⅛.

The New York market softened establishing a lower trend in the ratio of declines to advances.

AT TORONTO industrials weakened and wiped out fractional gains scored earlier in the week.

A number of analysts said the market was due to subside following the sharp gains of last month.

Corby's was down 1 to 25¾ and Alcan and Magna Electronics ¾ each to 34¾ and 11. Massey-Ferguson gained ⅜ to 27¼.

AT NEW YORK National Airlines was the volume pacemaker, losing about three points. it was closely followed by Sperry Rand up nearly a point.

Scott-Foresman slid about 1½ in active dealings. MCA and Colt Industries rose between 1 and 2 points. Delta Airlines sank three points. American telephone, despite record earnings, backtracked from an early fractional gain and traded about unchanged.

IBM dropped four points.

AT MONTREAL industrials and papers slid lower while the rest of the market was mixed in active trading today. Domtar and Price Co. each lost ½ to 18 and 13, respectively, while Great Lakes Paper eased ¼ to 25.

Distillers-Seagrams and Famous Players each were off ¼ to 37½ and 35½. Phillips Cables was off ½ to 44½ and Power Corp. ¼ to 11¼. Imperial Oil was lower by ⅜ to 60⅛ and Inco ⅝ to 95⅞.

AT LONDON the market presented a generally irregular appearance today.

The market was pleased with the Imperial Chemical Industries dividend and the share price moved up to 37s 3d after a preliminary earnings statement by the company but later slipped back to 36s 9d, a net gain of 4½d.

Among the other leaders, EMI was firm and Rank Organization improved on color television prospects.

In rails, Canadian Pacific was dull, in line with North American stocks. Alcan lost 1¾ to 70½ and Noranda dropped 1½ to 116½. Algoma, International Nickel, British-American Oil, West Coast Transmission and Trans Canada Pipe were other Canadian stocks to move lower.

AT VANCOUVER industrials showed strength and the recent fast pace in mining speculatives eased in pre-noon trading today.

Inland Natural Gas climbed .25 to a new high of $11.50, while Woodwards A was up .50 at $25 and CPR jumped $3.37 to $62.62.

Prices held firm in slower mines trading. Bata, Ace and Hogan all gained .05 and Lytton tacked on .07 to .73. Torwest lost .05 at .76. Pyramid dipped .15 to $4.10 and Brenda gained .35 to $7.35.

Car Pact Probe Demanded in U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.) said Wednesday he would subpoena records of U.S. car makers for a congressional investigation of the effects of the two-year-old automotive trade agreement with Canada.

Calling the pact an "illegal price-fixing" scheme, Hartke told the Senate he would request a hearing by the Senate finance committee on all aspects of the agreement.

Hartke said neither Detroit nor the White House would provide details of U.S. jobs lost through the agreement. It was designed to permit duty-free movement of cars and parts across the Canada-U.S. border.

'LOST JOBS'

"This much is certain — we lost jobs," Hartke said. "We lost industry. Our favorable balance of trade in auto products has been cut in half. We are paying unemployment compensation to our displaced workers, while Canada is enjoying the greatest plant expansion in history."

Under the agreement, Hartke said, a growing number of U.S. firms were moving production to Canadian plants. At the same time, he said the Canadian government was forcing the U.S. firms to make large capital investments to expand their Canadian facilities.

"The shroud of secrecy surrounding the impact of this Canadian agreement is an appalling disgrace," he charged.

Car Sales Drop Blamed On Weather

DETROIT (AP) — Wintry weather has received much of the blame in the latest sales slump and production lag reported by the U.S. auto industry.

Industry executives Monday reported a 20.6-per-cent drop in sales for the first 10 days this month and said snowstorms and zero or below-zero temperatures that hit large areas of the United States were a major cause.

While fierce weather apparently kept some buyers away from auto showrooms, it prevented many auto workers from reaching their jobs.

The report of sales losses dovetailed with simultaneous losses or cuts in production and the highest inventory of unsold new autos for any Feb. 1 in history. One firm, American Motors Corp., closed its plants Monday for two weeks to bring its production in balance with sales and inventory.

All the major carmakers, General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors, reported drops in sales for the first 10 days of the month as compared to the same February period last year. The difference averaged 20.6 per cent.

So far this year not one 10-day sales period has equalled its counterpart of last year.

Japan Remains Interested In Oil Sands

EDMONTON (CP)—A spokesman for Japan Petroleum Exploration Co. Ltd. says the company still is investigating the possibilities of the Athabasca oil sands, but "it has been decided we will do something."

The Japex spokesman said in an interview that something more definite might be announced about the end of March.

There has been speculation the company, controlled by the Japanese government, is considering a $300,000,000 oil sands processing plant in the vicinity of Fort McMurray, 250 miles northeast of Edmonton.

It has been estimated the oil sands contain the largest known oil reserve in the world.

Easier Money Signs Grow

NEW YORK (AP) — New signs of an easing of the money situation appeared last week in the United States.

This trend has been credited in part for the strong advance by the stock market in January.

The latest developments:

—Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York posted rate reductions ranging to ¼ percentage point on its negotiable certificates of deposit.

—First Western Bank and Trust Co. of Los Angeles reduced its real estate loan rate to 6.75 per cent from 7 per cent.

—Several finance companies and lending institutions reduced the interest charged automobile dealers on loans to finance car inventories.

Recently Chase Manhattan Bank sliced its prime rate — the interest charged the biggest and most credit-worthy borrowers — to 5½ per cent from 6 per cent. Other major banks came down to 5¾ per cent but Chase stuck with its bigger reduction.

Sun Life Jumps Payments To Policyholders

MONTREAL (CP) — Alistair M. Campbell, president of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, told the annual meeting that sales in 1966 were $1,316,463,000, increasing total life insurance in force by seven per cent to $14,447,064,000.

Payments to policyholders, beneficiaries and annuitants during 1966 increased $18,197,000 to $263,362,000.

Mr. Campbell also announced an increase in dividends to policyholders in 1967 which will bring total dividend payments to an estimated $67,279,000, an increase of $7,881,000 over 1966 dividends.

Markets Must Refurbish Image

MONTREAL (CP) — Charles B. Neapole, president of the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, says the tarnished image of Canada's financial markets should be refurbished to restore the glamor his country's securiies once held in inernational markets.

Modernization of securities legislation is a must, he said.

Mr. Neapole called for a national policy of regulation and uniformity and said this was the only way "recognizable and international stature could be given to all our capital markets."

Co-Ed Who Backed Sex Freedom Would Like Peaceful Anonymity

JAN
. . . she's no kook

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jan Lienke, the University of Minnesota co-ed who suggested that people should take the bridle off sex and enjoy it, would like to slide back into peaceful anonymity.

"It's not that I am sorry for what I said—I believe this very strongly," says the attractive 19-year-old nursing school senior.

"It's just that my comments have been taken out of context, sensationalized and misinterpreted. I've lost my privacy."

What Miss Lienke said was that old morality codes are out of date and, now that some contraceptives are 100-per-cent safe, the sexual drive should not be suppressed.

Advocating pre-marital sexual relations as something natural, she said sex life is just a form of communication and should not be regulated any more than dancing or shaking hands.

CHIDED AND INSULTED

Miss Lienke, a willowy five-foot-10, has been chided in newspaper editorials, insulted by letters and telephone calls and harassed by male callers.

"I have had scores of letters from all over the world," she said as she relaxed in her two-room apartment on the edge of the university campus.

"They are about 50-50—some praising me for my courage in speaking out and others attacking me vilely.

"I don't mind people disagreeing with my concepts, but I don't see why they should get so angry over it. They call me a prostitute, say I don't believe in God and issue insults like: 'You and your free love stink on ice.'"

Miss Lienke said she gets calls from unidentified males who ask: "Do you practise what you preach?"

"I answer: 'Do you know what I preach?'" she said.

Friends describe Miss Lienke as a quiet, refined girl with a brilliant mind who — in their words—"is neither kooky nor showoffy."

Miss Lienke neither drinks nor smokes. She has one steady boyfriend, whom she dates on weekends. She is interested in art, music and literature and doubles as a part-time teacher in social studies.

Miss Lienke first rocked the state university last November with a letter to the university newspaper, the Minnesota Daily, in which she answered a fellow student who had written that sexual relations between unmarried students are repugnant, amoral and a sign of weakness.

"I disagree," Miss Lienke wrote. "I believe that this philosophy, this supposedly moral view, is a denial of human nature and an out-of-date concept. I believe that much unnecessary frustration, much conflict and, ironically, many pre-marital pregnancies are a direct result of this philosophy."

. . . QUEBEC

speaking Protestants of Quebec under confederation have been scrupulously observed, while other provinces took away the rights granted by the BNA to their French-speaking minorities.

Premier Johnson had already touched on the resentment aroused by this inequality in the debate on the bill.

Arguing that the bill would provide equal standards of education for all in Quebec, Mr. Johnson said, "gone are the days when the Anglo-Protestants have a better system, or have the means to afford a better system, than ours."

The Liberal opposition, which fought the bill in the legislature, and the teachers and labor unions who plan to oppose it by strikes and demonstrations, could now appear to be in the position of defending the special privileges of the English-speaking Protestants.

Meanwhile, a one-day general strike by all Quebec teachers Friday was announced Wednesday evening by the associations representing the province's French Roman Catholic, English Roman Catholic and Protestant teachers.

The strike is to be the first demonstration of resistance to the government bill which would put an end to the present system of collective bargaining for teachers and withdraw their right to strike until July 1, 1968.

The strike will involve 62,000 teachers, and almost 1,500,000 children.

Raymond Laliberte, president of the 55,000-member 'Corporation des Instituteurs Catholiques," said the CIC provincial council would meet Saturday to decide the course to follow next week.

"We are not ready, sanctioned or not, to accept Bill 25," he said.

"We will not content ourselves with Friday's demonstration."

WOULD BE VIOLATION

For all but the 12,000 teachers already on strike the walkout would be a violation of the Quebec labor code.

Mr. Laliberte said the teachers had given little thought to the sanctions that could be imposed — fines of between $10 and $50 a day for each teacher — under the labor code.

The assembly passed the measure by a vote of 53-35 this morning after giving it clauce-by-clause study for almost seven hours.

Mr. Lesage made a last-ditch effort to change the bill but his motion for amendment on third reading was defeated 53 to 35.

The bill, which now requires passage by the upper House of the legislature as well as final sanctioning by Lieutenant-Governor Lapointe, would order the teachers back to work within 48 hours of its enactment.

The strikes have been on for weeks in some areas, depriving a total of 285,000 children of classes.

Recent days have seen loud protests against the government's measure, backed by at least one threat from a union leader of a possible general strike in Quebec, and a chorus of protest from some organizations of parents as well as teacher groups.

One Montreal parent group said Wednesday night it plans a Friday "march" on the provincial legislature and wants parents from across the province to join in.

The bill is designed to establish what the government calls just and equitable salary levels for all teachers in the province and would forestall further walkouts pending the government's planned overhaul of the education system.

The legislation allows for maximum increase of $1,000 in the annual salaries of teachers and a minimum of $400, all under government-established salary ceilings.

Mr. Johnson and his colleagues have urged the need for the ceilings as a way of stopping a ruinous salary spiral in Quebec's public service.

They also have pressed the case for an end to the strikes in the six affected areas, as a matter of duty toward the children involved.

Expo To Reward Enthusiasm

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The centennial commission has officially recognized the enthusiasm of a 10-year-old boy here who was determined to get to Expo 67 as an athlete.

Sean Power, after hearing Fisher promoting the centennial Commissioner John Fosher promoting the centennial youth program, immediately began practising for the 300-yard dash—in the front hallway of his home.

During Sean's last practice session, he was unable to stop in time and went through a plate glass window. The resulting gash on his arm required 55 stitches.

Sean's mother, Mrs. Leonard A. Power, wrote Mr. Fisher about how seriously Sean had taken the talk and suggested "perhaps you might consider sending him a certificate as a centennial youth project participant for his efforts on behalf of Canada's 100th birthday."

The letter was passed on to the commission's athletic division chief, Ray Boucher, who said in a reply that such "over-enthusiastic preparation for attempting the athletic award tests . . . is deserving of recognition."

He said Sean would be awarded a signed certificate as a participant in the project, a gold-colored centennial pin and an emblem to wear on his school blazer.

SEIZE ON CONFUSION

China Peasants Are Making Hay

By FORREST C. EDWARDS

HONG KONG (AP)—Many of China's 550,000,000 peasants are using the power struggle between Chairman Mao Tse-tung and President Liu Shao-chi to loosen the economic yoke clamped upon them by Mao, specialists on the Chinese report.

Researchers studying Chinese regional broadcasts report a nationwide pattern of peasant opposition to production and distribution restrictions which they have suffered—largely in silence—since Mao forced them into communes in 1958.

Rooted in basic individual desire to better living conditions, the opposition is far more economic than political.

But competent professional analysts here, men who have the job of reporting on China to their governments, say it constitutes a major threat to Mao because the peasants, encouraged by Mao's enemies, are wrecking food production and setting the stage for both rural and urban crises next summer and fall.

Studying scores of regional broadcasts, one research team has come up with a pattern which they say is almost identical throughout China's rural areas.

ACTIONS VARIED

The peasants have:

—Distributed to themselves, through the communes, virtually all accumulated cash, food and material.

—Shared commune capital for next year's production.

—Sold collective-owned animals and distributed the cash.

—Raised their own food rations, thus eliminating much of the food that was destined for urban areas.

—Refused to yield farm products to the state.

—Stopped hot-bed cultivation of vegetable seedlings, restricting both winter production of vegetables and threatening early spring and summer production.

—Secreted carts, driven off draft animals, and otherwise sabotaged transportation of food from rural areas to stations from which the food was to move to urban areas.

—Organized peasant Red Guards, peasant movements and peasant armies to oppose pro-Mao cadres trying to restore rural order.

—Abandoned winter wheat cultivation, water conservation projects and land development programs on the pretext that they had to go to the cities to "help the cultural revolution."

—Demanded enlargement of private farm plots.

—Demanded that state collective production teams return both farm land and farm produce to them.

—Refused to carry out farm product accumulation programs or obey procurement orders.

—Refused to pay for tractor, water and electric services furnished by state-owned collectives.

Broadcast reports of the peasants' economic revolt come mainly from provincial stations in the hands of pro-Mao forces.

HOME GARDEN

Make List Of Plants At Start

By HILDA BEASTALL

Hilda

At this stage of early planning for a flower garden of annuals, it helps to make list of plants which fulfill various purposes.

One list of pink and red annuals, for instance; another of yellow and red; and shorter ones of white which is needed in small quantities, and of blue which needs to be seen at close range to be useful.

And then a special list of fragrant annuals together with their colors, so they may be used to full advantage where needed most.

Mixtures of all colors are found to be less attractive over a long summer period — the variety of color becomes tiring, whereas a blend of two colors is harmonious.

OPEN BEDS

Remembering that the majority of annuals require full, or nearly full, sun to be entirely successful, open beds are probably the best choice of site in gardens having sufficient space.

The problem of height is then of less importance, since all plants will receive equal light and will be viewed from all sides.

In any type of garden, fragrance should be considered as essential, but with annuals fragrance will only be all-pervading if a large number of the chosen plants are used.

A half dozen fragrant stocks will perfume the air immediately around them, but three or four dozen will shed fragrance over an entire city garden.

The same can be said of nicotines (Tobacco-plant) and the fragrant carnations and pinks.

If fragrance means anything in a garden, and surely all gardeners are agreed that it does, let us be sure that our early plan contains sufficient of these plants to be effective.
